Stettler Schoolboys Have 2-2 Record

Chilly Saskatchewan and Northern Ontario have eliminated slates after four rounds of the Canadian high school curling championships at Noranda, Quebec.

Alberta's representatives from Stettler have a record of two wins and two losses and trail behind Saskatchewan, Northern Ontario and Manitoba. The latter has suffered one loss.

Stettler has yet to meet Saskatchewan and Northern Ontario and will likely improve its standing before the end of the round robin spiel, in fact they should not be counted out yet.

At a big reception and other functions are planned in honor of the boys on their return.

Have Sold $12,000 In Shares For Seed Cleaning Plant

The provisional board of the proposed seed cleaning plant for County of Stettler has sold $12,000 in shares according to the secretary-treasurer Les Peterson of Erskine.

A meeting of the Board on Monday night in County of Stettler office was hopeful that the balance of $5,000 in share capital needed to get the project underway would be raised by the end of the week. The meeting learned that the shareholders area around the Stettler has been well covered but there is still considerable canvassing to be done in the eastern and southern regions of the County's area.

Murray Bowden is chairman of the Board.

A seed cleaning plant in 1966 would cost about $51,000. The provisional board, the County of Stettler and Government of Alberta would contribute a total amounts of $17,000 for its construction.

The Alberta Government will provide grants for only six such plants in 1969. There are now applications in for four of these, and nearly a dozen more are in a hurry to raise the necessary share capital before lodging applications.

Persons wishing to purchase $50 shares in the plant, should carry interest and settle holders in reduced rates for services, should apply to any of the following members of the Board: Murray Bowden, Les Peterson, Leo Stockbrugh, Arthur Kay, Herb Hunter, Charlie Anderson, Dr. Kohl, Dave Brown, Bill Chapman, John Holdsworth, Russ Bateman, Mike Sorken, Ezra Gish, Fred Hunke, Fred Widner and John Ross.

Donalda Klondike Nights Attracted Wide Interest

(By our Donalda Correspondent)

What a setting for Klondike nights! Fog and frost couldn't stop our Central Alberta people from gathering at our Community Centre. "The Golden Rogues" for this annual event. The Golden Nugget opening the show about 7:30 p.m. February 8 By 9:00 it was really blossoming out. Men, Men, Men! I have never seen so many people in one spot.

As one entered the Gold Nugget, he was presented with $1,000 in play money. Turning to the right was a bar where drinks could be had during the evening. As one passed up the side of the hall, he noticed several gambling games were in progress with young and old men trying their luck. At the front of the hall stood the Book and the Jail. At the book you could purchase more money, if you were broke. There were several tables of cards being played below the stage. Looking up, one could see guns, derringers, six-guns, stuffed animal heads, etc. attached to the walls. The balcony was filled with spectators.

The Swing Four Orchestra provided the music for the evening and Klondikers were certainly kicking up their heels.

As one moved on, he could catch the scent of food, good food as it swept up the corridor from the kitchen below. Descending the stairs, he saw more gambling games and the necessary bar for added attraction this year.

The beautiful kitchen was in full swing. Boy those gals were certainly working.

During the evening, the prize for the best costumes went to Mrs. Beth Layson, of Donalda, Jon Kerth, of Byemoor, placed first in the beard contest.

Mingling with the crowd, keeping law and order through out the evening were four deputies — Dee Kohl, Les Dunsberger, Jerry Elliot and Bob Holliday.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ginsby, eight CanCan Girls, Linda Hutchinson, Sharron Dunsberger at the piano, gave a fine performance of their difficult dance.

The skit, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew", was read by Bob Wellwegeon. It starred Don Lawson as the stranger, Mrs. Harvey Winters as Lou and Fred de Hooke as Dan McGrew.

The skit, "Execution of Stelle," was read by Dan Petter and starred Don Lawson and Jeff Scotchord. Both plays were received with hearty applause.

Plaques were handed out during the evening honoring the World's Worst Driver, The World's Least Beard, The World's Biggest Gamer, The World's Greatest Bull Thrower, Mr. Cheechako, and Mr. Sourdough from the crowd and presented to them with those plaques which they had to wear for the remainder of the night.

Everyone went home at 1:30, tired and happy.

Saturday night's event gathered about 250 p.m. and again the Gold Nugget hopping until midnight.

The program was a repeat of Friday night. The Swing Four supplied the music. Many new faces appeared and some had returned for a second night of fun.

The costume winners for Saturday night was little Susan Elliott and her mother, Mrs. George Elliot, of Donalda. The judge board was that of Allan Steinhoff, of Donalda.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Klondike Queen, Judy Bergstrom of Morning Creek. Pat Church, of Stettler was second, and Arlis Strickland, of Donalda, third.

People came from as far away as Edmonton, Calgary and Bentley, and most Central Alberta towns were represented.

I think, as your Donalda correspondent, Klondike Nights were a total success, and we can look forward to next year's fun and frolic.

220 Attend Annual Scouts' Father And Son Banquet

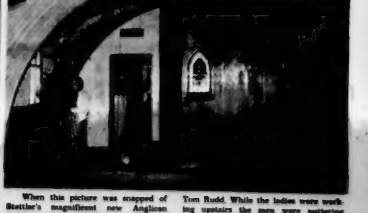
Scouts and Cubs of Stettler have their fathers, 220 in all, their guests at their annual Father and Son Banquet in Memorial Hall Wednesday night. The delicious meal was served by Ladies of Royal Purple Lodge.

The main speaker was Bill Brandenburg, District Scout Commissioner. He appealed for more adult interest in the Scout Movement and urged fathers to take more responsibility in the development of their sons. He also presented leadership certificates to Fred Buell, Wallace Ross, Jack Pendlebury, Ivy Attard, Clarence Pukkonen and Stanley Payne. The following will receive certificates later this month: Mrs. Ed Cook and Mrs. F. Gorsline.

Queen's Scout Jerry Tennant was an efficient master of ceremonies. Toast to the Fathers was proposed by Michael Smith and the reply was made by Sgt. Tom Beach. Kenny Bugbee also proposed a toast.

The balance of the interesting program consisted of a film and slide, with dances and yells by the various packs and Scouts. Community singing was led by Jerry Tennant and Stanley Payne.

Work Bee At New Church



When this picture was snapped of Stettler's magnificent new Anglican Church a half-dozen ladies of the congregation were painting the woodwork. Shown here are Mrs. Dick Hunt and Mrs. Tom Rudd. While the ladies were working upstairs the men were puttering around the basement and we have relegated them to the back page, where they belong.

MARRIED IN BOTHA UNITED CHURCH

Woods — Holm

Dolores Emily, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holm of Botha was united in marriage to Gerald Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Woods of Big Valley.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in the Botha United Church on January 23 at 2:30 o'clock p.m. by Reverend A.R. Mortimer. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Pinder.

Entering the church on the arm of her father the bride wore the traditional white floor length gown of lace and net over satin, emphasized by pearl trim of sequins and lily-point sleeves. Her headpiece sprinkled with sequins held an elbow length net veil in place. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings. She carried a bouquet of red roses with chrysanthemums.

Mr. Victor Bintle, friend of the groom, was best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Holm wore a blue tweed effect dress with beige accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Woods, mother of the groom wore a green dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held for 60 guests at the home of the bride's parents. Following the cutting of the lovely three-tiered wedding cake which was decorated by Mrs. Fred Boskie of Botha, the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Victor Bintle to which the groom suitably replied. The bride and groom then opened their many lovely wedding gifts.

Out of town guests were from Calgary, Big Valley, Cutter, Edmonton, and Wainwright.

For traveling to Calgary and Banff the bride chose a brown two-piece dress with blue accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will reside in Stettler where the groom is employed.

Good Ice Carnival Staged At Erskine

A successful evening's entertainment was staged at Erskine evening when the Erskine Athletic Association, and the Erskine School Association put on their annual Ice Carnival. Several attractions were on display during the evening. There was ball game between the married women and the single, won by the latter 1 to 0. A speed skating contest, both boys and girls, and a hockey game between the old-timers and the Erskine Rangers, they the Old-timers won by a score of 3 to 2. An only fair crowd were in evidence they but received a prize. The high light of the carnival came when Miss Beverly, sponsored by the Lions Association, was crowned queen by last year's carnival queen, Miss Wendy Stewart. In the unique Lions Crowbar, she was then driven around the ice rink to Dance to a very small tune of 4 to 3. As only five boys were in costume they

"EXPLOSIMETER" FINDS GAS LEAKS

If you smell danger don't go looking for it, because when dad gets in the know he'll use the flick of a light switch and trigger a fatal explosion. Call the fire department and tell police to tie the bomb squad. Or, better still, invest a three-pound portable hot-like instrument which seeks out highly concentrated traces of explosive gases or liquids. Firemen take samples of the air by pressing a small bulb on the exposimeter. The machine above is by Engels Coal Dave Fergie of Southam, Ontario.

Eastern View on Gas Exports

We have watched the progress of the National Energy Board hearings in Ottawa with a somewhat jaundiced eye. Before the Board are proposals to export about 825 million cubic feet of natural gas daily from points between Kingsgate, British Columbia, and Niagara Falls. Convincing arguments have been advanced for the wisdom of doing this, the gist of his thesis should, is surplus to Canadian needs, gas and oil wells are capped in Alberta and the West of Canada. Trans-Canada Pipelines alone has producers under contract to supply seven billion, 977 billion cubic feet of gas between now and 1981. There is plenty of natural gas about and it is understandable that the producers and gas lines should be anxious to get rid of it. In the amounts they intend to sell to the United States, there is a considerable export commodity which may do much to redress our trade balance with the United States, and of course, bring immediate profit.

Gas means power, and this is about the confidence in the wisdom of exporting it becomes shaky. James S. Duncan, the Chairman of the Canadian Electric Commission, has said on a number of occasions that by 1980, Ontario will require 30,000,000 horsepower of electrical energy. Of this, 10,000,000 horsepower will come from the United States to firm its thermo-generating stations. At approximately $15 a ton, this is a considerable amount of fuel. This was one reason why at Canada's first conference on water resources in Ottawa, Premier Frost, of Ontario, announced that Ontario Hydro has not considered forcing its fortunes with natural gas, and one thing a ruling of thermo-generating stations is readily convertible from coal to gas or oil. Nevertheless, it will do no harm to examine some of the figures.

One thousand cubic feet of natural gas costs approximately 20.4 cents at delivery. A ton of coal costs about $18. A ton of coal produces about 26 times the thermal energy of 1,000 cubic feet of gas in Bituminous Thermal Units (the amount of heat required to raise one pound of water at about 28 degrees Fahrenheit one more degree) a ton of coal produces 26,000,000 BTU approximately. 1,000 cubic feet of gas produces 1,020,000 BTU. To make a comparison of costs, we have rounded off some figures and produced this table:

Coal produces 1,000,000 BTU for 69 cents
Gas produces 1,000,000 BTU for 20 cents

This is based upon prices at delivery and perhaps, takes no account of the huge installations for pipelines. Nevertheless our point is still the same. What is the sense in Ontario Hydro importing $100,000,000 worth of coal a year by 1980, if Western gas is available in such quantities? The BTU value of the export gas from Trans-Canada Pipe Lines alone is more than one-fifth of the amount produced by $100,000,000 of coal. This needs to say that if Trans-Canada's surplus, which it hopes to export to the U.S., could be bought by Ontario Hydro, the Commission would reduce its coal imports by 1,000,000 tons a year. In any case, coal is only 50% efficient in generating power, whereas gas has a 70% efficiency.

Electricity is being generated by natural gas already in Ontario by the Consumers Gas Electric Light and Water Supply Company; thus it has been shown to be practical. Doubtless there are other factors to consider which cannot be contained in this brief summary, nevertheless, the application should not be granted until this aspect of natural gas consumption has been investigated thoroughly. Here, it would seem, is a task worthy of Ontario's new Department of Energy Resources.

Pentecostal News Items

At the Annual Business Meeting of the Pentecostal Assembly the following changes were made in Church Officers — Mr. Willard Marchant was elected to the church board for a three year term. Mrs. Ruby Marchant was elected as Sunday School secretary. Mrs. Jim Scott was appointed music director. The remainder of the offices will still be held by their former officers.

It was decided to build a full living partition to divide the Prayer room in two making two more or less sound proof class rooms. Two volunteers offered to make book racks for the back of the pews. The Financial Report showed a turnover of more than $4,000.00 for the past year.

The Sunday School received a $100 cylinder of cheese on the other. In another corner there were cases of eggs, sets of harness, a coffee grinder and some bags of flour. The whole stock was thrown together without rhyme or reason, but it filled the bill as far as the necessaries of pioneer life were concerned.

On mail nights the young fellows sat around the old box stove and helped themselves to crackers and cheese. A storekeeper had his own method of advertising and one way to make friends and influence people was to have a barrel of crackers handy so that people would feel at home. Unfortunately as time went on the store keeper became open-handed with too much credit and ultimately he had more on his book than the entire value of his stock.

The patent medicine shelves were well stocked at all times as the pioneer settlers liked to buy medicine for man and beast and they could often do this from the same bottle. The standard medicines were Burdock Blood Bitters, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, Radway's Ready Relief, Dr. Stoughton's Elixer and Tanlac which was a big seller as it contained about 23 per cent alcohol. Many a church member of sound temperance principles, kept Tanlac in his home not because he knew it contained alcohol but because it made him feel frisky at any time of the day. Then there was Dr. Bennett's Golden Liniment which was good for sprain, toothache, foundered feet, mange and windgalls as well as for rheumatism, chilblains, erysipelas, bunions and ingrowing toe nails.

When the young fellows got together at the store, they were always joined by some married men, who made the excuse of coming over for their mail. One night, according to Dave Strunach, George Hoover was there, and glancing at the old time clock on the wall, he exclaimed: "My gosh, half past ten and I promised my wife I'd be home at ten to stoke the fires. Well, she's as mad now as she will be, and I might as well stay for another half hour."

Over at Old Red Willow, Mr. Prudden had his store and in fact, he helped out both Higgins and Krueger when their stocks ran low. This was before he moved his store to Botha and Mr. Higgins moved his stock to Halkirk. One of the early student missionaries was stationed at Red Willow and while his salary was low he had an arrangement with his parishioners that they would keep him supplied with wood. But there came a cold day in the winter when the woodpile was exhausted and the committee in charge forgot about the minister. No wood was delivered on the day it was expected and the next Sunday the student preached from the text, Proverbs, 26 20 — "Where there is no wood, there the fire goeth out." And he made quite a sermon on the necessity of real Christian faith to keep the fires of life and love burning in the hearts of church people everywhere.

Night Calls

(Peterborough Examiner)

For its annual Dunning Trust Lectures this week, Queen's University in Kingston secured the services of the renowned physicist, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer. Dr. Oppenheimer is at present the Director of the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton University but he is perhaps best known to the public for his work on the atom bomb project at Los Alamos, New Mexico. As with most men of brilliant minds Dr. Oppenheimer was impatient with the demands made upon him by patriotism; he regarded knowledge as universal and his choice of acquaintances left him particularly vulnerable in the hysterical flurry of American McCarthyism.

From 1954 he suffered from the bitter calumny of his compatriots and though it was later proved that his loyalty to the United States had never wavered, the rejection by his country of his services left him, in his own words 'terribly tired'. In fact, no more devastating treatment could have been handed to a man of his abilities, and by it the world of science doubtless has learned an unpleasant lesson.

Fortunately his ability was universally recognized and he was able to continue his work in physics untrammelled by politics; other scientists may have been victims of political madness (for this is what it was) have not been so fortunate and the tendency to witchhunt in North America has not yet disappeared completely. As recently as December, a practiced lay-preacher in the United States was imprisoned for contempt of court because he refused to reveal the names on the list of a picnic held some four years before.

In his second lecture at Queens Dr. Oppenheimer dealt with the pursuit of knowledge. It was stimulated, he said by a single desire to see what lay beyond the door most recently opened or by the desire for more comfort through which to make life easier. Only the empiricist's rather than the philosopher's approach to the pursuit of learning. In comfort the philosopher would include peace of mind, and there is no mental peace for those who observe the inexplicable.

Nevertheless the general spread of knowledge widens; in our schools and universities, subjects are taught today about which there was absolutely no body of knowledge 50 years ago. By the gift of literacy the humblest can acquaint himself with the sublime. When we talk of exciting times to live in and and cast our eyes back over the centuries, assuredly we can find no more adventurous times to be in than ours.

Of Course It's In Good Condition . . . I Use It Mostly For Parking

Your car would be in marvelous condition, too, if you used it only for parking . . . but you don't. And that's why we're here. The Old Country Store

(By the late Charles L. Willis)

This section of Alberta has been well served by the old country store ever since the N.W.T. was carved into the Provinces of Alberta, there was a country store in every community where there was sufficient population to make the business worth while.

In our own district, H. E. Higgins ran a country store and stopping place in the Gadsby-Halkirk area, Krueger ran another in the May Park area south of Botha and Prudden ran a third in the Old Red Willow district, so that the rural population was well served even before the rural schools came into being. In the early days, men led separate and solitary lives, especially if they were bachelors and they lodged in the their little shacks during the long winter months. It was the country store that tied the scattered farms into a compact community. The store made the neighborhood and gave it a central nerve system. It also put some fun into life in general and provided a social centre for the young people as well as a stopping place for the new settlers passing through.

Mr. Higgins came originally from Ontario where he had run a country store before. He started the store between Gadsby and Halkirk with the assistance of Mr. Peabody in partnership with Mr. Prudden who had established himself at Red Willow. Mr. Higgins had a large family of children, perhaps seven or eight in all, and his daughter Pearl, was the belle of the district. He wanted a school as soon as possible but in the meantime he made his store a social centre and a church centre on Sundays. There were about twenty young bachelors living in the district, such as Dave Strunach, Julius Rotte, the Beach Bros. etc., and they formed a strong baseball team, something like the team over at Union Hall. The grounds around the store were used for practice as well as for horse racing on sunny young fellow came over for his mail on horseback.

Hence the owner of the old country store was invariably an important man in the community. He came first to set the district on the road to progress, and after him came the country school. Of course, the country store in itself was not a modern institution. Its history went back a hundred years and more than that in the United States and East, en Canada.

The modern store is a business institution where there is a place for everything and where everything is in its place. But the old country store was entirely different. It had a conglomeration of what our economists call "consumer goods" and these were thrown together helter-skelter, wherever there was room for something more. The store carried almost everything without any regard for any kind and the patent medicine shelves held the only goods that were not open. Coming into the store, you were hailed by a medley of crackers on one side and an open cylinder of cheese on the other. In another corner there were cases of eggs, sets of harness, a coffee grinder and some bags of flour. The whole stock was thrown together without rhyme or reason, but it filled the bill as far as the necessaries of pioneer life were concerned.

On mail nights the young fellows sat around the old box stove and helped themselves to crackers and cheese. A storekeeper had his own method of advertising and one way to make friends and influence people was to have a barrel of crackers handy so that people would feel at home. Unfortunately as time went on the store keeper became open-handed with too much credit and ultimately he had more on his book than the entire value of his stock.

The patent medicine shelves were well stocked at all times as the pioneer settlers liked to buy medicine for man and beast and they could often do this from the same bottle. The standard medicines were Burdock Blood Bitters, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, Radway's Ready Relief, Dr. Stoughton's Elixer and Tanlac which was a big seller as it contained about 23 per cent alcohol. Many a church member of sound temperance principles, kept Tanlac in his home not because he knew it contained alcohol but because it made him feel frisky at any time of the day. Then there was Dr. Bennett's Golden Liniment which was good for sprain, toothache, foundered feet, mange and windgalls as well as for rheumatism, chilblains, erysipelas, bunions and ingrowing toe nails.

When the young fellows got together at the store, they were always joined by some married men, who made the excuse of coming over for their mail. One night, according to Dave Strunach, George Hoover was there, and glancing at the old time clock on the wall, he exclaimed: "My gosh, half past ten and I promised my wife I'd be home at ten to stoke the fires. Well, she's as mad now as she will be, and I might as well stay for another half hour."

Over at Old Red Willow, Mr. Prudden had his store and in fact, he helped out both Higgins and Krueger when their stocks ran low. This was before he moved his store to Botha and Mr. Higgins moved his stock to Halkirk. One of the early student missionaries was stationed at Red Willow and while his salary was low he had an arrangement with his parishioners that they would keep him supplied with wood. But there came a cold day in the winter when the woodpile was exhausted and the committee in charge forgot about the minister. No wood was delivered on the day it was expected and the next Sunday the student preached from the text, Proverbs, 26 20 — "Where there is no wood, there the fire goeth out." And he made quite a sermon on the necessity of real Christian faith to keep the fires of life and love burning in the hearts of church people everywhere.

Night Calls

(Peterborough Examiner)

For its annual Dunning Trust Lectures this week, Queen's University in Kingston secured the services of the renowned physicist, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer. Dr. Oppenheimer is at present the Director of the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton University but he is perhaps best known to the public for his work on the atom bomb project at Los Alamos, New Mexico. As with most men of brilliant minds Dr. Oppenheimer was impatient with the demands made upon him by patriotism; he regarded knowledge as universal and his choice of acquaintances left him particularly vulnerable in the hysterical flurry of American McCarthyism.

From 1954 he suffered from the bitter calumny of his compatriots and though it was later proved that his loyalty to the United States had never wavered, the rejection by his country of his services left him, in his own words 'terribly tired'. In fact, no more devastating treatment could have been handed to a man of his abilities, and by it the world of science doubtless has learned an unpleasant lesson.

Fortunately his ability was universally recognized and he was able to continue his work in physics untrammelled by politics; other scientists may have been victims of political madness (for this is what it was) have not been so fortunate and the tendency to witchhunt in North America has not yet disappeared completely. As recently as December, a practiced lay-preacher in the United States was imprisoned for contempt of court because he refused to reveal the names on the list of a picnic held some four years before.

In his second lecture at Queens Dr. Oppenheimer dealt with the pursuit of knowledge. It was stimulated, he said by a single desire to see what lay beyond the door most recently opened or by the desire for more comfort through which to make life easier. Only the empiricist's rather than the philosopher's approach to the pursuit of learning. In comfort the philosopher would include peace of mind, and there is no mental peace for those who observe the inexplicable.

Nevertheless the general spread of knowledge widens; in our schools and universities, subjects are taught today about which there was absolutely no body of knowledge 50 years ago. By the gift of literacy the humblest can acquaint himself with the sublime. When we talk of exciting times to live in and and cast our eyes back over the centuries, assuredly we can find no more adventurous times to be in than ours.

FOR PARENTS ONLY

A Good Turn Each Day

(By Nancy Cleaver)

Can I help you sir?" asked a British Scout in uniform when he saw a stranger arguing his way through a dense London fog. Mr. Hoover, the President of the United States, was very glad to accept this help. The Scout accompanied the stranger to his destination, and refused to take note that he got there. When the American thanked his young guide he also offered him a shilling. But the boy refused the money saying "I am a Boy Scout and Scouts do not take tips for their daily good turn."

Mr. Boyce was surprised and impressed. He determined to learn more about the Scouting Movement. As this happened in 1909 he was able to make an appointment with Sadler Powell the founder of Boy Scouts. When the principles of Scouting were carefully explained to the American visitor, he was convinced that here was something which he must transplant to his native soil.

The name of this British Scout who did Mr. Boyce a good turn, and then introduced Scouting to this continent, was never discovered. But in Gilwell Park, England, that great centre of Scouting, there is a beautiful bronze statue of a buffalo. Beneath it is the inscription:

"To the Unknown Scout, whose faithfulness in the performance of the Daily Good Turn brought the Scout Movement to the United States of America."

The Cub promise which each boy makes when he is admitted to a Wolf Pack for ouht to 11 year olds states:

"I promise to do my best to do my duty to God and the Queen, to keep the Law of the Wolf Cub Pack, and to do a good turn to somebody every day."

The Scout in his home, and the Senior Rover Scout pledge themselves "to help other people at all times."

A scout way to emphasize the importance of the Good Turn program was carried out last Autumn by the Wolf Cub Pack, a Red Deer, Alberta. At the week-ly meetings an unsigned list of good turns for each day was posted on the Akela (or Cub Master's) room. Papers were wrapped in tinfoil then they were added to an overgrowing "snowball". At the Christmas party, Cubmaster Calendar showed the great tinfoil snowball with its previous record, and a few of the unfinished turns were read aloud by individual Cubs.

Many good turns are done right at home. How many thousands of mothers have been thankful for Scouting when a fine willingly offered to do some extra task around the house, run an errand, shovel snow, or help after a younger child at play?

The story is told of a widow with a large family whose oldest boy was a Scout. One day when he had been particularly busy helping his mother with tasks such as cleaning out the ashes in the furnace, which his Dad used to do, he met his Scoutmaster in the evening, on his way to post some letters. "Have you done your good turn today?" his leader asked. The boy hesitated, embarrassed. Then he faltered, "I'm awfully sorry Sir, but I've been so busy with work Mother had to have done, that I've had no time for my good turn."

This boy was certainly the exception. Most lads have all kinds of spare time, and it is the very lack of things to do which is a contributing cause to their getting into destructive mischief. Juvenile who are in trouble with the law are very seldom from Scout groups or Sunday School classes.

From the very first the daily good turn was woven into the fabric of Scouting. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, the originator of Boy Scouts, in his books "Scoutmaster-ship" wrote: With a little encouragement on the part of the Scoutmaster, the practice of daily good turns becomes a sort of fashion with boys. It is the very best aid towards making a Christian in fact, and not merely in theory. . . . this 'good turn business' brings out the spirit of Christian character towards his neighbor.

WEEKLY MEDITATION

(By Rev. Fred Schmidt)

A Most Amazing Invitation!

It would rate headlines in the INDEPENDENT if some one from this area were to receive an invitation to have an audience with Her Majesty the Queen. And who wouldn't consider it an honor and an unforgettable experience, a once in a lifetime. While anyone so fortunate would often talk about his invitation, it is still only with an earthly Monarch. The advantages and benefits of such a visit could at best be only personal, temporal and material. Perhaps this is just indulging in a bit of harmless daydreaming, but in reality, there has come to each of us an invitation of far greater honor and far reaching consequences. I speak of the invitation that Almighty God has extended to us to have an audience with Him.

One such invitation, typical of many, is found in Isaiah 1.18. "Come now, and let us reason together, said the Lord" though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow, though they be crimson red, they shall be as wool." The invitation comes from God Himself. He who is Creator of men, who knows all there is to know about him. The Bible says: "What is man that Thou art mindful of him." Yet He, who is our maker, the Creator and sustainer of this vast and complex universe, is personally and individually concerned about you and me.

The things that we consider so important, and our attempts to make provision for our comfort, social security, etc are of exceedingly importance to God. He wants to reason with us regarding things that are basic to life and its full enjoyment. God wants to converse with us concerning our sin. Sin has come between Him and God. Man cannot have fellowship with God apart from dealing with his sin. There is no peace apart from having the assistance of this Saviour. It is sin and rebellion against God that has separated man from God, and this estrangement can only be restored by repentance and yielding the will to God.

When we are rightly related to God then life begins to make sense, and we are a means for living God says, come and let us reason together." He has made provision for solving the basic problem, the solving of which is the key to all problem of life.

As with so many worthwhile things in life, we put off responding to God's very gracious invitation. We would rather have our sin than to have our living make sense. God says. "Come Now" but we in folly say "His come other day" and so on saying we sin our life away. Come now, don't wait until your heart has become hard and calloused, or until you be on a hospital bed too sick to carry or too doped to think clearly. God loves you and his your best interests at heart. Come in the bloom of youth, in the glow of manhood and womanhood. Let Him sit on the throne and let Him reign you as the basic need of your life.

Too Many "Extras"

(Norton News)

The complacence are endless in this business of providing necessities, gimmicks and so on as extras. Couldn't the merchandisers just be as above and give us our groceries and such, just a little cheaper? This is doubtless just the cry that is sweeping in the whole province —all the while surrounded by wasted looking little dinosaurs, cramped in cramps, cowpens and entry forms, and confounded by tuxedo placements and dishes, and listening to the tinkle of forgotten glass and chinaware, tortured by cocktail hands and hearts glimpse which crack. We have no doubt that the cry will be ignored but at least we have raised our little protest.

Sugar and Spice

(By Bill Smiley)

All in all, I'm not ashamed to be seen in my dressing gown, and I haven't been turned away from any place since the time I got twitter in the pub asked me if I was 18 and I said sure. I'm 19, and he said well get the hell out of here, sonny, you gotta be 21.

* * * *

What started the Old Girl on this jump, I do believe was my long underwear and its recent unfortunate betrayal. This winter, I've given up my woollies wisely, with great relief, and gone back to that delight of my childhood, long underwear. No more shivering in shorts for me. No more creeping up on treacherous kidneys and paralyzed hitchcaps.

* * * *

Only jrouble is that I have just the one suit, which I got for Christmas. So, when it's in the wash, I'm stuck in my pyjama bottoms, or rush a cold. Couple of weeks ago, we were at the opening of the Legislature, and attended the Lieutenant-Governor's reception afterwards. There was a big line-up to shake hands with the host and his wife, and the Premier and his wife.

* * * *

The Premier was really friendly. "Be glad you could come" he beamed, and shook hands warmly. Well, it sure was hard to get away in the middle of the week . . . I started to tell him, and my wife bit me a kidney punch from behind that almost cut me in two.

* * * *

When we got to the Lieutenant-Governor, I watched the guy ahead of me in line. He was what he'd do. He bowed slightly as he shook hands with the L. G. He I did. And when my head went down, I was ready to say something. A big, fat flap of red-striped flannelette pyjama pants, dragged over my shoe. It had slipped out of my sock, where I stuff them so they won't show.

* * * *

There followed 20 minutes of acute anguish, in that huge reception room full of beauty and gallantry, before I could find a place to escape and re-stuff them. And it took me three days to endure my wife to recognize my presence as earth. She would refuse to go to the reception this year only when I promised to wear my polka grey pyjama bottoms, instead of the red-striped flannelette.

Up To Parents

(Taber Times)

Without law and order there can be no civilization, and while we all support the police to enforce the law and maintain order, the matter does not stop there. It is everyone's duty to help keep down crime of all kinds; parents especially have a responsibility in seeing that their children observe the laws of the land—that includes being off the streets when the curfew is sounded.

Vandalism and wanton destruction are generally the result of parents not taking sufficient interest in what their children are doing—it's a big job but a worthwhile one.

Sun Life Sets Record For Canadian Company

Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada sold more than one billion dollars of new life insurance last year, a record for a Canadian company, Henry W. Brehdell, district supervisor of the Sun Life in Red Deer, announced here February 6. Following the company's 89th annual meeting at Montreal.

Mr. Brehdell said the record year and increased earnings will result this spring in adoption of increased dividends to the benefits of most classes of participating policies. About $38,700,000 will be paid to policy dividends in 1960.

The Sun Life sold $1,081 million of life insurance in 1959, 7.1 per cent more than in 1958, bringing total insurance in force with the company to $6,006 million. Group life insurance accounts for $3,313 millions of the total, and new groups life insurance sold in 1959 was $312 millions.

Payments to Sun Life policyholders and beneficiaries totalled $179 million in 1959—$705,000 for each working day— an increase of $20 millions over 1958 payments.

Income from all sources was $372 million.

Industrial Finds

Mr. Brehdell said the Sun Life continued its policy during the year of investing funds in new mining projects, such as housing developments, shopping centres, industrial plants and public works. Residential mortgage loans and commercial and industrial investments by Sun Life in 1959 Assets at year end amounted to $1,597,421,000, $97 millions more than a year ago—of which $551 millions was in mortgages.

He said rising interest rates through 1959 made it possible for Sun Life to earn 4.66 per cent on its assets during the year as against 4.59 per cent in 1958.

At the company's annual meeting in Montreal, President George H. Boothe spoke about the "modern duty" dilemma of life insurance.

The phrase, he said drawn attention to the fact that policyholders' dollars "besides providing protection for families and savings for old age, and the accumulation from interest earned by the company in thousands of community projects, These dollars earn interest which is paid to policyholders in dividends, and to beneficiaries in policy benefits.

"The individual life insurance policy has, for many years, been one of the main avenues for the saving of our people and an important part of our national savings."

Farm Plan

Mr. Boothe said the increase in productive facilities, services, and consumption has been going on in Canada at a faster pace than the country's financial capacities permit.

In keeping with the common pattern for rapidly developing countries which are rich in natural resources, Canada has been devoting a relatively large percentage of her total income to expanding facilities and has been drawing on the savings of other countries to assist in this regard.

The implications of further extension of such large external borrowing should be carefully considered in the short term and also the long term interests of our country.

A country's rate of growth, he added, must be determined by the ability and the willingness of its people to save. Savings, moreover, benefit both the saver and the economy as a whole in the twin goals of life insurance, it said.

Beginner's Sheep Program

Anyone planning to establish a sheep flock in 1960 is strongly advised to buy ewe lambs from the feed lots in Southern Alberta. The lambs should be purchased late in the winter before they are shipped to market, says Alberta's Live Stock Supervisor A.J. Glendinning. The cost may be only a few dollars per head above the market value of finished lambs.

There has been considerable interest in sheep this fall and many new flocks have been started, particularly in the northern parts of the province. The wool harvested next May from the fall lambs will easily pay for their summer keep after which time the ewes will be ready for breeding.

Should any difficulty be encountered with regard to making a direct contact with lamb feeders in Southern Alberta, the Live Stock Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture is prepared to give practical assistance in the selection and purchasing, at cost, of suitable ewe lambs. Arrangements for the purchases however must be made early in January.

No Blame Attached to B. A. Gas

At one of the first cases of the Alberta Accident, a coroner's jury inquiring into the death of 4 months old Gregory Allen Gardiner, son of Mr and Mrs Jack Gardiner, who took most his lives gas plant, found that the only cause to the death from pneumonia at about 5 p.m. on December 9th, 1958.

Corroboration of the evidence brought out by the jury included that the child had suffered bad chicken pox, and the pneumonia developed as an after effect.

Because of the location of the family home between the two gas plants and the possibility

Mr. Macdonald that there was a customer value to the product being at the farm house, principally from the smell and odor of gas. Mr. Macdonald, which is one of the "basic ingredients" of the plant.

Perhaps, to an extended this is the salient point of the case, that families who live near or surrounded by such processing plants will have to be given more consideration in legislation of a future date.

Members of the jury were: Messrs. McKinney, Proud, Ivon, Geo. McTaggart, Sims, Arnoldi, Erwin, Crawford, Fred, Schaefer.

Witnesses in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Conway called on the case, were: Ida. Britton, nurse who attended the baby, Dr. F. W. Klassen, Stettler, Gordon Barnes, the B.A. plant superintendent, Harvey Lester Hogg.

Dam is Challenge to the West

(Vernon News)

The announcement, just over a week ago, of the start of the Aswan High Dam in Egypt, was one the democratic countries to think about in the near future.

For the project, long a dream of the Egyptians, is being started with a $200,000,000 advance from the Russians, after the western nations refused to finance it.

The dam, which will harness the waters of Nile, will cost a total of $1,000,000,000 in the words of President Nasser, it is a symbol that our nation can harness the work of giants when it wishes and fights.

Nasser took the opportunity at the opening of the project this month, to make political capital of the whole thing, and to point out that he does was an example of how the small nations, particularly in Asia and Africa, can win against the great powers despite their pressurizers, attacks, aggressions and blockades."

While much of this can be dismissed as Egyptian propaganda, an interesting fact remains about the Aswan High Dam, and that is which is well worthy of future consideration.

The dam is being built with the cost and the first large scale payment of its type outside the Iron Curtain—and with Soviet bullion.

And the question naturally follows: Are the Russians planning other grandiose foreign aid programs in an attempt to win other undeveloped countries to the Communist way of life?

If this is the case, the Western Nations will indeed have a problem on their hands.

For while foreign aid from the western democracies has been far greater than anything hitherto contributed by the Soviet bloc, the Russians have a way of getting the maximum credit for the minimum amount of effort.

And if they intend to conduct a really large scale program of foreign aid, the world will likely resound with their efforts.

Big Valley Ice Carnival Is Outstanding Success

A very successful Ice Carnival was sponsored by the Big Valley Athletic Association on February 6 and 7.

With the weather being mild the ice surface was sure of the skating rink on both nights.

The Carnival got under way Thursday afternoon with a hockey game between the Big Valley Boys and Waverly School boys with the Big Valley boys coming out on top with a 2 to 1 victory.

Two broomball games Thursday evening saw the BA boys on the Businessmen and the High School defeat the Farmers. Between these two games Mr. Ernie Cooper, Stettler Athletic Association, introduced the four queen candidates. This was followed by a gay costume parade of children's rome, and a candy scramble.

Friday saw the final broomball game between the High School and the BA boys, with the High School coming out with a decisive victory. This was followed at 6:30 by a senior hockey game between the Big Valley and Botsford with Big Valley the victory in a 7 to 4 game.

This game was followed by a very successful dance which came to a climax when Mr. John Nimmo crowned Miss Sharon Riddell Queen of the Carnival. She was attended by her "Princess in waiting" Miss Lorraine Kerber. Miss Joan Webster and Miss Rita Meyers.

Winners of the door prizes were: Mr D. Hexham, radio; Mr H. Lantz, watch; Mr R. Ellwood, lamp.

After a short business meeting they adjourned to the Auditorium, where Miss Geraldine Mills of Alix, guest speaker of the evening, and who was last year's successful candidate in I.O.O.F. United Nations Pilgrimage Speaking Contest. She spoke to the assembled audience and told of her trip, illustrated by slides. It was most interesting and everyone enjoyed it very much. There was a very poor turnout and those who were not there really missed something worth while. Miss Dillo was one of ten who journeyed from Alberta to New York.

Mr and Mrs. H. Amisbury of Stettler attended the Home and School meeting and the talk by Miss Dillo.

Lunch was served in the Home Ec. room by members of the Home and School at the close of the meeting.

government's proposed program. They don't forecast anything too startling, but it looks like enough to keep the members on their toes for six weeks or so, and there's always a chance some thing will leap up into a real hot issue.

At the time of writing the 18th of the four Committees, Agriculture was still to decide, but it supposed they would go through the motions on their estimates and get along without an official leader. If this is the case, the $2,500 special allowances presently will be divided among them.

The opening of the session was carried out with the usual colorful pageantry. A 75-gun salute was fired from the Legislature grounds as Lieutenant-Governor Page arrived, dressed in his ceremonial Windsor uniform.

Hon. Peter Dawson, member for Little ew, was elected to his seventh term as Speaker. This by tradition, he protested, laughingly and had to be dragged forcibly to the waiting seats by Provincial Treasurer and Municipal Affairs Ernest Manning.

Opening day presented a bright picture, darkened only by a brief feature of the silly power plant which dressed all the ladies in the Legislative Building for a few moments during the ceremonies.

Wheat Marketing Prospects

Prospects for easing the tight wheat marketing situation in the near future are slim according to S. E. English, Statistician for the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

The wheat carryover in Canada is down over 707 million bushels last year to 724 million bushels but the surplus is the 1960. This will not prove an increase in the United States has increased. It is expected to farmers to cut their acreage. 1,520 million bushels on all-time records compared to 1,592 million bushels last year.

Moisture conditions in the U.S.A. are excellent this year and an average season when crop there will boost the carryover to another record high. In addition indications are that the U. S. wheat disposal programs will be expanded.

Farm prices in the U.S. for the current last year's crop of wheat may average slightly more than $1.72 a bushel compared to $1.78 a bushel received in

BABY SITTING

Several years ago, when my uncle went out, children were left in the care of their parents. Although they are smaller and often there are more moments in the family to stay with young children—thus the business of Baby Sitting has developed.

This business should not be taken lightly because it involves the most precious possession you have—your children.

When you have your children with a sitter how much information and help do you give the sitter?

The following information should be known to the sitter. It would be well worth while to make up a card of it, especially if it is the first time you have had this person.

1. The family name and the name of each individual child. If the children are asleep before the sitter arrives it is wise to take her into the respective rooms and name the individual children. Also, it allows the sitter to see the furniture arrangement which is an emergency might be most important.

2. If feeding will be required in your absence, complete written instructions should be left.

3. If the sitter will be required to put the children to bed instructions should be left concerning, hour, blankets, toys, lights, ventilation, prayers and stories.

4. Generally give instructions and locations of extra clothing will be helpful to the sitter. Children usually tell a very convincing story if they want to play with some particular thing and they think the sitter does not know it is forbidden.

5. A list of telephone numbers for use in time of need should be included:
1. Parents (number where you can be reached).
2. Relative or neighbor — especially if the parents will be out of town.
3. Doctor's name and number.
4. Police.
5. Fire, get children out of the house at once, then dial for help.
6. Gas Company.
7. Electric Company.

Just listing babies or seeming the sitter will look the number up in a phone book may not be enough. In an emergency searching for a phone number

Proper Glues Necessary For Bonding

For a good bonding job it is important to know which of the many kinds of glue on the market to use.

For wood, use liquid animal glue or casein glue. Liquid animal glue is ready to use, but extra effor it has set, it is affected by moisture. Casein glue is almost waterproof. It requires may take too long.

6. Leave a paper and pencil handy so incoming messages may be noted.

cause spoiling.

However work around the house like bonding fixtures to tile walls or removing objects in metal or glass, requires a rubber base adhesive. It is applied to one surface and allowed to dry to form a base. There are extremely strong glues, too. They are known as contact cements and are used, for example, to cover a table top with laminated plastic.

Contact based cements set quickly and require fast and careful bonding. Once there has been contact, it is nearly impossible to make any adjustment to the work.

Keep a tube of antiseptic adhesive, known as household cement, on hand for fixing small china items and toys.

Canada's Best Schoolboy Curlers

Stettler Welcomes Home Its National Schoolboy Champs

Stettler's High School Curling Team of Tom Krueger, Jack Isaman, Murray Sorenson, Ray Sorenson, and their coach, Don McDavid, experienced the thrill of their lives Friday at Nanaimo when they were presented with the tankard, which is emblematic of the National Schoolboy Curling Championship. But, all of them now maintain that it was superceded Sunday by a tumultuous welcome home. As Mr. McDavid put it: "The boys are all safe and the sight of the friendly faces of home."

When they stepped off their plane in Calgary at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, they were mobbed by about 40 of their schoolmates including the school cheerleaders who staged a wild demonstration in the airport terminal. Also there to give them slightly less exuberant greetings were their parents and Mayor Walter Kloepfer, Board of Trade President Bill Henry, other officials of Stettler, various representatives of the press, radio and television and many others.

The way made the journey home with their school friends in the bus, which was chartered by the Town of Stettler, the Board of Trade and the Curling Club, but Stettler couldn't wait to congratulate them. They were met in Erskine by a cavalcade of more than 100 shrilly honking cars. When this parade stopped on Main Street another large crowd had gathered and another demonstration took place.

It was a heartwarming welcome and the boys were visibly touched.

Tart night they and their families were guests at a quiet turkey dinner at the home of Ron's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nelson, about four miles north of Stettler.

Celebration or not, it was back to school Monday morning with the task of catching up on a whole week of missed studies.

There are celebrations of a more formal nature in the offing. Friday night they will be guests of honor at a Students' Union dance. They are to be presented on the floor of the Alberta Legislature Thursday and a banquet in Memorial Hall under the auspices of Town of Stettler, the Board of Trade and the Curling Club will be held on the evening of March 5th. Tickets for this banquet will be available Friday at Chuck's Sport and Hobby Shop. An excellent program is being planned.

The champions, their fathers and Mr. McDavid were guests at the regular noon luncheon of the Rotary Club on Monday. Both Mr. McDavid and Henry Krueger, or, who also made the trip to Nanaimo, spoke briefly. Mr. McDavid described the round robin activities which were held for the curlers during the week of competition. He had much praise for the hospitality of the people of Nanaimo, which is a copper mining town, and also for Taylor, Pearson and Carson, sponsors of the Alberta competition, and Pepsi Cola, sponsors of the national competition.

Stettler Imperials Win South By Defeating Canmore 11 - 2

Showing loads of finesse and speed, Stettler Imperials swamped highly regarded Canmore 11 to 2 at Community Centre Sunday afternoon and won the Southern Alberta Intermediate B Championship. They won the round by the score of 17 to 6.

J. T. Costigan, long-time hockey fan and father of Coach Frank Costigan, dropped the opening puck before 775 fans.

The lone foul their best period of the season when they scored six unanswered "picture goals" in the opening 20 minutes.

The teams each scored twice in the second period and then Imperials came on again to dominate the play in the third to score three times and shutout their opponents.

Members of Stettler Overture Concert Association who are unable to attend the concert on Mon. night are requested to give their tickets to friends.

Stettler impressed the large crowd as a well balanced lineup — possibly the best since it won the Alberta Championship three years ago.

The Stettler attack was led by defenseman Doug Parr who had a great game, scoring three goals and getting on assist. Two-goal nights were registered by Garry Casselone, Orville Smeland and Dennis Punte, and singletons were potted by Bob Stewart and George Wilson. Stewart also had two assists and was one of the game's standouts.

Canmore — Angel Marx, Cherak, Chakowski, Kotchonnabi, Holmes, Bzikd, Kopalke, Labelle, Hobbs, Marr and Tyrpe.

Stettler — Ben Anders, Doug Parr, Ross Betherington, Orville Smeland, Dennis Punte, Gus Kowalsky, George Wilson, Ron Bain, Bob Stewart, Garry Casselone, Lorne Kendall, Doug Davidson and Ken Lovell.

Notes From The D. A.

By E. W. Walker,
District Agriculturist,
Stettler, Alberta.

Fertilizer for Farm Crops

The way in which fertilizers stimulate plant growth is enormous. Commercialized Artificial fertilizers simply supply one or more of the plant nutrients which plants require. Plant nutrients are chemical elements which are found in the soil. Continued cropping gradually depletes some of these nutrients and in order to get maximum yields they must be replaced by fertilizers. The elements most likely to be deficient in Alberta soils are nitrogen, phosphorous, potassium and sulphur. Of these four only nitrogen and phosphorous are commonly deficient in the Stettler area. Farm manure, green manure, legumes and commercial fertilizers are all used to supply one or more of these elements in order to improve crop yields.

Each element has a special role to play in plant nutrition. Nitrogen gives a dark green color to plants, produces rapid growth, feeds soil micro-organisms during their decomposition of low nitrogen organic materials increases yield of leaf, fruit or seed, may increase the quality of leaf crops, and may increase the protein content of feed and food crops.

Phosphorous stimulates early root formation and growth, gives rapid and vigorous start to plants gives winter hardiness to fall seeded grains and hay crops, often hastens maturity and may stimulate blooming and aid in seed formation.

Nitrogen may be added to the soil by growing properly inoculated legumes crops, by spreading barnyard manure or by applying a nitrogen containing fertilizer such as 33.5-0-0 or liquid ammonia or a combination of nitrogen with phosphorous or sulphur. High nitrogen fertilizers are generally required for stubble cereal crops and for hay and pasture crops.

The most practical way of adding phosphorous to the soil is by using high phosphorous fertilizer such as 11-48-0. High phosphorous fertilizers are usually required for cereal crops grown on summerfallow.

A new publication "Fertilizers in Alberta" now available, provides further information in fertilizers and also contains up-to-date recommendations for the use of commercial fertilizers.

TELEVISION SHOWS TOO TOUGH FOR CHILDREN?

How is the kind of television fare your children may see between 3 PM on the afternoon and 7:00 at night. At any time during this period youngsters may witness violence as shown in the above photographs. Experts are divided on whether or not exposure to violence on television is harmful to juvenile conduct. Some say that it is the kind of juvenile delinquency while others say the culprit of brutal acts as portrayed on the screen may purge children of similar violence. Most violent shows appear on U.S. networks while children's programming on CBC is kept strictly on the light side with locally produced educational shows and network cartoons.

Massed Choir Practices Begin

A group of enthusiastic church choir singers met last Sunday evening at the Anglican Church following vesper services in the local churches and laid plans for the resumption of the Stettler Mass Choir which has been defunct for some time now.

Discussion by the group initiated sufficient interest to sponsor and Easter Carnival possibly on Pentecost Sunday April 12, the production to be "The Triumph of Christ" by Ellen Jane Lorenz a considerable segment of the Pentecostal Easter music.

Four different choirs were represented at the meeting Anglican, United Young People United Senior and Lutheran Senior. It is hoped that at least 60 voices will eventually be singing in this year's Cantata, practices to be announced week by week Pastor Mohr will conduct the choir, while an accompanist has not yet been chosen.

The next practice will be held Sunday February 28, 8:45 p.m. in the Stettler United Church. Practices will be held every Sunday night, as well as some week nights until the time of the presentation.

The first cup of tea was brewed by accident over four thousand six hundred years ago. According to the tale, a Chinese philosopher was boiling water over a fire made of tea branches and accidently dropped some of the tea leaves into the pot. He found the taste of this new beverage delightful, refreshing and quite stimulating. However it wasn't until the sixth century A.D. that tea was generally used in China.

2. Should the eggs be at room temperature?

3. When should the sugar be added to the egg whites?

4. What is the recommended temperature for baking meringue pies?

Seeding Date And Yield

More important than is sometimes realized can be the date of seeding our cereal crops. Effect of fertilizer on crop yield has received well-merited attention, but work at the Beaverlodge Experimental Farm indicates wide yield variability among crops when wheat, oats and barley are seeded on different dates.

Agronomist Marvin Kyhoru offers some useful and enlightening figures. Over a five-year period comparisons were made of wheat, oats and barley yields from various dates of seeding on fallowed land at Beaverlodge. The first seeding was done as early as possible in the spring. There were nine dates of seeding each year, approximately three days apart, and yields showed a decreasing trend from first to last. From first to last seeding dates wheat yields declined 45 per-cent, oat yields 22 per-cent and barley yields 21 per-cent.

A comparison of yields of the various crops shows more clearly how seeding date affects yield. Averaged over the five years of test, the first sown wheat yielded 23.2 bushels per acre. Seeding twelve days later produced 19.1 bushels and the last seeding twelve days later again yielded 12.5 bushels to the acre. Oats sown on the first date yielded 47.1 bushels. Sown on the twelfth day the oat crop yielded 36.1 bushels and on the twenty-fourth day 33.3 bushels. Barley yields declined from 32.7 bushels for the first seeding through 29.9 for the seeding twelve days later, to 25.8 bushels from the crop sown on the final date. Between first and last seedings average yield declines were wheat, 23.1 to 12.5 bushels, oats, 47.1 to 33.3 bushels, barley 32.7 to 25.8 bushels.

When delayed seeding has been necessary due to weeds or weather barley has long been recognized as a useful crop due to its early maturity. But here, points out Mr. Nyborg, is another reason. When using barley for delayed seeding the reduction in yield is less than for either oats or wheat. 21 per-cent for barley in this five-year experiment. 36 per-cent for oats and 43 per-cent for wheat.

DISRUPTIONS ARE COSTLY TO BUSINESS IN CANADA

Canadian retail stores will lose an estimated $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 this year from employee and customer thefts. It amounts to from one to three per cent of retail sales. About 60 per cent of this will be taken by store workers. Shoplifters come in all shapes, sizes, colors and ages. In number, however the majority are women and are followed by teenagers. But men account for the lion's share through their thefts of higher priced merchandise. Pictured above, models demonstrate two methods of shoplifting. women pass one down over another while the man slips a towel under his coat.

Stettler Artificial Breeders Association Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Stettler Artificial Breeders Association was held on February 10th in Town Rink. The unofficial attendance was not as large as usual it was one of the liveliest annual meetings held up to the present. Art Kempf was the chairman.

Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting [illegible] an interesting discussion took place with regard to the penalty charged members when they do not pay for services at the time of receipt. This penalty was adopted last year and has proved to be effective in discouraging [illegible] accounts. It was moved and carried that the penalty remain in effect.

The auditor's report and financial statement were examined. The financial condition of the association is [illegible]. The membership stands at 320. An increase of 60 during the year and the number of cows avail able for inseminations is 1500. In the past approximately 90 per cent of the cows are inseminated, indicating that about 2 000 cows will be serviced this season.

It is interesting to note that three years ago the association started with 127 members. There were 1 200 cows available at that time and of these 1070 were actually serviced.

Retiring directors were Art Kay Art Kempf and Fred [illegible]. Bender Mr Kay and Mr Kempf were re-elected and Bernard Hamilton will fill the third vacancy.

Pork Embargo Removed

Canada's prohibitions against the importation of swine, unprocessed pork products and the Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness.

He said the embargo was imposed in 1952 under the provisions of the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, following a severe outbreak of Vesicular Exanthema in the United States.

Mr Harkness said the U.S. declared its swine industry free of Vesicular Exanthema on Oct. 31 last year and that there has been no outbreak of the disease since October 1959.

Discussions between veterinary officials of the two countries indicated [illegible] that the disease no longer posed a threat to the Canadian swine industry.

Mr Harkness stated that the removal of the embargo on U.S. pork imports into Canada, [illegible] has been maintained, has been confirmed in the United States, is brought with the principle followed in dealing with international restrictions on animal health grounds.

He remarked that the embargo imposed by the United States against the import of Canadian swine after the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Canada in 1952 was removed following satisfactions by Canadian veterinary authorities that the disease had been eradicated.

More recently, in 1964, certain states had imposed embargoes against Canadian sheep because Canadian measures for the control of scrapie disease were not considered as rigid as those followed in the United States. The Canadian control program was revised to make it equivalent to that of the U.S. and the state embargoes have since been with drawn.

Tires Can Get Flat Spots In Extreme Cold

Edmonton — If you get a flat tire next time it's 20 Canadian and 20 below outside, don't expect any sympathy from your garageman.

Line of the most frequent complaints [illegible] is that motorists are driving on flat tires when the temperature drops to extreme cold.

Flat spots are caused by the tire [illegible] of the tire's tread [illegible] when the car is parked overnight and freezing [illegible] in extreme cold weather conditions.

Recommended action in the case of flat spots is to drive the car [illegible] for a few miles. This will usually remove the flat spots.

Flat spots are more frequent in winter than in summer because of the cold weather conditions.

Notes From The D. A.

By F. W. Walker
District Agriculturist
Stettler Alberta

Chemical Weed Spray Control

Acres and Carbrae men now the supply for the control of wild oats will be available to Alberta farmers this spring. It is hoped that the cost of treatment will be at the neighborhood of ten dollars per acre. Credits to approval by the soil as a pre-seeding treatment while Carbyne is approved as a spray to be used on wild oat plants. Recommendations thus far are for the control of wild oats in wheat and barley.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture has announced that in recognition with Municipal Agricultural Service Boards the two new chemicals will be tested throughout the province this year. It is likely that the County of Stettler Agricultural Service Board will conduct such tests in co-operation with farmers in the area. Chemical means of control of wild oats will undoubtedly be watched with great interest this year.

4-H Club Rally

In April 1959 a Rally of 4-H Club members and their parents from all the clubs in the County of Stettler was held in the Stettler Rest Hall. Stettler. At the 4-H Club Leaders Conference held in Stettler on February 10 a similar rally was planned for June or July. April 10 in the Stettler community hall. The rally will be an evening program with music, lectures from all the 4-H Clubs of the County.

Saskatchewan Commercial Seed Association

Alsike, Alsike Liner, Red Clover, Yellow Blossom Sweet Clover and to a certain extent White Blossom Sweet Clover depends upon the activity of pollinating insects. Honey bees have always played an important part in increasing yields of legume seeds. A new publication Pollination of Legumes discusses in some detail the effort of various insects in pollinating the alsike and legumes. Contours between separate and seed grasses are also discussed.

University Press Bulletin

The 1960 Press Bulletin published annually by the University of Alberta is now available.

Included in this year's edition are articles on barley seeds in Alberta seed treatment of barley by polythene plastic mulches for the garden horticultural variety notes, seeds and seedlings, nursery plant techniques and equipment. Oils testing in northern Alberta, seed production, world food supply plant breeding and chemical weed control. Summaries of the research being conducted by members of the Department of Plant Science at the University are also contained in this publication.

Copies of the Press Bulletin may be obtained free of charge from the Agricultural Secretary, Department of Extension, University of Alberta Edmonton.

There's a light-hearted gaiety and cheerful brightness about the square dance that gives the cry of "swing your partner" a distinctive Western character. So it is with CALGARY and drinks — that distinctive clarity and refreshing flavor is characteristic of Albertawide CALGARY . . . and the reason why CALGARY has been the favored brand of refreshment among Westerners since way back in 1886.

Thousands are getting out of the egg production business which proves that without price support the law of supply and demand is working. To date too many producers are already out — as if there ever was a time to build and plan ahead, that time is now. If you plan to stick with the business of egg production there is undoubtedly a good year ahead for you, possibly the best you've ever known.

Provincial Poison Control Service Is Announced

Hon. Dr J. Donovan Ross, Alberta Minister of Public Health today announced the establishment of the Poison Control Service in the Province. The program is credited to be one of the most comprehensive in the world, features Poison Treatment Centres at Edmonton and Calgary.

The Department of Public Health will maintain a comprehensive record of the type, location and final result of all poisonings sent to the Province.

The Poison Control system has resulted from a two-year study of similar systems elsewhere and consultation with medical and pharmaceutical associations. The purchase of accidental poisoning especially by children has increased since the Second World War as more home accidents have become available in the home.

Dr. Ross also announced that the Provincial Government will provide antidotes under the direction of senior members of the pediatric staff. More than 1000 poisonous substances are listed on the many complex lining systems contained at these centres. A direct line telephone system connects the two Poison Information Centres with all hospitals.

A single wild oat may shed up to 300 seeds and if 10 of them should for the one or two dozen surviving seeds can change a habit adaptation into a serious one in a heavily infested field the top 6 inches of soil may contain as much as 50 bushels of wild oat seeds.

Notwithstanding the fact that new chemicals have been developed for wild oat control the use of cultural methods remains the most important means of over and may remain so for at least a few years.

The most common is cool and moist, methods of cultural control are

4. Summerfallowing.
5. Post-seeding Cultivation.

When possible this is a very use ful control measure

6. Fertilizers. A growing crop usually much more able to compete with wild oats if it has been fertilized

7. Row rather than normal rates of seeding

7. Full seeded crops such as rye do help to control wild oats because they begin growth in the spring earlier than wild oats

8. Crop rotations, including a grass legume mixture are generally effective if continued over a number of years.

9. Grassland crops are useful because they allow delayed seeding and harvesting before the wild oat seeds mature

10. Burning Stubble. Accord ing to experimental studies very few wild oat seeds are destroyed in the burn

Stettler Oilers Lose Thrilling Final Series Against Edmonton

Stettler Bantam Bees showed spirit and determination in the last two games of the hockey season when they dropped a contest between Stettler and Edmonton 1 to 0 and 6 to 0 on Saturday.

Coach Dan Hollinger and Manager Terry Williams had hoped that the boys could win one game to tie the series and force a third game, but the hands was Don Gillespie in the first game.

The Oilers are a fine bunch of boys and have been coached and supported by parents who have had a little lesson this season in how not to win when they should and said to be the best Edmonton team 4 to 0 but lost by total-goal series for the Northern Alberta Championship 12 to 10.

Oilers were defeated at Edmonton Gardens Saturday, 3 to 0 but it wasn't for lack of spirit that the Oilers lost the series. They gave everything they had for Stettler through the game and were proud of them for the way they played.

Potential Dangers Of Screenings

Food that both speedy and tasty ones are among the garden weeds which are often canned and even introduced to the summer handling of cuttings.

By screenings is meant the nutritional that is removed during the cleaning or grading of either seed or forage crop used. This natural chaff contains weed seeds which are potential threats to every farmer says Alberta's Supervisor of Seeds and Weed Control W. Lobay. They are one of the main sources from which new weeds are introduced to a farm or district.

Where cleaning screenings to be put them on arable or a right has Check to see that we are properly confined during transit from one place to another. A large-size, correctly made can will prove a very good and durable investment since it will last with proper the protecting of weed seeds by, also the loss of grain. Where seeds are sold the screenings used with should be destroyed.

Never feed screenings to live stock either on the farm or in an institution because some weed seeds can pass through the digestive system. Thus if the animals are bring many new weeds will get their start in this way. Finally discuss the handling of screenings with your district agriculturist or field supervisor. They applies to both farmers and shoddiers.

Cultured and chemical moth balls are playing a prominent part in Alberta's weed control program. In addition there are now 34 large municipal seed cleaning plants and many private ones of high standing all of which are doing an excellent job says Mr Lobay. It is up to all concerned therefore to prevent screenings from causing a leak in this increasingly lush weed picture.

Honey Crop Reduced In Alberta

The 1959 Alberta honey crop was 12.6 per cent less than the 1958 production total. The reduction in production per colony was 27.7 per cent.

Weather conditions last year were the main reason for the decrease reports Alberta's supervisor of agriculture J W Edmonds. Beekeeper winter killing well above normal was contributing factors in some areas. The Brooks district reported severe winter killing of alfalfa and wheat areas in the Peace River region also reported seedings. In most areas very little honey was gathered in August due to wet weather.

The quality of the crop however was quite satisfactory says Mr Edmonds. Some areas of high moisture honey occurred from mid August on, but generally the color and moisture content were well within the White No 1 class and grade

B.C. Experts Disagree On High School Time

Not So Good

Vancouver — Educationists here disagree on whether or not British Columbia students spend enough or many many many in high school.

B.C. students like those in Ontario receive junior matriculation at the end of grade 12 compared with grade 11 in Saskatchewan provinces The Universities of British Columbia admits students from Prairie schools to the same year as those from B.C.

Does this mean Prairie students receive as much education in 11 years as B.C students get in 12? Yes at least in the basic subjects of English mathematics and science says Dean Neville Scarfe of the UBC faculty of education.

Dean Scarfe was at the University of Manitoba college of education before coming here

Deputy Disagrees

But not even in these subjects, says Dr J.K. English deputy minister of education for B.C.

The B.C students will have a broader background and will be more advanced in certain fields says Dr E.F. Sharpe superintendent of Vancouver schools

We find the average students coming to B.C with the Prairie junior matriculation Grade 11 have great difficulty handling our senior matriculation and North Vancouver school superintendent W.E. Lewis

Dean Scarfe said the fact that B.C students take an extra year does not mean that their education is entirely good.

B.C introduces extra subjects which Manitoba lacks such as music and art which I think are very valuable and others about which I have more doubts, such as health and personal development shop and commercial op-

Human Cancers Studied By University Scientists

How can you experiment with human cancers without experimenting with human beings?

This is the problem being attacked by two young University of Western Ontario scientists, Dr D.P Smith and Dr B.C Burk, with human cancer tissue provided by Dr John Smith, Director of the London Cancer Clinic. Both men are receiving grants for their work from the National Science Institute of Canada Each is approaching the subject from an entirely different way from the other.

A great deal of experimental work is and has been going on, in laboratories all over the world with transplantable and induced animal tumors. The techniques are routine A tumor of that may have been growing for years and evolved many transplants is planted into the body of a rat or mouse Or the animal may be fed a potent chemical that will cause cancer to grow in the liver or elsewhere Or a cancer-causing chemical such as tobacco tar may be painted on the shaved back of the animal Sometimes tumors have been transferred by the injection of fluids containing virus or subvirus.

These methods are, in fact, the very backbone of cancer research, and a great deal of useful information has been gained from their use However many scientists feel that some the good is to cure cancer in humans — must eventually Should be given to human tumors

The [illegible] can obtained You just can't culture cancers in human beings So Dr Swartz is working on a method of transplanting tumors taken from the genital tract of human patients into the cheek pouches of hamsters In this way we can maintain the conditions of growth and study the endocrine and metabolic aspects of it." he points out

Why Hamsters? In the first place the hamster's natural resistance to foreign tissue is low; thus the tumor is not rejected. Also the hamster pouch is easy to get at both for transplanting and for the day to day observation of the tumor's progress.

There are difficulties, too Before the hamster study will accept human tumors at all it must first be treated with cortisone or radiation This unfortunately makes animal tumors grow in a manner unlike those in man However many scientists feel that the slightest reduction Also when kept in cages, hamsters have a tendency to eat each other However we are making progress Dr Swartz explains

Dr Smith is approaching the study of human cancer tissue in a different way As a cytology professor he is interested in the physical changes in cells when they become cancerous So he looks at tumor provided by Dr Smith through an electron microscope which was purchased with funds supplied by the National Cancer Institute of Canada This machine magnifies cell images to the size of footballs and reveals many parts impossible to see with the conventional light microscope

The work of the London scientists is part of a Canada-wide cancer research programme involving more than a hundred projects and costing in excess of one million dollars It is planned and supervised by the National Cancer Institute of Canada and largely financed by the Canadian Cancer Society

Fertilizer Use In Alberta

More than 60 thousand tons of wasting a week to ten days each fertilizer were used in Alberta in crop years the difference between 1959 This was a 36 per cent increase over the 1958 total

Increased crop yield is one of the important advantages gross non adhesive Mr Goettel of using fertilizer says A W Your district agricultural and Bailey, Alberta Department of Agriculture soil specialist. Other equally important benefits are of fertilizers and cross for correct higher grades improved feed forage seed and hay crops There are many factors to be considered in the correct use of fertilizer, Mr Bailey said. Soil tests are the best guide to the amount and kind of fertilizer to use, and the time and method of application are important factors to be considered. Among these factors to be considered are moisture conditions, the crop to be grown, and the cost of the fertilizer.

Mr Bailey is in charge of the Soils Section of the Alberta Soil Laboratory at Edmonton. This laboratory is operated by the Alberta Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Its purpose is to help farmers get the most out of their fertilizer dollar.

Soil samples are sent to the laboratory by farmers, agricultural representatives, and others interested in soil fertility. Each sample is analyzed for its content of nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, and other elements. The results are then interpreted in terms of the crop to be grown, the soil moisture conditions, and the cost of the fertilizer.

Mr Bailey says that the laboratory has been very busy this spring. Many farmers are taking advantage of the opportunity to have their soils tested before they start seeding. This is a wise practice, as it allows time for the fertilizer to be ordered and delivered before the rush of spring work begins.

Whetsel - Ewing Club News

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to Mrs J Gaddraff's family in their deep bereavement Mrs Gaddraff passed away on Monday morning, leaving a husband, two sons and three lovely little girls to mourn their sudden loss. Our sympathy also goes out to Mrs Gaddraff's mother, Mrs Wm Ewing, who has been living with the family for the past few months.

The Whetsel Ewing Women's Club was held at the home of Mrs Walter Bezan.

Business and the usual good time was had by all. Election of officers was held and the following executive was elected. The nominating committee would like to thank all those who helped and thanks for their phonecalls. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs W Bezan on April 6th. Everyone is welcome. We hope Bill will be the same as we all know how. We thank him and the committee for their help during the year. Also thanks to the children for their part of programme.

Committee Hopes To Check Soil Drifting

To check soil drifting before serious prospects may be carried research committee on soil drift- ing. The purpose of the committee set up in 1954, is to find out ways of controlling control with the greatest returns from the farm. What the members are striving for is such knowledge of wind and soil and cropping that the farmer can be advised on how to control drifting without harming the farmer or his best possible returns.

Modern Research Aids Home - Buyers

In these days of mounting costs the home building industry looks to research for improved methods of constructing a home, and for new products which will do an ever better job at less cost.

Every potential home buyer in Canada has a big stake in the progress of such research for it means that a year — or ten years — from now its first may be known in terms of better-than-ever housing at lower cost.

Just how is research carried out in the home building industry? Ideally in the field, that is, by means of actual houses built in various parts of Canada, lived in by ordinary families. And these houses incorporate new or unusual methods of construction and new types of products in this way, it can be discovered exactly how effective and efficient are ideas which have possibilities at least enough to warrant further study.

The collaboration between the industry and the federal government is carried out by the division of building research of the National Research Council and the National House Builders Association's Research Committee

Low-Cost Home

Two years ago these two groups designed a low-cost three-bedroom house called the Budget Research House Mark I A prototype of this dwelling was built at Bonquier, Ont., for $8,000 including land Last year the Mark II was designed, and plans are currently being drawn for the Mark III

The aim is to test thoroughly under actual field conditions, various construction methods and materials. In order for this testing to be effective it has to be undertaken with a completely new and different approach — as other words, with a scientific attitude. The fact that several hundred experienced builders make an especially valuable contribution.

Whole Industry

Manufacturers of building materials are vitally interested in this research program and have been participating actively in it for over a year Many of them have new materials and new ideas for their application which need testing in the field for proof of their effectiveness. Some manufacturers are designing special products to fill special needs In this way the program will be instrumental in bringing more products onto the market which will help reduce house construction costs in the future.

It has been said that house building methods have not changed since the days of the wood huts. But in spite of new appliances, new design and improved planning, we are still building basically the way we built hundreds of years ago And it's becoming very expensive indeed.

Overhaul Traditional Ways

Many members of the building industry see little chance of real cost-cutting so long as we cling to these methods. What is needed, they say, is a complete overhaul of our attitudes to traditional ways—a new look, in the modern scientific manner, at what we are trying to achieve when we build a house.

When one agrees with this or not, it's certainly true that this house research being carried out by the government and the industry offers up the greatest hope yet of achieving the standard of home living we have set for ourselves in Canada.

Centuries ago in Europe, gentlemen who were regular drinkers had personal drinking cups that they took to the taverns each night and to their graves when they died.

$50,000,000 Pulp Mill Planned For Rocky Mt. House

West-central Alberta is to re- ceive yet another huge industrial venture shortly a $50 000 000 pulp and paper mill having been officially announced for the Rocky Mountain House area yesterday by Bod Dave

Plans for the industry which is to be launched within a few months and may be in produc- tion next year were announced Monday evening at the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain House Chamber of Commerce

Expected to have a payroll of about 1 200 men and women when fully operative the new in- dustry will be the second of its kind in Alberta. The first was established a few years ago at Hinton west of Edmonton

Plans for the industry for the Rocky Mountain House area have been under extensive in- vestigation for a few years

Mr Chester explained that the proposed mill would produce 600 tons of pulp daily

He added that construction workers for the mill will possibly be invited to late March or early April While even a tentative construction date was not yet set- tled he indicated that market surveys suggested late 1961 as a suitable time

Hasty indications were that the plant would be located immediately east of Rocky Mountain House along the Chan- nister River

Rocky Mountain House re- gion is served by a network of forestry roads leading in and around the timber berths

Alberta Pulp Mills recently announced its lease on 3 000 square miles of timber lands, and the company also holds an option on an additional 3,000 square miles of timber which will be held in reserve

There are 1,973,316 of our children enrolled as members of the Canadian Junior Red Cross. They are organized in more than 40,000 classroom Branches in every province in Canada.

F. U. A. Meetings Poorly Attended

"Lack of interest This many other activities and Your Pro- gram were the three main rea- sons for not attending local meet- ings according to 230 reports re- ceived recently by head office of the Farmers Union of Alberta

The reports were from farm-ad Meetings throughout Alberta on February 22 when annual discus- sion over a radio network spark- ed the discussions on Local Organization"

Wordy cutting and TV were mentioned most often as the from competitors of local meet- ings many groups put the blame for people not attending on Lack of program planning lack of information on any subject- ments by local programs and poorly conducted meetings

Those who do attend local meetings mentioned good speak- ers and educational films as the best way to improve their meet- ings Other suggestions were that the executive to be more aggres- sive in planning programs and using such methods as small dis- cussion circles and programs to encourage more participation

Some stated that the executive should take more responsibility to get action on issues of local concern Only 19 per cent of the meeting cited, according to the report, that groups attended social func- tions with a high percentage of members

The social hour for a farm organization should take more than 15 to 20 action minutes losing a thing. Mr Taylor knows that highways are built by labor rather than by political catch words Dr Dun- can Hoss is a good member because he deals with health problems apart from his political views, and Mr Patrick could be a minister in any government or attends strictly to his job

The electors have not got the slightest interest in Social Credit It's a dead horse as far as they are concern- ed It has long since ceased to be an issue in elections The premier and the cabinet ministers would be well advised to leave the expounding of Social Credit dogma to Mr Manwell and Mr Lander- son, whom nobody takes seriously

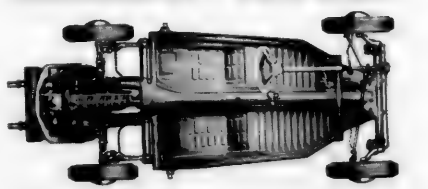
Sensible? You bet!



Sound engineering makes Volkswagen the largest selling small car in the world—BY FAR!

With the increasing popularity of small cars more people are taking a close look at what makes them tick. And it seems everyone is finding Volkswagen as a yardstick of good engineering and quality. This is why:

- Engine is the rear? Yes, of course. More weight on the rear wheels gives better traction in snow, mud and sand. Volkswagen, designed by leading North American and European automotive engineers, has the engine in the rear for maximum traction and roadability.
- Cooled by air—no troublesome radiator in a Volkswagen. No radiator, short-cooler engine hoses going wherever the weather. More than 5 million Volkswagens the world over are proving this every day.
- Volkswagen thrives on a minimum of gas—up to 42 miles per gallon—and yet, what a spirited performer it is.
- Volkswagen is better on gas any car, small or large, thanks to Volkswagen's fanciers but engineered, lean and lean.
- Compare quality. Whatever you're used to in a Volkswagen it is the finest tradition of German craftsmanship.
- Finally, compare Volkswagen's price. Better for dollar, there is no better car at any price. Less than five per cent of all cars sold in the world—by far.

Social Credit Dogma

Mr Manning made some curiosity re- marks about Social Credit Social Busi- ness when recently addressing the back benchers in the Legislature Our good ex-conservative premier may have thought it necessary to deliver this lecture to new members who were elected be- cause of the good orthodox record of the pre-government and not because they hold any faith in "funny money" policies As a matter of fact it is doubt- ful that the new type of Social Credit member has read much on the subject and more doubtful that he would sub- scribe to its theories that is if he were perfectly honest with himself

Mr Manning is able and industrious and he wastes time only when he talks about Social Credit Much the same thing can be said of most of the mem- bers of the cabinet Mr Taylor knows that highways are built by labor rather than by political catch words Dr Dun- can Hoss is a good member because he deals with health problems apart from his political views, and Mr Patrick could be a minister in any government or attends strictly to his job

The electors have not got the slightest interest in Social Credit It's a dead horse as far as they are concern- ed It has long since ceased to be an issue in elections The premier and the cabinet ministers would be well advised to leave the expounding of Social Credit dogma to Mr Manwell and Mr Lander- son, whom nobody takes seriously

The Human Animal

The human animal is a bundle of mass reactions The sum and the base are in some ways far more intelligent and ingenious, they manage their govern- ment with far less quarreling and confusion The lion is more beautiful and more dignified The antelope is swifter and more graceful The gorilla or lander to his children and his mate fail to his wife The horse and the ox are more industrious and worry less about reality Today he keeps on going in the same manner He thinks of something he would like to get, then mostly by the laborious method of trial and error. he probably more towards it He mashes his thumb. he skins his shin, he stumbles and falls, but bit by bit he moves on

Besides his imagination, he has a possession of unquestionable superior- ity He has a soul This is what sets him apart apart from all other animals and what gives him dominion

Our Debt - Creating System

From time time a friend of ours be- comes on on the ends of our "debt-creat- ing system" He makes it sound pretty bad. We wonder what he wants.

If the farmer, for instance, were suf- ficient unto himself, he would not need capital nor would he be forced to con- tract debt But this is 1960 and not 1492. The standards of living are altogether different Agriculture needs capital and it needs credit That is why the past systems were started as the economy could pool their resources, and that is why the mortgage and loan companies have come into existence

The point is that the farmers had to borrow a good deal of money and this money didn't belong to rich people but to the average men and women who laid up a few savings.

Our debt-creating system is a neces- sary feature of our economic develop- ment, and it was brought about by the demand for loans and not by those who were fanning loans on the agricultural and urban populations. In some older countries of the world there is not a debt-creating system of this kind. The farm runs from 25 to 50 acres in size and the farmers, their wives and chil- dren, work in the fields from break of day until dark.

The people of these countries are comparatively free from the influence of capital, that is, they can't get capital, and as a result they can't get anything else to improve their standards of liv- ing. But there is a persistent agricultur- al problem nevertheless which is ac- cribed to the lack of credit and at va- rious times has become a economic discontent has threatened the peace of the world

Farmers at a distance—Credit seems to be under positive conditions, if his is worth living at all. They are entitled to a high standard of labor-saving mach- inery as one of the ethics But these things cost money, and they are based on the demand for capital, out of which demand has grown the capitalist sys- tem with all its achievements in satis- fying the requirements of the people

Discipline For Ideas

(Christian Science Monitor)

The dean of the Columbia University law school laments the weakness in basic writing skills on the part of in- coming students and who already grad- uates of some colleges.

And what, functionally, are "basic writing skills"? The business of say- ing what one means so that others can understand what one means.

Out of many productive tests there is one with an impressive record behind it as measuring general ability in any field. It is a test of vocabulary And why vocabulary? Because we would venture no one has ever thought something out thoroughly and precisely until he has translated his ideas from the fluidity of thinking into the solidity of vocal or written expression — preferably to an audience outside himself. This calls for an arsenal of words and a stable of phrases to carry them.

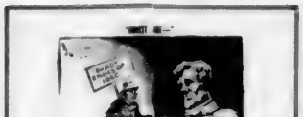
There is unconscious wisdom in the little girl's protest to her teacher's ad- monition to think before she writes. "But how can I know what I think till I see what I say"

World Brotherhood

A campaign is reported to be con- templating ads in France to urge real English words which are persistently creeping into the French vocabulary French language purists are said to be horrified over the prevalence of such expressions as "Je prends mon week- ends sur leur avec mon boy friend," and "let. Stars. Night Club. Strip-tease et very girls, Drinks on her."

Revealing recently was a popular magazine from Holland with ads of cos- metics and rock-and roll records easily recognizable by those familiar with the English trade names and slogans Translating through the pamphlet left the reader with the comfortable feeling that from such recognizable starting points as a universal language of face creams, disinfectant and rock'n-roll it wouldn't be too long before one could become right at home with that particu- lar foreign publication. should the need arise

Possibly the French pedants should take another look at the situation be- fore uttering loud cries of alarm. It could be a thought for World Brother- hood week.



FOR PARENTS ONLY

Learning About Money

(By Nancy Cleaver)

Visitors sometimes give a little child a dime or a quarter A youngster may re- gard these presents as money, mind playthings He soon learns that he must buy things. Some one day he receives his daddy piece money in a special class

A small boy who has been allowed to play with keys and other small trifles in his mother's purse, opens it, from curiosity, and takes out a penny from her purse As he is busy spreading it on the floor, the mother sees him and re- moves the contents a that he has learned his money

A child may dream of finding a large sum of money even adults indulge in this unprofitable fantasy But there are many things about money which parents want their children to learn during their childhood Boys and girls seem to be con- stantly wanting a dime or a quarter to buy this or that Parents are forced to make decisions about their children and money

As soon as a child is old enough to go [illegible] he should be allowed to decide for himself how he will spend his money. Let him make mistakes! he should learn by experience how far a penny will go, how much candy it will buy, how much he can get for a penny in a penny arcade. A child must be allowed to find out for himself that things cost money and that he should be given a regular weekly al- lowance

The amount depends on the father's income the child's age experience the type of money he has chosen to spend in a week The little child should not be forced to buy lunches If this appeals to him well and good but there is little in favour of having him to write down his expen- ses

The course of an allowance is that it is the child's own money to be spent as he wishes—and to be taken away as a pun- ishment and he should not be pressed to put part of it aside in order to save A small child has little interest in long term saving But gradually he learns to forego today's pleasure in a 10-cent bar- ber in order to buy a 30-cent toy motor boat tomorrow

It is not easy to make provision for younger public school children to earn their money at home There is always the problem that if a boy is paid for carry- ing out odjes or shovelling a walk or burning a lawn or a girl is given money for dusting, or washing dishes or making beds, the son or daughter in the house will come to think that they need never help with the work of the house unless they are paid A child should have cer- tain regular tasks as a member of the house in order to help Mummy or Daddy and other special jobs which he can do or not as he likes, for a certain sum of money

Learning to use money is a long, slow process It is something some adults never learn A child must be allowed to make his own mistakes—to find out for himself the things money can buy—and also he taught the values in life which money cannot buy

(By Randolph R. Mohr)

What can our family do to make Lent more meaningful? It must be remember- ed that nowhere in Scripture is the ob- lig[illegible] to fast commanded or advised or encouraged, but much is said about the necessity of periods of prayer and meditation, that the soul, in full and rich communion with its Lord, may grow daily richer, enjoying more fully the strengthening and encouragement

One of the first things to consider is: What does my church do to make Lent more meaningful for us? Some churches sponsor additional services during the season which particularly emphasize the message and meaning of the season For- tuna there are special letters, tracts and reading material made available In many churches, this season, together with the post-Easter season, is one of intensified evangelistic concern In the liturgical churches, the orders of wor- ship, the responses, yes, the paraments and other appointments change in the in- ner character, signifying the penitent- tial mood of the season

Perhaps a more important question to think about is: What can we, as a family do, to make Lent more meaningful and its observance more than a passing fan- cy? One thing that father and son can do together is to make a cross to stand on the table throughout the season, while mother and daughter can make ready a place of purple or violet cloth on which to place the cross. Another meaningful symbol is the double candle which means our Christ was true God and true man

In family worship, so important at any time, more so on Lent, great hymns of the season can be sung by the family Come to Calvary's Holy Mountain, O Sacred Head Now Wounded, In the Cross of Christ I Glory Beneath the Cross of Jesus, Old Rugged Cross, and many oth- ers Perhaps a midweek sacrifice supper can give us a new feeling about Lent In this once a week, perhaps on Wednesday, have a special supper eat only oatmeal milk and sugar Have a bare white table, only bowls and spoons and glasses for milk Have the cross on the purple with two candles lighted Bring a Lenten hymn Eat slowly Let the children figure out how much was saved by this sacrifice supper, how much could be given to your Lenten offering, or ship into a Lenten dime folder, so that the Church may use it for its world- wide [illegible]

Behind children might give serious thought to personal witness in this season, speaking, as opportunity offers, of the deeper significance of this season this is obvious in most people's lives Maundies Days, Mardi Gras, Pancake Day, etc etc, are a fine opportunity to witness to the real meaning of the penitential season

Another idea what hurts people of the devil Let the whole family look in the newspaper for new stories showing some- one getting hurt or attacked Sing a hymn like "A Mighty Fortress is our God," and connect the news story about evil with Luther's hymn against the devil

Another idea what helps people in of God Let the family thank of a time when someone in trouble got help that was much needed Take parts and act out a "pretend play This will make doing good a reality Offer a prayer for those [illegible] and Glory [illegible]

And another idea what can we do to show God's love to someone? Talk this over in family worship about people, sad, lonely in danger Decide what good thing can be done for them Plan when and how you will do this so as to make a good witness to the love of God through you

God bless you and yours in bringing Lent home

It took a lot of planning but I went [illegible] to see the Ice Capades last night It was the first time I attended one and I found it very interesting around my neck like an albatross

It was utterly accomplished if I do say it I had to buy a new suit in the shape of a deal Being an old and cunning husband I let on to the family that I could see my own way overboard This balled my wife into a lather sense of security, and she started planning our weekend in the city

Waiting until conditions were ideal I [illegible] the [illegible] since Bed Rock Bates one of the kids had a cold, and our favourite baby sitter was suffering from it I arrived home from work on Thursday, looking depressed told her I'd just had a phone call from my mom that he was leaving on Bentley for a month in the west, that I had to go down the next day or the dead was off and wasn't it a shame

She couldn't do much but urge me to go I promised that it wouldn't be any big grand affair I'd go on some' day proved "It's important and anyway wouldn't you like to get away from us all for a day." That I like talking on the [illegible] whether he'd like a drink But I was smart enough to protest enough to keep her on the offensive until she got [illegible]

I finally gave at reluctantly, and after she'd departed I dug the bank book out of hands I pay liquor I went still wearing [illegible] backwards and [illegible] down I've never seen the old place so portunogue the garbage cans silhouetted in the snow banks like so many [illegible] pope-organ effect over the door in which [illegible] [illegible] has been hanging so she simultaneously waved and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] again

That's when you really feel your age— when you have home and loved ones on a 10-hour jaun Heavenly I feel about 54 but that day I felt every one of my 39 years as I lolled gloriously through a [illegible] [illegible]

When I arrived at Union Station, I found it was the weekend the big snow had hit the city About 200 people were waiting for cabs and none in sight Un- daunted, full of good cheer I was about to head for the subway when I saw the old gentleman talking to the cab dis- patcher so great distress by my lonely Canadian way I suppose why they were screaming at each other in Pro- tuned English The old chap was in a fix He was a stranger in the city spoke of his English wanted to get to his hotel three miles away and couldn't get [illegible]

I made it clear that I'd see he got there via subway Years of gratitude filled his eyes when he understood An ear emerged from the station me carry- ing his hero's boy a tips pulled up to dis- gorge a passenger My gentle old com- panion watched his bag from me heaped down a cent pebble bowled himself into the cab and shouted "Bentley Hotel" without a backward glance As I trump- ed through the slush to the subway en- trance I reflected somewhat immodest- ly that this was Brotherhood in Action

I thought a good dinner might lift my spirits When I'm in town I do it up brown I sip my aperitif with appreci- ation I glance at the other diners with dis- dain The night, I was having pleasant- ries Tomkins or something at the table glowed water brags in your hat, which is blazing merrily and with long shove- ler and a fountain pen produced in your plate Quite suppresses the poor people living [illegible]

Only this short's fountain was a little too florid, the glower was fake and he swapped my hotel on the floor while he was at it But little hands trembled in the delight of the other diners I called the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Cure For Bed Sores

There is nothing like a toenail clean to cure bed sores! This is the unbelievable remedy in a news letter from the Calgary Branch of the Canadian Association of Amputees. Utah. Shoepalms are also reported to be very effective in the treatment of severe burn cases.

Following is part of an article entitled "Dr. Cure Bed Sores with Sheepskin" by Dr Luther Dyer. It was originally published in the October issue of the Registered Nurse Magazine and later carried by the Columbia Sheep Breeders news letter which was received by A.J. Chernoski, Live Stock Supervisor with the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

"Are you losing the battle against bedsores? We're winning it with wool! We've found that the wool of a sheepskin meets all the requirements for preventing ulcers and promoting healing. It's resilient and airy, so it minimizes pressure evenly, it dissipates moisture, and it does not wrinkle or chafe. We spread the sheepskin on the bed, woolly side up. After three to seven days, we remove it and clean it by sprinkling with soapy water and working it with a gentle hose. Then we dry it in the sunlight. Immersed artificial heat would ruin the leather. Finally, we fluff up the wool with a brush and put the skin back on the bed — One patient had so ulcer so deep it exposed the sacrum. Twenty days on a sheepskin cured him. An apoplectic patient who was bedridden at home for three years wore out two sheepskins but he didn't develop a single sore."

The U.S. fee is higher and is paid annually whereas Canada has adopted a single fee system.

YOUR SIGNAL STRENGTH FOR CKUA

THESE MAPS show the comparative range of CKUA power in daytime operation and at night in operation shortly. The signal strength of the old 1,000-watt transmitter is represented by a dotted line compared to the new 10,000-watt signal by a solid line. The map on the left shows an approximation of the new power from current to control, the figures on the left an estimate of the 10,000-watt night signal. The dotted line is the old transmitter's limited night service area.

Expansion Seen In Economy

As the new year opens, the dominant tenderness in the Canadian economy are slowly to ward further expansion, says the current Monthly Review of The Bank of Nova Scotia which presents a portfolio of charts documenting recent trends in the Canadian economy.

The survey points out that consumer income and spending are continuing upward and that both capacity and business capital expenditures are on the rise.

How much further strength develops as these two important areas depends in large measure on the trend of events in the United States. If U.S. business improves vigorously again now the effect on Canadian exports and on Canadian business in general could be quite marked.

[illegible] the Review a number of moderating influences at work, including the continued downward pressure on house building, highly competitive conditions in world markets and problems of inventories so low recently that [illegible] some industries to expand early rapidly as inventories and export trends turn.

Looking back over the past year the Review observes the value of Canada's total business production in 1959 at somewhere between $34 - billion. This would represent an increase over 1958 of a little less than 7 per cent and with prices perhaps 2 per cent higher on the average a gain in volume of 4½ to 5 per cent.

Further expansion during the year in factory sales of real estate is striking in its various aspects.

More Parks Needed

In comparison with most towns Stettler is not badly off when it comes to parks. We have the Exhibition Grounds, owned by the Agricultural Society in the best location and with a player of beauty, and the golf course is made of less a natural park. The Kiwanis have a park playground, and little oasis the heart the residential part of town. Recreational facilities there are many and we are glad to see that expenditures are being made to improve them.

Still we have room for improvement. We have not enough parks, and he planning has been given to them in Stettler. The golf course just happened to occur and now that the same could be said of the Exhibition Grounds, and both are threatened from time to time by people who would grab them off for housing development. Old Water Works Park would have been approved long ago if Warner Holdings had lived up to its agreement with the town. A start could be made right here. The long neglect of this piece of ground is disgraceful.

All should be pleased that the swimming basin in Stettler has not gobbled up those parcels of land parcels and above and we should be always on guard to see that nothing of the sort ever occurs. The next new subdivision will be built on land purchased south of the Exhibition Grounds. We hope that those in charge of planning can forsake the old rigid rectangular blocks of houses and there is something different for Stettler's sake. Certainly provision for a small park should be made.

R.C.M.P. To Crack Down

A press release from the R.C.M.P. says that the force will increase manpower and equipment on highway patrols this year. There will be more and more radar activity and unmarked cars will be used. The police intend to abolish the practice of issuing warnings for moving violations and street improvement of traffic laws will become the order of the day.

This "get tough" policy is the result of the appalling toll of lives that has been taken in traffic accidents already this year. In the first two months of 1960, 32 people have been killed in 19 accidents, while in the same period of 1959 17 people were killed in 16 accidents. The police point out that this may not indicate a trend but the figures do point up the awful responsibility of drivers who are conveying passengers.

The police are out to get the irresponsible people who are not concerned by the ghastly death toll and will not heed warning and advice or reason itself. For these strict law enforcement is the only possible curb.

Lions Work For Crippled Children

Stettler Lions Club is to be commended for taking on the Easter Seal Campaign for Crippled Children. The club's members have just completed the big task of sending appeals to every household in the Federal Constituency of Acadia involving the addressing and stuffing of more than 16 thousand envelopes. This is only the start of a project that could be called mammoth for such a small group.

However, the members will derive deep satisfaction in the service they are rendering humanity.

The good work of the Lions Club should spur on the people of Acadia to give even more generously than usual to the worthy cause of help for crippled children.

On Reading Books

The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion surveys indicate that only 35 per cent of Canadians asked were reading a book recently, compared to 31 per cent in 1953 and 40 per cent in 1945. 15 per cent of Canadians over six years borrow books from our public libraries (another government survey finding).

This is not nearly good enough for a country that is more than 95 per cent literate, has more leisure time and a larger national income than ever before.

The key to our democratic method of government is an informed public. Such a state will remain but a dream if only 15 per cent of Canadians over six years borrow books from our public libraries (another government survey finding).

This is not nearly good enough for a country that is more than 95 per cent literate, has more leisure time and a larger national income than ever before.

Key To The Future

(From Industry)

In Canada, as in the United States, one of the most encouraging and significant developments in the past few years has been the up-grading more interested in—and concerned about—the state of national education than we were even five years ago.

That this is traceable in large measure to the Soviet sputnik there can be little doubt but many governments dramatized as nothing else could have done, the priority given to scientific and technical education in the Communist scheme of things. It also did much to arouse us, in common with other free nations, to an appreciation of our own deficiencies, and for this at least we can be thankful.

Formation of a national organization—the Canadian Conference on Education—is one indication of our increased concern. Founded two years ago following a meeting in Ottawa of several hundred representatives of many organizations, the CCE, financed and otherwise supported by industry, business unions, educators and leading citizens in other fields, is doing much valuable work.

There are many other indications that we are now taking our educational responsibilities more seriously. Most of them involve the spending of money. Universities, for example are finding it easier to raise the huge sums they must have to do their job of providing the buildings, equipment and qualified teachers necessary to cope with the rising tide of students seeking admission each year.

Thus, the University of Toronto, largest in Canada has in the past year raised nearly $12 million, more than two-thirds of it from industry and business. Other universities across the nation have a similar story to tell. Many more scholarships and bursaries, too, are now being awarded by industry to worthy students.

In the provinces, there has been an increase in the rate of school building with provincial governments raising the salaries and qualifications of teachers. Several technical institutes along the lines of the famous Ryerson Institute have been established.

All this is heartening evidence of our determination to rehabilitate ourselves in education. But it would be wrong to think of it as anything more than a beginning. Much still remains to be done.

Most of all, perhaps, we need to review the system whereby school costs are financed for the most part out of local taxes. Educational expenditures for all that they have risen as much as they have, still constitute but eight per cent of total public spending or hardly more than three per cent of the gross national product.

A Knife Is Useful

(St. Croix (N.B.) Courier)

Consider the ban on jack knives at some schools. Then when you pause and think of all the things we did with knives without stabbing anybody, it makes for alarm. How does a boy dig his spruce gum today? How does he cut an alder for fishing? How can a boy make a kite, peel a willow switch, or make a cedar whistle? And how can he bore a hole in his chestnuts, or open a clam, or fix the string on his sled?

FOR PARENTS ONLY

I'M AFRAID

(By Nancy Cleaver)

If I can't complete the Big Polaroid with [illegible]

Be quiet or I'll put you alone in the dark room and lock the door.

Have you ever heard a mother talking like this to one of her children? Could you hear a child talking like this to his mother? I have heard it many times. Sometimes I am afraid I have said it myself. I am afraid we should look over our performances as parents and should be helped to be unafraid of darkness. Parents should lessen the load for a child's fears.

First may want to work in the immediate environment of the home. Then gradually reaching to fear in meeting the neighbors, development. The quiet child training as a healthy happy well adjusted useful citizen, who can face his fears and set up responsibility for his own action.

Our mental hospitals and medical lines are filled to overflowing with painful scarred adults. Much of their fear in mental business can be traced back to insecure unhappy, childhood. Fear was used too often to make them conform to certain standards of behavior.

Everyone from the earliest days experiences some fear. A new baby exhibits fear. If loud noises and a fear full of falling. Children fear getting hurt. Sometimes they are frightened of animals and of burglars. They started being shown being left in the dark. Strange noises also scare them. Extraordinary natural events such as thunder and lightning sometimes frighten them. Children as well as adults suffer from bad dreams.

In a home where parenthood is very hard, or where the mother is ill-tempered or the father drinks a child may live in constant fear. The child's imagination and failure. Parents sometimes place a child [illegible]

Home Boom Helping Industry In Alberta

Providing Alberta's burgeoning population with housing units is big business, estimated at more than $150 000 000 and accommodating over 15 000 family units in single family dwellings, duplexes and apartments during 1959.

The home boom has bolstered activities in scores of allied industries ranging from roofing, chimneys, plaining mills, and paint and varnish firms. Three of five have their 50 Essex manufacturing doors, including one firm turning out an aluminum product and three firms turning out building metal doors.

Production ratio - [illegible] - Kelvaire Drumheller - 16 firms doing mill work, and Grande Prairie - Hanna, Camrose, Calgary Vegreville Wetaskiwin Lethbridge Red Deer Pembina Edmonton Brooks and Bluesmill.

The boom has given rise to new manufacturing ventures like Inwood Manufacturing Ltd., formed by Keith Enterprises and Stet's Lumber has invested $1 000 000 in a Calgary plant that is said to be the largest and most diverse of its kind in Western Canada. Its some 110 000 square feet of space Inwood is employing an average of 180 men in the making and fabricating of numerous items for housebuilding and building supply industries.

One operation, consisting of special printing machines and [illegible] baking ovens covered hundred feet long, turns out beautiful [illegible] complete with [illegible] and patterns for interior panelling in new homes. Another engineering machine made in Calgary to Inwood's specifications is a door-notcher, which in one quick operation automatically prepares doors for hinges and hardware. There is a tile-shop and metal-working branch which turns out furnace pans and air conditioning ducts and heating coils, as well as finishing for roofs.

Throughout Alberta there are 40 firms doing such work, 20 firms producing pinned lumber, 16 firms doing mill work, and 15 firms producing windows—wooden, plastic and aluminum.

Pre-fabricating buildings is a relatively new industry which now keeps six firms busy. One of the largest Engineering Buildings Ltd. occupies a $100 000 plant covering 47 000 square feet east of the Inwood Trail in Calgary. The entire assembly line is within the plant itself. Both materials enter at one end. They are processed, and the final product, complete prefabricated houses emerge at the other end to automate the firm can produce six of these houses each working day.

Engineering Buildings Ltd employs 160 persons and contributes substantially to Alberta's home construction records.

Many Objections Made To Industrial Tax Plan

(By Ken Mason)

Edmonton Members of the Legislature discussed early all their time last week in study of the previous committee industrial tax legislation.

At the time of writing the industrial tax bill was still before the all member House agriculture committee and its ultimate fate remained somewhat in doubt.

But it appeared certain the Legislature would have to take one of two courses pass the bill as it stands and study the whole question for a year before implementing the tax plan, or redraft the bill to plug up some of the loopholes that came to light last week.

The only other possible alternative facing the government at equal Districts the other from the Town of Jasper Place

Perhaps the most significant of the business from James McKay of Edmonton Strathcona was the suggestion that the government should set up a provincial industrial advisory committee which would [illegible] industrial conditions covered by the various sections of the Bill and advise the government on the [illegible] which will [illegible] Mr. Hall. However he said he supported the principle of the bill and was not in favor of [illegible] at this session.

Members were also submitted at last week hearing and its overwhelming majority, of opinion was that the government should hold up passing the industrial tax bill until the whole report can be given further study.

Only two of the briefs were unfavorable to the bill. One of these was presented by Mr. Hall [illegible] Alberta Association of Mines.

Perhaps the most significant of the briefs

By the late Charles L. Walker

Forty four years ago a young couple came from Glasgow, Scotland to try their fortunes in Western Canada. The immigration literature they had received portrayed life in the West in glowing colors and Britain's second to the best province of all So they settled in the Buffalo Lake district one of the garden spots of Alberta and in the distant past the home of countless herds of buffalo.

The man could hardly wait to get on his land but to his wife the whole undertaking was appalling He had had a good position in Glasgow as a bush keeper and she was a registered nurse Who should they leave their home and security in the Old Country for a speculative venture in farming when they knew nothing about farming

District Agriculturist,
Stettler Alberta)

Treat Your Seed Grain

It is not many years ago that seed treatment meant getting the next day a supply of seed loaded into a wagon box completely covered it with a homemade solution and then covered overnight with a horse blanket in the morning the damp swollen seed could be put in the ground. The above mentioned seed treatment was very useful in controlling smuts but was somewhat harmful to germination particularly of the oat crop and did not protect the seed and young seedling against soil diseases and destructive insects.

Modern seed treatments get from the function of killing a great many of the seed borne diseases loose most of wheat and loose most of barley can be controlled by chemical seed treatment and the same means require various dusting treatments which are practical only in small lots to be worn on leisured evenings.

Chemical seed treatments sold as Ceresan, seed treatment may be divided into six classes as follows

1 Organic mercury compounds for control of loose and seedling blight of wheat loose and covered smut and seedling blight oats covered smut and loose loose smut and seedling blight of barley and most of corn, rye and flax.

2 Non mercury compounds effective only against wheat smut

3 Non mercurials used primarily for control of seedling blight and used not of corn, peas and beans.

4 Combinations of non mercurial compounds and on mercurials for the control of wireworms

The selection of the correct seed treatment depends on the species and variety being grown and also on the condition of the seed. The importance of careful handling of seed treatment chemicals cannot be overemphasized because of their very poisonous nature. They should never be applied to seeds which are to be used as human food or livestock feed information on the effectiveness of the various seed treatments against diseases can be obtained from the D. A.'s office or from Field Crops Branch Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Lohr Honored By Ewing F.U.A.

The monthly meeting of above FUA [illegible] held at the Ewing School March 21 with a [illegible] good attendance

Bill Bauer [illegible] as films [illegible] was very much enjoyed [illegible] and interesting to farm folk and some fun The film Harvest on the March is a fitting tribute to a pioneer [illegible] family Mr and Mrs J Lather and of Hanna (especially as we) were gathered to honour a farm [illegible] in our own district

Mr Bauer addressed the meeting on Weed Control noting the [illegible] chemicals but oh dear the cost is worse than the disease of the CPPA Cost Price Per Acre. [illegible] There must be some other way. Bill seems to give the years [illegible] observation during the [illegible] hour suppose it's a free and easy question period And how we all enjoyed the pictures, the talk and the ones enjoy and [illegible] from the South [illegible] conference.

Our president Dave Rachar then called on Mr Chas Rachar In Mr Rachar's own words after he had called Mr and Mrs Lohr to the front, and incidentally mentioning them second, he very aptly made the proposition

At our last meeting of Local 512 at the home of Mr and Mrs. Walter Bower it was decided to hold the next meeting here at the Ewing School to make a social evening including films, refreshments coffee We planned to invite as our guests Mr and Mrs Lohr and to express in a few words of appreciation for the fine job he did for FUA [illegible] and we said he Division as a whole while sitting on the Stettler County Council Lester served on the Council for 10 years I know he served [illegible] born more than he cared or was ed to The community asked him to continue for the extra term and we are thankful to him for doing so

Will all this in mind, several days as our County Assessor Sickness, Emigrain said the huge road building program, it is no small job to serve on the council

Further more there are many Convention Rperial meetings Inspections at home and away from home of all these things Lester shared a large part

Now on behalf of the meeting I say thank you, very much for the many years of continued faithful service."

Mr Rachar then presented a scroll, suitably inscribed, and said It gives me great pleasure to present to you this scroll as a token of our deep appreciation of the fine contribution you have made to our immediate community and to the County as a whole One thing we ask you that you place this where you will often be reminded of your neighbours

Mr Lohr also served four years on the School Division Board, to and in the change over from Local School Boards to a more central administration 1939-1943

In reply Mr Lohr thanked his neighbours and he wondered why his wife was so anxious for him to come to this meeting Appreciators from his neighbours and those who lived around him was always doubly welcome he would always value the scroll highly He had enjoyed his work on the Council, but thought it better to make way for a young or man.

The committee kept this secret as well, that even the wife and door neighbours hadn't heard a [illegible] it So owing to circumstances over which we did not exercise proper control Anyone wishing to participate may still do so by getting in touch with Mrs H. Jensen, Cliff Cassels, FUA Secretary or Mrs. Tourtellotte.

New School Requisition Would Give 13 Mill Boost to Taxes

Town of Stettler learned Tuesday night that the 1950 requisition of Stettler School District had been increased over last year by an amount representing about 13 mills. This year's requisition is over $[illegible] as compared to $[illegible] in 1949.

Much of the increase is traced to boosts in the teachers salary schedules.

Council is not yet far enough along with the 1950 budget to be able to accurately forecast the 1950 tax rate. However, the increased school requisition would seem to indicate that ratepayers should be prepared to pay higher taxes this year.

Will Attempt to Form Minor Hockey Ass'n. Under AAHA

A meeting of representatives [illegible] was held in the town council chamber [illegible] to discuss the matter of organizing a minor hockey association.

A committee will organize meetings of interested minor hockey followers [illegible] to get the association started. Clark Barlingham, of Stettler was appointed chairman of one of these meets and will call a meeting as quickly as possible. Representatives from each area will eventually form a minor hockey association.

Main purpose of such an association would be to obtain a larger voice for minor hockey in the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association.

Among items on the agenda will be discussion of the [illegible] ing to be:

1 How voting power for minor hockey at AAHA meetings

2 Possible introduction of a lower classification in minor hockey playoffs for small towns of the province

3 Restriction of the area from which minor hockey teams may draw players for playoffs.

4 Uniform playing rules for minor hockey teams.

Spring Weeds Control

Now that spring is the time when weeds jump appear and when weeds can be controlled with the least effort and cost. This can be applied to control of weeds in the bush or pasture land by spraying them with 2-4 Weed Tronic.

More than 20,000 trees will be planted in the County of Stettler this spring. These trees are supplied to farmers free from the Alberta Department of Agriculture and have been grown at the Provincial Horticulture Station at Brooks and Oliver. Most of these trees will be planted with a Co-Op Garden Tractor type planter. Mr. Bill Bauer, Field Assistant in charge of tree planting projects.

Anybody interested may write to the Alberta Department of Agriculture, the application must have been received before April 1st. Trees are available Now . . . good for 1961 tree planting. The charge of trees available is small enough for those who are interested.

Cattle Improvement Policy

In order to encourage farmers to buy good quality sires the Alberta Department of Agriculture has established a Cattle Improvement Policy. This assistance amounts to twenty per cent of the purchase price of a bull to a maximum of seventy five dollars. The purchaser may obtain a copy of the terms of the policy under the Policy from January 1, 1960 by writing from January 1, 1960 by writing from the Department of Agriculture in Edmonton. Applications must be made to the Director of Animal Industry, Edmonton, and no bills purchased before January 1, 1960 will be accepted

Lawyer Sees Human Rights Threatened In Hutterite Bill

By Kay Mason

Edmonton — Members of the Alberta Legislature have been confronted with the troublesome problem of what to do about Alberta's growing Hutterite population.

A dozen hearded, bonnet and shawl clad Hutterites sat in the chamber as the House general bore committee reviewed a bill which will bring in new law of controlling Hutterite colony expansion.

Main provisions of the bill are the establishment of a three man communal property control board which will hear applications pro and con every time the Hutterites want to start a new colony, and make recommendations to the cabinet.

This replaces an existing law which states, specifically in black and white, that a new colony cannot be set up within 10 miles of an existing one. So what the legislature does is effectively replace a statutory restriction with broad laws which give the cabinet the final say.

This troubled Peace in Dominion of Clyde Lamont for Alberta's 5 000 Hutterites At least under the old rut the Hutterites knew exactly where they stood.

But under the new bill he said there is at the mercy of the government with no right of appeal to the courts. And to any matter concerning the liberty of the subjects he said, he wasn't too familiar with the courts functions how he knew at the judicial plantation of everything they do the courts are dominated by free judges and local prosecutors.

However The most trouble some questions of all was the old entanglement in relig ious freedom. And it was on that question that Mr. Dorrance took almost 2 hours to present his case.

Mr. Dorrance said the Hutterites in some respects were a model community of peace loving people. He said that the basis of the bill is the assumption that the Hutterites and the group is not sound and insufficient and is dictatorial in government control.

The Hutterites control their own people without recourse to the courts. Mr. Dorrance said. He said that's why it is necessary to have the courts handle cases in the event of the Hutterites would be set up a new colony, and make recommendations to the cabinet.

He also said a statutory right to appeal to the courts is necessary because Hutterites are subject to many laws which other citizens don't have to live by.

He said that the Hutterites have been subject to discrimination in the past and there are laws that they have to live by particularly in the matter of education

Price Spreads Findings

One definite conclusion that may be drawn from the Farm Forum discussions of the Price Spreads Commission's Findings is that the groups approved of the recommendations made to the Commission by Israel to the approval which they felt that it is very hard to put out upon the recommendations from the numerous ones passed down to the Commission which directly affect the farmers.

The forums suggested that Recommendation 9 emphasizing that a federal statute providing for the investigation of complaints unless receive attention as soon as possible The statement of the Commissioners which dealt in fav orable terms with the marketing boards and the farmers to call their producers was horrible example of the harm done by the bureau Many of the groups suggested that these were a need for much greater study of the whole question before any action concerned so that the feels concerned in it might become fully known across the country.

Most popular recommendation was number 5

We recommend continued support on the part of the Government in co-operation with the trade towards more information labelling standardization of cuts, inner sizes, and amplification of grading and further with respect to misleading advertising accordingly we recommend that the Association of Canadian Ad- ...vertisers be requested to co-operate with the food industry in respect to these matters.

Recommendation 13 emphasizing the need for better transportation from the prairie spread will be ignored

Quotes

Most of the farmers of the communities are of value to the economic welfare than the farmers. The recommendations are all good examples. To find, as although of these cattle, there is definite interest as well the farmers workers We would like to see trading stamps given discontinued completely

Mountain

We think the most important thing would be establishment of a separate Federal Department of Co-operatives that would ENCOURAGE more

Quotes

The commissioners findings concerning the inability of farmers to increase their income in the face of pressure of large corporations buying and advertising and marketing agencies and price shocks should help to make farmers realize the importance of having co-operatives

Quotes

We need legislation which will enable farmers to preserve their own food through co-operatives and retail through co-ops

The Attack on Hunters

Members of the Alberta Legislature recently made vociferous protests about wilful damage done by hunters to farmers' property. The tales they told of slaughtered cattle and shot up farm fixtures are almost beyond belief. Some of the M.P.'s must have heavies for constituents.

In their righteous wrath these good members pointed the finger at hunters as a class of irresponsible vandals. They put the brand of cowardice on every man or woman who enjoys the wholesome sport of hunting. They sowed seeds of suspicion and distrust, and farmers who have never suffered in any degree will now look upon every person with a hunting gun as an armed hoodlum.

We are willing to bet that not one per cent of those who buy hunting licenses has any tendency to commit the crimes described in the legislature. It has been our observation that a good but effective educational program of the Fish and Game Association has reduced the problem of the game hogs and the spoilers. Hunters in our district have become aware that they are privileged guests when they step on farmers' lands. Relations between farmers and hunters have been good but the recent mad fury of the legislature could have nothing but a bad effect on this happy situation.

Pioneer Rancher 62 Years in District

We had the pleasure to recently call on Mr. Ed Whiteside who will celebrate his 90th birthday on Good Friday. He is in good health and enjoying life on the old homestead southwest of Stettler. He spends much of his time reading western pioneer stories. He lives with his daughter Edith Geertsen and Mr. Geertsen.

Mr. Whiteside has been a rancher for the past 62 years in the Louden Lake district as he first landed on the district in 1898 to look over the country and selected his homestead. He was the first settler to move there and was there for a year on a year's time by the late Joe Harbinson. Jim McElhone of Stettler was his first neighbor to the west.

These 62 years south-west of town do not represent all his lifetime in the ranching business. He came to Calgary around 1886 at the age of 23 and after a year or two he moved to Penhold, before the railway came through. Other members of the family came in and, as it was open range in those days, the Whitesides ran a lot of cattle.

But when the railway came through Ed Whiteside decided that he needed free range territory, so he set out in the year 1898 to explore the country east of the Red Deer River. He set out straight east of Red Deer through a country that had only one trail to the river. He forded the river on horseback and kept on riding through the prairie wilderness, bypassing what were later the Alix and Stettler districts until he arrived at what seemed to be a free range in the Louden Lake country. There he selected his homestead site on Section 24-39-19 although it wasn't surveyed then and there he lived ever since.

In the meantime his family remained on the ranch at Penhold until he could get settled and Ed's life for the first year or two consisted of foraging on the land at Louden Lake in the summer and working in the lumber camps of British Columbia in the winter.

It was in 1900 that he was able to bring his family to the new ranch. It was fortunate that he made the move in that year as the wet seasons started in 1901 and for the three years the whole country was flooded so that the sloughs were everywhere. He had built a long turf shack about 12 by 16 and here Mrs. Whiteside and the children lived the first difficult years.

During the first three years on the ranch, the low parts of the country were flooded and in June 1902 it rained for 26 days. Getting supplies from Red Deer was a difficult proposition under these circumstances and one day Preston Ed decided to build a route to float down the Red Deer River with a load of groceries and other commodities. He ran the scow down from Red Deer to as far as where Scollard now stands and reached the supplies over the high ground by wagon to the ranch. The lumber from the scow was used to put the first floor in the sod shack.

In normal years when the rains let up, the family was busy raising cattle and driving the herds to Red Deer. It took five days to get a few head to market by a direct route to the river at Content. There was no bridge so the herd had to be made when the river was low. These trips would be made every time the supplies got low, and at one time coming back over the river, the wagonload of oatmeal and dried fruit and other groceries tipped into the stream and were nearly all lost.

However, these were pioneer days which had their own compensations. The ranch conquered the children got their education at Darvido School.

The family consists of Ethel (Mrs. Svendsen) living at Dickson, Alberta. Laura (Mrs. Westergarde) teaching at David Thompson School near Rocky Mountain House, Louise at Bear Idaho and Edith (Mrs. Geertsen) at home. Then there are G. A. Whiteside and Arthur in Stettler district. Ralph at Edmonton and Lyle at Red Deer.

Search for Neighbors

(From the BBC London Letter)

Scientists who have been discussing the question of whether intelligent life of some sort may exist elsewhere in the universe believe that if man HAS any neighbors in space their most likely method of trying to communicate with other planets would be by sending out radio signals.

"The first systematic steps in the search for life elsewhere will start in America this spring," said Anothony Smith, science correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, in a recent BBC general overseas service broadcast. The radio telescope at Green Bank, West Virginia, is to be pointed in turn at all the stars nearest to us that are likely to have planets attached to them on which life could exist. These very near stars are, by the way, sixty-six million million miles away from us. The sort of thing the scientists will be listening for will be some pattern of noise that could only be made by intelligent beings.

"There are plenty of wave-lengths that could be used for this signal, but the scientists have all agreed that anyone wishing to communicate with us would use 1,420 mega-cycles. This is the wave-length of the radio waves that are given out by neutral hydrogen, and neutral hydrogen is the most plentiful stuff in the universe. Any intelligent beings elsewhere would know that anyone else who owned a radio telescope would be constantly paying attention to that part of the waveband. So their messages would have a greater chance of being picked up if this particular wavelength was used."

Unfortunately, everything would take a very long time. Smith said. Although radio waves travelled in space at 186,000 miles a second, they would take 11 years to travel from the nearest suitable solar system, so that even if the Green Bank telescope did pick up intelligent signals, and immediately transmitted a message back, there would be a wait of 22 years before any reply could be received.

Supposing such signals were received, the messages would of course be purely technical in the first place. Eventually there would be pictures, and then some kind of language would have to be established, but that would not be in the lifetime of anyone living today.

"But we might, we just might," said Smith, "hear that Green Bank has picked up the first radio signs of life from one of the solar systems within its range. That will be a tremendous day. But in any case 1960 will go down in history as the year when man on earth first started looking around him to discover if he was all alone in the Universe."

WEEKLY MEDITATION

By Rev. J. A. Thorne

THE MIRACLE OF THE CROSS

And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up.

That whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have eternal life. John 3:14-15

The occasion to which these words refer is found in Numbers chapter 21. Because of the wickedness of the people God sent fiery serpents among them. The serpents bit the people and many Israelites died. Then they repented and turned to Moses and said. We have sinned for we have spoken against the Lord and against thee; pray unto the Lord that he take away the serpents from us. Numbers 21:7. Moses prayed for the people and the Lord told him to make a fiery serpent and set it on a pole. Moses did this and it came to pass that every one which was bitten by a serpent had but to look upon the fiery serpent and live.

Christ was lifted up from the earth on the cross of calvary. That whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life. This is well expressed in the words of the poet who wrote:

There is life for a look at the Crucified One,
There is life at this moment for thee;
Then look sinner look unto Him and be saved—
Unto Him who was nailed to the tree
Look! Look! Look and Live!
There is life for a look at the crucified one.

There is life at the moment for thee
In the miracle of the cross. There Jesus died to save you and me.

Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest.

Take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest unto your souls. Isaiah prophesied concerning Christ. His name shall be called Wonderful Counsellor The Mighty God The everlasting Father The Prince of Peace Isa. 9:6

When Jesus and his disciples were crossing the sea of Galilee they were caught in a storm, and Jesus in a hurry "Peace be still" The wind ceased and the waves subsided and there was a great calm.

Jesus is the only one who can save us from the storms of life. He is the only one who can give us peace in our hearts. He is the only one who can give us eternal life.

The blood that flowed from Calvary is the price of peace. Thousands have died in vain, and so have said now, but Jesus died that we might live. Jesus took our sins and our guilt and our shame on a hill called Calvary and all who have looked to Him have found peace.

Jesus is the only hope of Israel's glory. Tomorrow are the wrecks of time All the light of sacred story Gathers round my head sublime.

When the wave of life o'ertake me Hope deserting, and fears arising Nearest unto me cross forsake me Let it glow with power and joy

Because of the cross there is no place there is like the cross in height and the breath of the love of God for a wicked world. In the cross we are fulfilled the golden text of the bible John 3:16 For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life.

The christian religion is unique in a world of many religions in that it stands alone as a religion of love Christian preachers everywhere can have only one message. God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son. The brotherhood of christian faith is first love Love God Love Lords Lamb and Love

The Apostle Paul wrote in 1 Cor 13 And now abideth faith hope, charity these three, but the greatest of these is charity. The heathen native in dark Africa stands in wonder at the message of the christian missionary that speaks of the love of God that sent Jesus to Calvary for a sinful wicked world

Two influences in my life created the habit of garnering my spare food Home my pioneer-of-war days. I've always had a deep rooted fear of going hungry In those days I discovered that a good thick crust turfed away about the gravy and was more comforting than thoughts of home mother or country

I remember one great financial coup I pulled off there I started with the recollect of fifty short which I was wearing and hadn't had off for six weeks It took me a week, but I traded that for a cheap shirt and pair of gloves, the gloves for cigarettes the cigarettes for an onion for a bottle of homemade hooch and the hooch for a Red Cross chocolate bar line the hand but Easter hopping Hare, all the Easter Bunny feeds on hand or darkness sleeping Bird all but Nest comes dozens Bird's nest Nest comes dozens Bird's nest Fields and gardens heat the Spring Greens and woodland ring with voices. While the wild herds build and sing

What was the occasion for Easter if there are hints left in the bones they will be full of questions about Easter Customs Mother will explain to them that the date of Easter changes every year because it depends on the movements of the moon Easter Sunday is the first Sunday after the full moon of the Spring Equinox

The egg is symbolic of life and to the Early Christians it represented the Resurrection or Easter from the dead People of many lands Egyptians Romans Persians and Greeks All did have their own special customs of Easter Others have stopped coloring eggs inside But in many of the countries of Europe Easter is the big time for the eggs and everyone from the greatest to the least indulges in the custom

The legend of the Easter Rabbit may be traced to an old German superstition that White Hares laid eggs on Easter Eve and from that has come the hope that the Easter Rabbit will bring colored eggs and candies at the homes of good children

New clothes for Easter is another custom which goes back to the reign of Emperor Constantine in Rome He declared that at Easter everyone should put on the religious garments and should dress in new garments With the passing of time the custom changed to money which must be spent to buy even a small child a outfit for Easter Sunday for Easter custom is so embarrassing one to forget

Parents do well to be frank with their children and tell them honestly that there is only so much money for clothes in the family budget and that must be spread over the whole family so fairly as possible If a son or daughter can relish a glimpse of the necessary planning for clothes for everyone in the family they are not so likely to be so demanding about new things—and they will be more willing when they are able to help with this expenditure

Sunday best that child should be encouraged to take a pride in his appearance especially when he attends church Sunday should be a special day—and Easter Sunday as part of the Easter quest Seeking Every child should have the privilege of attending church with his parents on Easter Sunday When the Easter Lily and the Easter Greetings have been exchanged

Easter is also the time to appear at the return of Spring and the glad everlasting that even in Christ rose again from the dead on that first Easter morning we too and those we love, will live on after this life on earth is over

Have You Considered?

(By S. P. Pearson)

Many a man has passed back on the life and has said "I wish I had realized before I begged But on the other hand, many others have looked back and have said, I wish I had taken the opportunity when I had it

Here you then considered the importance of the time elements in your life? Take a day or two in the life of each person of whom no-one has any more than anyone else Once it is gone we can never recover it It is a way it is like a pull of smoke it vanishes and we never see it again If I only had time for this or that we say If only I were not begged down with so many things that I don't really want to do

We are so much creatures of habit And we are much creatures of habit formerly But of course you have realized at least something of the importance of time For your everyone has had at some time or other if only I had time for this or that I would be happy

Have you ever considered that if anything has time or that is worth what you think it will make you happy it might be time for you to do some elimination? You might be able to find your expenditures of time some of those hours of unhappiness and frustration as much of this wherein shall

To be sure life is a mad rush and what? for most people and seems to be getting more so I dare say that there are more grave warning sirens than there are warning grudges And that is a strong statement So consider if you will and ponder well — that a number of the things that occupy your time from day to day may be thieves

There are you house degrees of unbalance Habits are like tools in a way Replace a second rate habit with a better one and you begin to make better use of your time So eliminate a habit altogether even perhaps If it is not in itself a bad habit and replace it with a better and different one, and you have made a step forward Your first one simply "convenient" hobbey may be used to great advantage now

We were at a cold meat supper recently sponsored by a women's organization The Old Girl was a conspicuous as a mother with a kleptomaniac [illegible] She was [illegible] to find a home for him Which hymn? they enquired The one that expresses all that is deepest in your faith, he replied They thought for a moment and then with full throats sang

When I survey the wondrous Cross On which the Prince of Glory died My richest gain I count but loss And pour contempt on all my pride

Finally I had to get tricky Isn't she a hot-shot? I said pointing at a young lady who was just leaving No woman can resist looking While her head was turned I crammed a slice of bread and my pocket But she fruited me as soon as we left the hall I lost my piece of bread and had to settle for a piece of his steak

On the whole my wife is tolerant of the aberration of mine Sometimes she gets annoyed some slaves and selery sent of a posh restaurant But she draws the line when I start secreting hunks of steak or legs of fried chicken that are left And she's not only humiliated but furious when I ask to cart off the remains of the chow mein, after a big Chinese

Cattle Grub Control Prevents Loss

Heavy cattle grub infestation means less profit for the stockman. To avoid such losses simple steps are advised to combat the problem now. Rotella powder wash or spray have been found very satisfactory. By this practice the cattle are relieved of grubs and will not relieve a check of flesh which often result from grubbing in the pasture due to warble fly activity.

Profits From Water Disappointing

Edmonton Bulletin

It has been learned that the city of Drumheller has come to many great amount of money from the very water system put into operation six months ago. Some city manager has been very modest in his estimate when he said 50 000.00. It had been the general impression of opinion that the profits would run city quite a substantial sum for the city coffers. Business has proved out to be likewise.

Field Study Opportunities Increase

Again, as much of the past concerned at the discussion of the operation of the system is left open for discussion. Whether or not the Woodlawn Lookout will be operated by the Forestry Branch was unable to say. Supervisor of the Forest Service, Mr. Curtis Stone of Stettler, was unable to be reached for comment.

Mothers and fathers who worry about Johnny's poor report card and the red pencilling of words, his inability to spell and printed reading, the despair of his schoolteacher progressively frustrated might find comfort in the thought that was in reading a picture.

Thomas Alva Edison — whom the world is embedded for a thousand and more inventions — was once a poor student that a teacher referred him unfitted and his mother took him out of school to teach him herself. But perhaps that was what he needed to show the genius and determination that went to bring to the world the phonograph, its motion picture, the universal electric motor, the filament lamp — in short the most prolific of modern electronics.

When Edison was just quite 12 he became a newsboy and easily hitched on the Grand Trunk train which ran between Detroit and Port Huron. In the baggage car he set up a second hand hand printing press and there produced his little Weekly Herald the first newspaper ever printed and published on a train.

Deadlier Traffic Accidents Take Place on Highways

Fewer but deadlier traffic accidents occurred on the provincial traffic scene during the first two months of 1969, the Alberta Safety Council reported Tuesday.

Basing its figures on police reports, the council said the fatality trend was 40% above that for the same period last year, while the number and injury totals were not by ever one-third. The accident total dropped by 36% and the injury total dropped by 30%.

The death toll of 32 compared with 27 in 1968, while the accident total of 2,971 compared with 1,866.

Multiple-injury and multiple-death vehicle accidents contributed to the two-month trend of fewer but deadlier. The 32 persons killed during February died in 26 accidents, the 364 injuries during the month occurred in 320 accidents. In all, 1,209 accidents occurred in February. Property damage is estimated at $1,305,299.

In urban areas, the council said, accidents killed many persons in the pedestrian category than in any other listed by police in the other listed areas.

Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Red Deer Camrose and Grand Prairie also reported generally improved traffic pictures in February.

Liberals To Plan Drive

A concentrated reorganization program and membership drive throughout the province during the next three months will be launched by the Liberal Association of Alberta.

Associations president Richard Hall of Athabasca, in a letter to all executive and constituency officers has called for joint federal-provincial executive meetings in the 17 federal constituencies to be held within the next month. Purpose of the executive meetings will be to plan and inaugurate membership drives with a view to having all 'bona' elected members of the party active members of the party. The provincial president states the membership drives will stimulate interest in the constitution. The Liberal Association of Alberta sees this as the financial support of the constituencies in order to keep Liberal programs and policies before the electorate for the third time.

He also called on constituencies to consider up-to-date membership lists as a basis for the drive. He also suggested that they be kept fully informed of Liberal policies, activities and activities. He also suggests that they consider fund-raising drives and that they set a goal on a per capita contribution to the provincial association.

In the meantime provincial Liberal leader Grant MacEwan is a Lethbridge interview said his party had survived electoral disappointments and that it was only a matter of time before it "knocked back" to an active role in Alberta politics.

Big Valley Home And School Entertained by Pupils

The Big Valley Home and School held a social evening in the school on Tuesday, April 15. Mrs. Orpha Johnston is the teacher. Grades 1 to 6 provided the entertainment. Eight pupils in Grade 4 demonstrated a science experiment under supervision of the teacher Mrs. B. Ellwood. Miss Jones explained what is expected of beginners.

The Home and School will cater to the Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held on April 27 in the Auditorium.

The Curling Club held a draw dance in the Memorial Theatre on Wednesday, April 16, but paying to other activities there was a rather small crowd. The following is a list of the winners:

Mrs. C. Carter, Mrs. L. Ward, Mrs C. Parker, John Jones, Vern Hammond, Jim Ellwood, Glen Kirkbride, Steven Hansen Lloyd Duncan, Mrs. H. Riddell, Mrs. Sydney Glover, Jim Jones, Norman Dudley Simmons, Kenny Ellwood, Mrs. Sydney Glover.

The Big Valley Ladies Curling Club held their end of the season on curling at the home of Mrs. Jean Young on April 7 at 8:30 p.m.

A most successful year was reported and new financial statement was the result of a lot of time and work donated by our members. We are proud to be in a position to give $200 towards lifting the existing loan from the new curling rink, and display the bill for possible future curling starts next fall.

Speaking of curling we had lots of it this winter. Besides our artificial ice plant it was a pleasure and to have to worry about a thaw during our spiel.

The treaty of serving for the Spiel was eliminated. The Mrs. Curling Club took care of this nicely for us. They did a very commendable job and we appreciated it very much.

Our appreciation also goes and Bunnies, Dillon and Lockers, Reid's Bed and Wake; Frank Wren of Wren's Hardware for loaning the day to use the rolls of the Spiel broadcast on Brandvlei station.

The Big Valley Hotel also helped to make the Spiel successful, thanks to Cec Simmons for the use rooms to give the various rinks.

Lome ends of our business were successfully tied-up during our meeting then we adjourned and were served a very nice lunch by the ladies.

Mrs Gordon Peeler and Miss Jones are spending the Easter Holidays at the coast.

Mr and Mrs. E Easter entertained a number of friends from Drake and Big Valley in honor of Mr. Bert Warner. He has just celebrated his 80th birthday and we all wish him health to enjoy many more birthdays.

Mr and Mrs. Charles Yorke had a celebration when it was their 25th wedding anniversary and a number of relatives and friends from Botany gathered

Flying Club Members Improve Landing Strip at Stettler

Members of Stettler Flying Club expended a good deal of effort last week improving the landing strip, which runs along the south boundary of the Golf Course.

An earth mover was busy for three days, cutting off hills and filling the depressions. The latter will obviate flooding in the future.

Bert Gibbon did a great deal of spade work installing more culverts and on Saturday President Gordon Cleave and Harvey Bateman were in charge of a work party and the strip was cleaned and harrowed, planted with grass and finally packed.

Members of the work party donated their time from 10:00 a.m. until 10:30 p.m., even Gibbon called it quits, but Glenroy was travelled on through the cold and darkness certh some help from a prominent Big Valley truck-ing tycoon) and finally finished the job in the early hours of Sunday morning. The wisdom of this amazing persistence and tenacity of purpose obvious when we started to fall jobs in the morning. In a few short weeks Stettler Flying Club will be on the finest in Alberta outside of the cities.

To give the green a chance, it is hoped to restrict take-offs and landings until to the south side of the strip.

Plans are underway for the club to sponsor a boys' model plane flying contest. The date is tentatively set for Sunday, June 8, and it is expected that there will be sizeable entries of hobbyists from Edmonton and other large centres. All local boys are interested in model aeroplanes are urged to attend. More details later.

ANNUAL DANCE

Plans have been completed for the Flying Club Annual Ball. This will be held at Memorial Hall on Friday, May 16 and promises to be a highly interesting and enjoyable occasion. Gordon Cleave is convenor and assures us that tickets are available from any club member.

Instructor Carl Jackson has his plane built and has got just nicely started on completion of the primary school, when strip after strip and weather called a halt. He hopes to have instruction in full swing again shortly.

In 5 years ...what?

Five years may see a big change in your responsibilities. Five years may see a big change in your life insurance needs. For these very reasons, Sun Life of Canada offers its new ADJUSTABLE POLICY, the policy that gives you four options at the end of five years so that you can decide what type of life insurance coverage best suits you at that time.
For example, will you still be insurable? One of the options offers you increased coverage with no further medical evidence . . . or . . . will you want a larger income for your retirement years? Another option allows you to change your policy to an endowment at age 65 . . . or . . . will you want to reduce your premium outlay without reducing your protection? Then you can change your policy to a lower premium, whole life policy . . . Or you also have the option of keeping your original policy — which will be fully paid for at age 65 — in effect. This plan may meet your personal and family insurance needs for a lifetime.
With its four valuable options, Sun Life's Adjustable Policy looks to your future and considers
- your financial circumstances
- your family's protection
- your retirement income
- your insurability

Let the Sun Life agent in your neighborhood put you and your family on the right road to security. Why not ask him today for full details of this flexible new policy?

Foot Fashion

The familiar old adage If the shoe fits wear it might be more appropriately worded If the shoe doesn't fit be all means don't wear it. Most shoes are the major reason for women having foot trouble Even the fully developed foot of an adult can easily be harmed by ons shoes.

How Should a Shoe Fit?

If shoes are correctly fitted you should be able to wiggle your big toes in them while standing Behind the base of the big toe the shoe should be snug enough to firmly grip your in step Heel should fit snugly without rubbing or pinching

There is only one hinge in the foot It is the natural bend of the shoe right across the ball of the foot as shoes should be flexible at this point Be certain the ball of the foot falls on the widest part of the shoe This is one most important point of fit and must be accurate The shoe should be at least one half inch longer than your foot, and should another cut nor gap as you walk

What Size?

You may not name the same size in all shoes because the manufacturer which the shoe is made varies by style and make of shoe. Your size is usually one-tenth of an inch The difference in a half size is only one-tenth of an inch The 7½ Million Car Key Tags Manufactured By War Amps.

Did you ever lose your car keys?

Then you know something about the lost car key service the War Amps is providing motorists. Since the service was started in 1952 by the War Amps, more than 7½ million car key tags have been manufactured and distributed to motorists. Each key tag is registered with the motor vehicle department of the province in which the owner lives. If a key is found and returned to the War Amps, the owner is notified and the key tag is returned to him. Over 100,000 keys have been returned in this way.

During April more than 75 million car key tags will be mailed to Canadian motorists. All the key tags are manufactured by war amps that only employ the key tag service keeps 30 men gainfully employed and all the profits go toward the benefit work of the War Amps amputation association of Canada.

Arthur Duval Piper, who owns the car key service as well as the Lambs Inn Motel on the Penetanguishene Road, Midland, Ont., is the president of the War Amps. Because Piper, and many of the executive of the association, have lost limbs in accidents, all profits from the car key tag service are used to assist further limbless and disabled war heroes.

The car key tags are sent out automatically, but only to those motorists who have registered. The owner is sent a card to fill out and return to the War Amps Key Tag Service, 86 Bloor street, Toronto 5.

Lutheran News

We are most pleased that St. Peter Lutheran Church of Stettler is able to bring to Stettler on Sunday, May 8 the distinguished male vocal ensemble Lutheran College Choir which will sing at 8:00 o'clock evening in the High School Auditorium. Beginning at 6:30 P.M. an outdoor supper will be served by the Ladies Aid. Everyone is welcome to attend the Lutheran Church in Stettler. New opportunities for worship are now being provided with the coming of an additional church service hour every Sunday morning at 9:45 A.M. as well as at 11:00 A.M. At the present time the hour of worship will grow as the months speed by. In the Sunday School hour changes have also been noted, with division of classes made necessary by growth, and two hours of classes arranged between of both or adequate facilities. Beginners School meets at 11:00 and Junior School at 9:45 concurrent with the hours of worship.

The last two Sundays, crews were planned on the growing to Bethel to and through the Sunday Schools Children from the Kindergarten and Nursery Departments a week ago sang several songs, and various events and joined in favorite finger plays while projects and study underway of these classes were on display. This past Sunday, the Senior and Junior choirs joined in a choral reading, sang a massive hymn and offered prayer for missions, in keeping with the Good Shepherd theme of that Sunday. Special emphasis will continue in all the Sunday Schools through Pentecost and Trinity Sunday in June.

This Saturday, the Junior Missionary Band and Junior Lutherans will again begin meeting until the summer recess. A wonderful program of far-ups numerous studies is slated for the children, with interesting activities and projects being lined up. The Women's Missionary Society sponsors this group the JMB's including children from three to nine and the Junior Lutherans from [illegible]

Has Lake Erie A Heroine?

Yes, her name was Abagail Jackson Becker. In 1864 at the age of 24 she was instrumental in saving the lives of the master and six crewmen of the schooner Conductor wrecked off Long Point Island in Lake Erie. For this deed Queen Victoria honored her with a gift of 100 and Buffalo seamen with a gift of $500. In 1887 the New York Life Saving Benevolent Association awarded her a medal and in 1890 the Royal Humane Society did the same. In 1899 the Prince of Wales, whom in Canada got casually acquainted her and made her a gift. Abagail Jackson was born in Prudence County Upper Canada, moved to Long Point Island in 1846 when she married Jeremiah Becker a trapper at the age of 16. After his death she married Henry Robery in 1880 and moved to Washington. Centre Abigail had eight children of her own, nine step children and two adopted children. She died in 1908.

Big Valley Students Hold Annual Dinner for Old Timers

The second annual banquet put on by the Students Council in honour of the Senior Citizens of Big Valley and District was held in the Legion Auditorium on [illegible] Wednesday, April 27. There were about 150 attendance at a very delicious turkey dinner and all the trimmings which everyone thoroughly enjoyed. It takes something like this to make us realize just how remarkable our young people are of their riders. And we do appreciate their thoughtfulness.

At the close of the meal Mr. Nicholson as chairman welcomed the guests. He called on Mr. Ed Johnston who gave a talk on the St. Lawrence Seaway, one of the greatest achievements of the world and what it means to the country at large. He was followed by Frank Dewar who gave a brief talk on the first schools here, their troubles and trials.

Mr. Charlie Hanna was also called upon to relate some of his experiences. Then each guest was called upon for a few remarks. They were all high in their praise and thanked the committee for a delicious meal and a happy evening.

The highlight of the evening was when the lights went out everyone thought there was a power failure. Three or four girls approached the head table and for adults as well should further their education, education should not stop when you leave school. We feel that the pupil owes her success not only to her teacher but parents as well. Heather was asked to come forward and accept the rose. She thanked the Chamber of Commerce for the rup and was sorry her former teachers Mr Walker and Mr Antinuy could not have been here to receive her thanks, for the help she had received from them. And to Mr parents Mr and Mrs J. Darch for without their help she could not have made it. We all wish Heather a successful future.

Mr Bonnefoi was also called on for a few remarks. He congratulated Heather on her success in obtaining the rup and said she stands a good chance of winning.

There were about 50 people present and the guests were Rev and Mrs Hunt and Mr and Mrs Ron Wiltsie.

The dinner was served by the members of the Home and School and was very much enjoyed by all.

After the dinner Mr Pinter [illegible] president extended the thanks and gave a brief outline of what the Chamber of Commerce is and does. [illegible] a couple of months ago. He told us that the plans are for the [illegible] the head of the Council. All were here an interest and what we should get behind the Chamber of Commerce [illegible] and get push [illegible] Mr. Ron Wiltsie was called upon to speak. He told of the first Board of Trade in Stettler form[illegible] 1905 with only a handful of interested people and of their [illegible] and down over the years and the struggles they [illegible] It was all very interesting and enjoyed by all.

The President then called on Rev Hunt to make the presentation of the rup to Miss Heather Darch in presenting the rup he stressed the need of an

Reporter — Lillian Gutscher

The April meeting of our 4-H Beef Club was opened by Wayne Savage saying the 4-H pledge. We had the roll call and the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

We discussed old business and decided that Harold Gruber be our master of ceremonies for our next 4-H Week at Rosebud. We then discussed our tour on Sunday 24. Following this we drew the names from the hat to see who would be our leaders on the tour. The following leaders were drawn: Jean Webster making a name that we keep our steers in the Rosebud Rally. The tour was cancelled and carried. Russell Webster made a motion that we send our steers on our tour which was seconded by Allen Webster and carried.

We then enjoyed an interesting talk on The Showmanship of a Calf by Clifford Wilder. A motion was made that the meeting be adjourned. A delicious lunch was served.

Marcel Lambert Speaks

At the Annual Meeting of the Acadia Conservative Constituency Association in Castor on Wednesday April 20th, Marcel Lambert Parliament Assistant to the Minister of Revenue gave an interesting account of the present session in Ottawa to date.

He claimed that the parliamentary opposition was so futile that the Press had appointed itself as the chief unofficial critic of Government policy That this would about only 25 per cent of the number of members being present at any of the 200 odd votes in the House but would be covered by the press at the time

Gordon Taylor of Bullpark was elected President D H Cook nor of Stettler and Kenneth Cockerill of Alsask Vice Presidents and Dr L H Wright of Stettler Secretary Treasurer Other members of the executive remaining to serve

The elected Reeves and had taken six months for the Municipal Conference.

The controversial matter of deficiency payment on Wheat and Oats claimed that such pay ments on wheat would not end there as growers of other grains would also feel entitled to payments also But the unfortunate farmer without any crop would get no help under such conditions

He severely reckoned to the Government's claim to be fair that no statements on the Budget would be discussed by the press at the time

Stettler's Population 3560

Town of Stettler has announced the results of the latest census. There are now 3,560 people living in the town. Two years ago the people were counted here as the result of a similar census and it is not likely to be until new industries are attracted to Stettler.

Nevertheless future growth should be steady and permanent and possibly this is better than population explosions of boom periods and all those attendant problems

Annual Cleanup Time

The majority of householders of Stettler are as usual doing excellent jobs of cleaning up their grounds They have always done so in the past and need no urging to do more How much of the credit for this can go to the clean extent of the Board of Trade's Annual Cleanup Campaign is anybody's guess

The Board has announced that Cleanup Week in Stettler will begin on Monday May 13.

The campaign is aimed at individuals like the editor of this newspaper who take the slightest excuse to lay down the shovel and the hoe They would rather walk barefoot on ground glass than plant a row of peas or clip a hedge These types and a large number of busy seasons whose premises bring no credit to the town need a cleanup week to shame them into doing something

The campaign requires the initiative and interest of all A bright attractive community line helps develop community spirit, reduces fire hazards and promotes safety Cleanup supports business stabilizes taxpayers and increases the value of real estate

Increased Tax Rate To Be Expected

We suppose some comment on the Town's proposed mill rate is to be expected but we are hard pressed to find anything to say about it that is worthwhile

After the shock of the tax notices has worn off the ratepayers will concede that you never get something for nothing and the many fine things that make living in Stettler pleasurable are bound to cost something They are also aware that housewives are caught in a spiral of rising costs and the business of municipal government is certainly no exception

The main thing for the ratepayers to consider is whether or not they are receiving good value for the money they are spending The Independent believes they are The dustpreviding program will be extended this year, the new schools are everything one could entertain, the various government departments such as public works, garbage and waste removal police fire protection and recreation are functioning efficiently and probably as economically as possible when we ask for so much. In many respects Stettler is a model for other Alberta towns, and our tax rate is not out of line with any of them

The five-mill boost will represent an increase of from $10 to $15 in the tax bill of the average householder and this seems to be the average increase this year in communities throughout the province

The budget estimates a surplus of around $100, but actually it is a deficit budget, because the town will dip into the waterworks surplus account for $9000 The School District has also presented a deficit budget to help get its requisition down from the first estimate of $280,000 to $184,770 Deficit budgets are not too popular these days, but in this case, they seem to be necessary evils.

Council has provided $10,000 we think wisely, for the street dustproofing program Streets in the west and east ends of Stettler will get a treatment of asphalting and money will be spent to protect the investment on Main Street and some of the residential streets of the town.

Debenture debt charges will be $73 842 an increase of about $24,000 which actually represents nearly six mills so there is little wonder that slightly more than two mills were added to the municipal rate on real property Most of the new debenture debt charges are for essential improvements made in 1960 like water and sewer extensions and the new sewer lagoon system. The Town also borrowed the minimum amount of money required to get the Community Centre in operation

The expected growth of Stettler has been provided for $9,000 will be paid for the land in new residential subdivision and surveys and engineering in the area will cost $7,000. The ratepayers will spend $82,364 on public works this year, as compared to $63,- 292 in 1960

The town will continue the practice of many years standing, of allowing a 10 per cent discount on current taxes paid before June 15 and this discount is also given to those who pay on monthly installments. This is effective in bringing taxes in early and accounts, in part, for the good position the town enjoys with regard to tax collections. However, there is one bad effect, when a mill rate of 74 is quoted, the fact that by far the majority of taxpayers are actually assessed only 67 mills may be forgotten. Then too, there is the danger that new property owners may be assessed off by a mill rate that appears higher than it really is.

A Profitable Decision

(From Saturday Night)

There has been unanimous approval in the business world of the National Energy Board's recommendations, now approved by the Cabinet, which will allow large quantities of natural gas to be exported to the United States.

A few dissident voices raised that cry that we were once more just mining our natural resources when we should be using them to develop our own secondary industry, but in this instance it would seem that new sources of energy will be able to cope with industrial expansion even after gas reserves have been depleted. Nuclear power is certainly no further away than thorough industrialization of the Canadian Midwest.

Other voices were heard to claim that the price at which gas was exported was lower than that which Canadians would pay There are two things to be said about this

(1) The demand for gas from the States is firm and predictable and the contract price can be lower because the load factor is higher In other words, the American customer agrees to take more at a steadier rate than the Canadian one

(2) The American customer is often nearer to well-head than the Canadian one which means his share of piping cost is that much less. (It would surely be a very peculiar attitude for the pronouncers to maintain that we should subsidize Canadian pipelines by charging high American prices — the gas situation is too competitive for that kind of deal.)

Taking it all round then, the decision to export large quantities of natural gas means the profitable exploitation of our reserves and a very necessary shot in the arm to our economy just when it appears from all indicators to need it. For the production, transportation and servicing of the new export contracts will mean total capital expenditures of hundred of millions of dollars — not to mention an estimated earning power of $7 million a year by 1965.

The complex of high politicians in Canada is obviously increasing A week ago last June national crisis over differing reports received recently there were impressions that in Toronto alone.

For all practical purposes immediately concerned there were fourteen and another dozen of senior officials. But some no-nuclear-war-at-all-costs deep in the human consciousness behind a bank is regarded as a less serious risk than nothing at all individual And it is this which probably accounts for public apathy

In a survey of local fishermen in the United States a writer in last month's Fortune Magazine commented on the number of amateurs engaged in this kind of hold-up They ranged from little old ladies with pearl salesmen, and engineers a chorus girl, a civil leader and a professional economist

And an unemployed clerk caught in the act Everybody's rubbing bumps these days I'm an honest law-abiding citizen

Salmon says a Pacific Coast biologist, are given to yawning and scraping their sides on river beds Like humans, he suggests, they probably yawn out of boredom. Fact And Fiction

(Montreal Star)

To most adults with their own memories of the 1930s the word unemployment is equated with honest to goodness hardship But few will insist that the 500,000 job hunters at mid-March this year are in all particulars of human misery, suffering and want

In fact, Ottawa officials are likely to be quite correct in a predicament of real misery But there has been quite a few exceptions If we used Great Depression measures from the economic history books and institute unemployment aid now nearly everybody would be getting it In general approximately two-thirds of the unemployed would be getting more than they ever got in what it did a quarter century ago.

Another reason today's unemployment looks worse than it really is in terms of human misery is that the official list of job seekers includes many people who, although unemployed in the sense that they are unemployed, are not necessarily in need. For example at least one wife who may would like a well-paid and enjoyment part-time job is included in the ranks of the unemployed. Indeed, one economist draws a deep distinction between the "secondary" and "primary" unemployed. Both were those in search of work, but the former is one group, a man or woman who is the sole or principal breadwinner for a family, and the latter is another group, a person who is working part time or who is single and living with parents or relatives.

Economist Frank Scott of Ottawa's Department of Labor has suggested that the unemployed be divided into three groups. The first would be those who are out of work and who have been unemployed for more than 15 weeks. The second would be those who are out of work and who have been unemployed for less than 15 weeks. The third would be those who are out of work and who have been unemployed for less than 15 weeks but who are not necessarily in need.

Mr. Scott's suggestion is a good one. It would help to clarify the situation and to make it easier to understand the problem. It would also help to make it easier to understand the solution.

Have You Considered?

By S. P. F.

"Education — a tool, but do not trust it too! When Thomas Edison was to be awarded a well-deserving friend to give to him for his [illegible] he replied: "I have less than one per cent of schooling. With such an attitude one might understand [illegible] and [illegible] of self-made men.

We deplore the situation in which many people live by saying that they are not well educated, that they are in effect so much better than many of their fellows when if the whole scheme of things they do but possess a little of the world's knowledge Consider for instance the great diversity of knowledge which man gives possess in this world Then consider the [illegible] with which discoveries have been made in the past fifty years Then think of the vast volume of wisdom which man has yet failed to grasp And when you have meditated on all this then consider the frailty of any man's knowledge in this world even the wisest among us.

Sir Isaac Newton was considered a very wise man a genius in his own right And so he was But he also knew that there was an infinitesimal amount of learning that he had not yet grasped of that which man knows to man He also knew since he was not only an accumulator of knowledge but a discoverer as well that he was still on the bottom ladder of wisdom though he lived to a ripe old age

There are in this world those who are pioneers in the field of discovery and then there are those who benefit from what others have learned and set down in writing for the benefit of mankind Truly wisdom is a gift to be granted by men not by examination submission on food or itself but merely a means to an end The end is not even in this world for he who would truly be wise sets his goal so high that he never reaches the end of his quest

In very fact, a person exhausting should only begin when he has finished his formal or academic education in school and then, having received some of his tools necessary for the job go on to [illegible] his life in the never ending search for knowledge

Trees Are Friends

(By Nancy Cleaver)

Arbor Day is a special day which is often enjoyed by other names But trees are such a vital part of our Canadian heritage that an interest in Arbor Day might well be revived

The arbor name from the Latin word for a tree and the inspiration for Arbor Day came to [illegible] Sterling Morton He looked out on the prairies of his native state Nebraska, and because they lacked trees—and he loved trees he got the idea of setting aside a special day for Arbor Day observance

How successful he was is shown in the record of 350 000 000 trees planted in his state in the next 16 years Today April 22 is set aside in his state as a holiday to observe tree-planting Arbor Day arrived in

This special day has spread to many areas and in date varies with the climate In California where spring is early and where the citizens are proud of the work of Luther Burbank March 1 — Burbank's birthday — is Bird and Arbor Day In Canada, in different areas conservation enthusiasts have marked Arbor Day, and many children have planted trees and beautified their school grounds in this way

The Day should be especially commended for their extensive tree planting projects in different areas

Planting a tree and then caring for it can be a very satisfying gardening activity Southern Strathcona's words this injunction:

"Go then, and plant a tree,
Lovely in sun and shadow.
Gracious in every kind—maple and oak and pine
Peace of the forest glade.
Wealth of the fruitful meadow.
Blessings of the dew and shade,
Somewhere shall be thine"

When I was attending college I worked as a nature love counsellor at a private camp in the northern woods in the summer It was then I discovered how easy it was to arouse enthusiasm about trees. One of the projects the campers enjoyed most was making a nature trail, including the naming of the trees along the path. First we went on hikes and discovered just what kind of trees grew there Then we made rough sketches of our labels, with the common name, the scientific name and one or two interesting facts about each type of tree These we found in our guide books. Here are two examples:

WHITE PINE (Pinus strobus) The white pine grows to a height of 120 feet It is the tallest of all the eastern evergreen trees. You can tell a white pine from the cluster of FIVE needles

RED MAPLE (Acer rubrum) This tree is also called the swamp or soft maple It is perhaps the most widespread North American The buds keep, even in leaves and the leaves a [illegible] red

We used small tin plates painted them and printed neatly with India ink and then covered the surface with clear varnish as protection from the weather This is an activity which a boy or a girl on a farm or at a summer cottage could carry out with very little supervision It is fun to do and leaves a permanent record for the information of visitors

Now that I am married and there are three children in our home I still find that "trees are friends" We have planted trees at our summer cottage Every one has helped and we have all taken pride and pleasure in their growth.

Appreciation of nature starts as little and can add so much zest to living A mother or father who is too busy to encourage a little child's appreciation of the beauty of trees and other things out of doors is an [illegible] boy They may growing up on a farm with many trees along the road with a bush or woods on his father's property has an advantage which is so familiar it may be ignored City children, in the same manner, cannot know the pride of watching a variety of trees on their own home ground, grow and develop and change with the changing seasons But whether or not a child everywhere is a lover of trees depends very much on his parents For [illegible] the child whose parent or father teaches him "Trees are Friends"

Help your child look on trees as friends—friends who add to the beauty of the world, friends in whose branches the birds nest, friends who give welcome shade, form windbreaks, keep the soil from blowing away and provide wood for countless needs of mankind

Roller Skating will be held each Sunday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 and each Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00

GUITAR-PLAYING POP EST ON HIT PARADE

A Penticton monk, 26-year-old Father Bernard, is giving Tin Pan Alley staff competition for the name of Canada's favorite hillbilly. The guitar-playing balladeer in addition to making records has made television appearances in Canada and the U.S.

He has so many requests for personal appearances that he now has another priest acting as booking agent and a date booked until mid-October. He is presently touring Alberta during a stop-over at Malmo airport.

Diary of a Vagabond

Both elderly people had been hurriedly rallied wearing with consternation when they boarded the train at Winnipeg. There joy was unbridled. It was some of all sorts of the passengers — the romantic one I recognized knew they were celebrating their Golden Wedding anniversary.

The rumored when I who had moved the golden glory of [illegible] Musical sunlight, by like a blackbirded carpet for miles ravaged by the blanket of snow that had only recently subscribed to be the warmth of a spring thaw.

Then Derby and Joan trips were surrendered at the sight had not as amazed to I was at this great financial loss to western farmers. That was cast to be elevated for they had tumbled with nature's whims all the years of their youth like still had storms, drought and frost had many times dampened their spirits and fractured their re-

Both had been married for over fifty years. They had met in the old country and had come to Canada in search of freedom. Freedom to worship as they pleased, freedom to live as they pleased, freedom to bring up their children as they pleased.

Now his head rested lightly on her shoulder and with the puffs of breath fluttered the hoodie-tuft of his wife's white hair. He is resting here, and new they go with covers. In her lap she held his right hand in hers while her left hand of white hair the bundled above his sleeping profile.

As they dozed I tried to analyze what those successive hands had brought them as children into the world without benefit of either midwife or doctor how they had guided here drawn ploughs in spring and stacked grain for threshing in the fall. How they had made loaves of straw to make the shed in their new re-sod church by winter and tilled a small kitchen garden through the blazing heat of summer at Germanova.

I was in a romantic daze of yesteryear imagry when there was a muffled scream. Harry's wake up, my tooth are gone.

Great Devil Daily I used to be your glasses I was always shouting now it's your new shoes teeth", and the old grandfather clucking off his shoulder and fumbling in his vest pocket for his own glasses. For all his blustery mood, he was gentle in his ministrations of where and when [illegible] had had seen the discussion.

In some one of her books Carmella Ola Skinner once wrote that she entertained students so marvelously as a blue serge shirt attracts lint. My trouble is that I can never figure out whether I attract the incidents or they attract me. for it wasn't long before I, too, was involved in the hunt for the missing molars.

I crawled on all fours up and down the aisle of the car search ing and reversing all passengers who entered — en route to the diner to bread lightly Daily was sure the lost plates were in her bag where she dozed off there by they must have wandered away when th, train lurched, she succumbed But for all one "Harry" with the porter + flashlight under our seats and imaginary nary a thousand came to light.

When I had about made up my mind her beloved would have to eat the bride's food into small bits so that she could gum her victuals for the rest of their lo-tainted honeymoon, there was a victorious howl "Harry" had found her teeth carefully wrapped in a facial tissue and stuffed into the pigtail bowel innermost. I could hear no lecture of remonstrance nod advice on the proper care and usage of a set of false teeth as I left for home on

The incident did not alter the admiration I had gained for this suffer of a woman. I discovered she was of noble birth and had come to Canada from her native England to marry this commoner from Hoboken.

Our country is a fine heritage for today's youth because women of her calibre struggled with great vets of hot lard and ashes to make soap; drew water for domestic use for miles by sled; lost from sloughs and vanishing spring freshets and underbrush to educate their children for or faith as that advent of our vroom prairie schools.

The lady she told sounded almost too much like fiction to be real til one caught a glimpse of the lines in the couple's interesting face and saw their hands so gnarled from hard work. Those have witness to the truth of their story.

I don't suppose Harry will ever overcome his Daily's care-lessness with her eye and mastication groups For when I returned from boredom grinning up at me from a thousand silken lap was a monetary purchase made and perched on a furrowed female forehead was a pair of steel rimmed glasses Both hon-ey-moon celebrants were sleepily oblivious of what I believed might prove to be another un-pending crisis.

WEDDING

BEVERLY HUGHES

[illegible] St. Francis church in Lacombe was the scene of a quiet but lovely wedding on Saturday, April 23rd at 2:00 o'clock when Miss Barbara Mary Ann daughter of Mrs. Tony Hrenuck and the late Mr. Hrenuck of Stettler, became the bride of Mr. Donald Lee Hughes, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] of Stettler.

The church altar was beautifully decorated with baskets of white Easter lilies. The bride's father was escorted to the altar by her uncle Mr. Wm. Hrenuck of Castor. She looked lovely in a really lovely gown of white lace and net over taffeta with long lily point sleeves. Her finger tip veil was held in place with a pearl trimmed tiara. Her only jewelry was a matched pearl necklace and a gift of the groom. Her bouquet was red roses with white satin streamers.

The bride's attendants were Miss Judy Richfield sister of the groom and Miss Dorothy Hrenuck sister of the bride. They were gorgeous nylon chiffon and lace nylon chiffon respectively and carried bouquets of yellow roses.

The best man were Mr. Don Hrenuck brother of the bride and Mr. Ron Bryhdail brother of the groom.

Pupils of Miss Southard Heard In Excellent Piano Recital

Miss June Southard's pupils entertained their parents and friends at a Piano Recital held on Friday evening in the High School Auditorium. Before the programme commenced and while everyone found a seat, June played one of Mendelssohn's "Songs Without Words".

Mr. Tom Campbell was the very able chairman for the evening and after the singing of "O Canada" he called upon Miss Southard who played "Jesus Joy Of Man's Desiring" by J. S. Bach, arranged by Myra Hess. The children then took over the evening and all played their pieces very nicely, starting with the Beginners and on through to the talented Grade Nine students. There were only two boys taking part in the programme a young an many girls, but they each held their own splendidly. Several of these young pianists deserve special mention but all were a credit to their teacher and to the hard work and practice they have put in, and are continuing to put in with the Conservatory examinations coming up next month.

Following the intermission the children were very happy to sit back and be entertained by the Guest Artists. Mrs. I. Cary and Mrs. Eisenbrant, who pleased everyone with their violin and piano selections, the Overture to "William Tell". It was lovely to have them with us again and Sheila Whitehead and Gayle Veach performed their each with a duet.

The Bailey Music From "Rosamunde" by Schubert, played by Miss Marlene Tipman, brought the programme to a conclusion Mr. Campbell then called Miss Southard to the stage and Miss Joanne Zender presented her with a beautiful necklet set, a gift from all her pupils.

Several children were unable to attend the Recital because of sickness. Those taking part were Elsie Stewart, Sandra Cox Mary Kirtley, Laurie Johnson, Carol and Kathy Richardson, Sheen Bright, Penny Lyall, Alice Seyer, Sheila Whitehead, Valerie and Sherylene Frisbelm, Frances Boyd, Connie Semeniuk, Jeanette and Heather Burch, Glen Bessie, Gayle Veach, Eileen Weber, Joanne Zender and Marlene Tipman.

Coil Dehorning —

Quite a few cattle of the year calves may be dehorned by the use of dehorning paste many are still left due to neglect or more likely Dehorning by means of caustic paste is not sure that it has become more popular over the years. Properly dehorned calves are much more attractive to all prospective Beef to Cattle with dehorned ears toward two dollars per head every time they are sold through a central market. The cost of this was this is by detecting with caustic paste when the calves are small.

The Department of Agriculture has two sets of Keystone dehorners and one set of Barnes coil dehorners for loan in the District Agriculture Office. Court House Stettler.

Fertilizers on Pasture —

The value of fertilizer in improving forage yields of both tame and native stands has been recognized for some time. In order to determine whether increased forage production was reflected in greater beef production, the Lacombe Experimental Farm established a large scale pasture project in 1953 with grazing commencing in the spring of 1955 using crested wheat grass. Fifteen pastures were established, five of which received no fertilizer, five received 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre annually and five received 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre annually. The remaining pastures received 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre every second year. Yearly applications of phosphate fertilizer were made to all pastures. Yearly gains per steer were recorded. Over the 12 year period, the average gain per steer was 1.5 pounds per day on the unfertilized pastures, 1.7 pounds per day on the pastures receiving 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre annually, 1.8 pounds per day on the pastures receiving 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre annually, 1.7 pounds per day on the pastures receiving 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre every second year, and 1.8 pounds per day on the pastures receiving 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre every second year. "For Cash" Days Gone?

Sure enough it's a confusing life we lead, so round up that of the public indecision that it will get something for nothing it is unbelievable, for the simple reason that some really do. An example of someone who no longer pay [illegible]

Take the case of the Saskatoon woman who wanted to buy an electric refrigerator. She read an advertisement that the same one was on sale at [illegible] Bros. for $[illegible] She did not have it second hand and called in trade in she had the [illegible] she had never owned an electric refrigerator and she had the cash to pay for the one advertised for $[illegible] She was told that the $[illegible] price was for the refrigerator bought on the manufacturers' plan. The financing charges being added. The cost price she was informed was $249

She left the store still chuckling but [illegible] and wondering what was wrong with her money when she could not buy the article she wanted for cash, with no extra payments of $50 [illegible] is convinced that money is not nearly as tight as people are [illegible]

Everyone will recall the re marks made from a short while ago about Canadian apples now being sent to Home Zeep stores from European sources.

It has long been a reason for a laugh when someone related an experience of seeking to purchase an automobile for cash rather than [illegible] spread over a period of months.

Times have changed from the days when merchants used to advertise a discount of said they [illegible] for cash.

Now the interest is placed on the cuff transaction. You can take your holidays and pay later. Farmers can have water and sewer services installed on the pay as you use plan, but the Power Corporation and the Health Department have no trade-in price for the [illegible] that will be replaced nor is there a cheaper price if cash is paid for the new service.

14 Cubs Go Up To Scout Troops

An impressive ceremony was held in Friday evening in the Elementary School. Thirteen [illegible] 14 Cubs went up to Scouts. Three boys were equally divided among the two Scout Troops.

Immediately following the [illegible] up ceremony a Scout Troop [illegible] there was held All 14 boys were attending their respective [illegible] Troops. The parents of [illegible] were present for the investiture.

Following the investiture [illegible] was enjoyed by the [illegible] and Scouts. The Scouts re [illegible] their guests with a sing song as some of the songsters [illegible] Cubs should say little Scouts [illegible] sang as follows:

Thomas Whitehead Brian Mc [illegible] Ken Bowden Gerry Mc [illegible] Allan Thomas Lowell Wahgren [illegible] Brad Todd Herb Bowden [illegible] Douglas [illegible] Glenn Pascoe James [illegible] Carl Berg Jack Simon

Alberta Seeks Establishment Of Secondary Industry

By Ken Moore

Edmonton, Alta.—Hopes that two decades marked by phenomenal of primary industry. Although [illegible] better is going out after secondary industry.

Provincial Secretary A. R. Patrick who also heads the department of industry and development [illegible] a review club meeting in Edmonton last week that the government hopes to see a diversification of industry.

Accordingly the government's industrial development promotion campaign will be aimed at attracting the type of industry which can produce commercial goods from the raw materials available in the province.

At stake is a share of the rich [illegible] Canadian western Canada market which is currently covered by imported goods. Mr. Patrick said approximately $600 000,000 worth of goods are shipped into western Canada annually. About $200 000 000 worth comes by from foreign countries along into Alberta.

"We've got to do everything possible to get a good share of the western market," said the minister.

As for primary industry, mining development still has ahead of it the natural gas field but natural gas, he said, is not the only big development in the field. There are still [illegible] reserves which he said [illegible] bite of the growing western market.

If things work out as the government hopes over the next few months, Alberta will be that much closer to a soundly diversified economy. As Mr. Patrick pointed out, Alberta probably will never have to face the conditions it did in the 1930's when agriculture was the only industry available to bear the brunt of the depression.

From the agriculture department comes word that [illegible] investigating a number of claims [illegible] formers for unthreshed grain [illegible] Ike Ogawa were re [illegible] to the federal government [illegible] Act. As yet there has been [illegible] production of pronouncements.

Meanwhile since the deport [illegible] between 14,000 and 15 [illegible] men have been removed from farmers and payments are [illegible] averaging around $200. Total [illegible] of [illegible] in Alberta is estimated at [illegible]

Uncertainty clouds the future of Alberta's [illegible] Although [illegible]

Last week Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. applied to the oil and gas conservation board for a [illegible] developing permit, and unveiled plans for a $100,000,000 [illegible] program.

Also in the running is a four company group headed by the [illegible] Corp. which has built a $2 500,000 pilot plant at Mildred Lake in the oil sands area.

The oil and gas conservation board must decide who will be permitted to develop the sands commercially, and [illegible] which only one company or group will be given the right.

Premier Manning told the last session of the Legislature that the government's [illegible] have one company, rather than [illegible] commercially, to prove that it can be done. But at this point the government doesn't want [illegible] monopoly development of oil sands because it might have a [illegible] effect on the oil industry as a whole.

With a glut of oil on the world market, the industry in Alberta is having it tough enough with [illegible] millions of barrels of crude in the oil sands suddenly becoming available.

At the same time though, it is in everyone's interest to know how much oil can be [illegible] open when the need arises. In effect, the sands remain the industry's big ace in the hole. How long the ace will stay in the hole is a matter [illegible]

Reports reaching the capital city indicate harvesting of last year's crop is practically completed and farmers will have to hustle to get this year's crop in.

Rainfall last [illegible] week helped [illegible] operations in many areas but at the time of writing the extent of the rainfall was not known. Agriculture department officials are starting to [illegible] their estimates between 75 and 80 per cent of last year's crop was [illegible] this spring.

Census Gives Paroke Total Of 4,179 People

(Paroke Herald)

Paroke's population now stands officially at 4 179 as of May 7 That is the report presented to Town Council last night by Dave Grant who was in charge of counting noses.

For the enumeration of [illegible] detectors of this hustling town, it must be noted that this population includes only those living within the town limits and not those resident at the Provincial Mental Hospital.

Stampede News

Since the announcement by the Stettler Stampede Committee that the theme of Stettler's annual Stampede will be "The Next 50 Years of Progress," events have been moving rapidly. Several merchants have already announced their intention to place a float in the parade using the theme. Some have established the type of float they intend to enter, based on this information the Stampede Committee are sure that this year Stettler will have a parade bigger and better than it has ever had before. In addition, Mr. Jack Howard has stated that the Board of Trade has obtained at least four bands for the parade.

Work is proceeding on the construction of a new grandstand at the Stampede Grounds. The grandstand will create 400 additional seats and it is constructed to have additional room to [illegible] it. These rooms will be ticket offices, a bench counter and fully modern rest rooms.

The theme of the Stampede has presented quite a problem for the Stampede Committee According to the theme we are to [illegible] that we are living in the year 2056 and the Stampede itself should commemorate that event. The Stampede Committee are faced with the knowledge that the bona [illegible] to a major portion of the events of a Stampede, and that a horse is [illegible] a horse, and has not changed much since the dawn of history.

A few days ago a rumor reached the Committee that a futuristic horse did actually exist, and that it could be found in Saskatchewan. Enquiries were sent out and their preliminary reports indicate that this is so, they state that they have talked to people who have actually seen it. The full report will be received next week and upon receipt it will be published. The Stampede Committee urges the people of Stettler to watch this newspaper for [illegible] announcement.

Soil Testing Time!

With the rapid approach of spring seeding the question of what fertilizer to use, when, where, and how much to apply is the question. The Agricultural Soil and Feed Testing Laboratories at the University of Alberta, Edmonton, are in a position to answer these questions in order to obtain the most results from soil testing. The first step is to get a soil sample test and information about from the district agriculturist or the Soil Testing Laboratories. It is important to read over folder. Follow the sampling instructions carefully. Soil samples should be labeled to identify them with the sample. The sample should be air-dried before shipping so that the soil is available nitrogen does not change.

The spring season is a busy one for the laboratory as well as for the farm. For this reason it is usually best to send the samples in the fall before freeze-up. Those interested should not have their soil tested in the fall may do so this spring. They are advised to ship their samples as soon as it is possible to take them from the fields. Right now the [illegible] will be made to private city, county, municipal, but of a large number of samples are received in the laboratory there may be a two to four week delay in getting the results of

Tips on food preparations

The most ingredients of all ... recipe and accurate measurements How ... which ... finished product ... tasty and ... dissolve, ... failure by ... to ... measurements.

Every homemaker should have a set of ... level ... cup as well as a set of measuring spoons Having proper equipment makes accurate measurement so much easier

Measuring Fats — Press the fat firmly into the measure until it is full then level with the edge of a knife The following is the ... cup and accurate way ... measure ... divisions of a cup ... cold water into the cup up to the level measure which will equal one cup when the fat is added. For example, to measure 1 3 cup of fat ... fill the cup 2 3 full of water, then add fat until the water comes up to the brim, or to the one cup mark, be sure the fat is entirely covered with water Pour off the water

Measuring Dry Ingredients — All dry ingredients should be packed lightly into the measure. Spoon the ingredient into a measuring cup and do not shake down or rap the cup on the table To do so means increased quantity and will throw the proportions out of gear Fill measure to overflowing then level with the straight edge of a knife.

White Flour — Always sift once before measuring Recipes are written on this basis

Whole Grain Flours and Meals — Stir lightly with a fork or spoon, but do not sift them measure as for other dry ingredients

White Sugar — Unless lumpy do not sift, before measuring

Brown Sugar — If lumpy roll out before measuring Pack into the measure just firmly enough for the sugar to keep the shape of the cup when turned out.

Leavening Agents and Powdered Foods — Stir the powder in the container to lighten the product and to break up any lumps before measuring

Table of Measures
2 Teaspoons — 1 Tablespoon
16 Tablespoons — 1 cup (8 oz)
¼ Cup — 4 Tablespoons
1 2 Cup — 8 ½ Tablespoons
8½ Cups — 1 Imperial Pint
2 Cups — 1 Imperial Quart
2 Pints — 1 Quart
NOTE the difference —
1 Imperial Pint — 20 fluid oz. (2½ cups)
1 American Pint — 16 fluid oz. (2 cups)

Since our standard measuring cup is an eight ounce cup, most household recipes will not be affected by this difference However, if a recipe calls for a pint or a quarter of some ingredient be sure your know which measure is used.

The Big Trip

By Andrews Bible

Tomorrow is a day I have been looking forward to for a long time. I have, in fact, been counting the days since I left Edmonton. It's been a quick trip but we've had a good time. Tomorrow we will be home. I'll be glad to get back to my own bed and my own cooking. Today I went to the beach to see the ocean. It was very beautiful. I took some pictures. I hope they turn out. I bought some souvenirs for my friends. I'm looking forward to seeing them when I get home. I'm also looking forward to seeing my family. I've been away for a long time and I miss them very much. I'm looking forward to telling them about my trip. I'm looking forward to showing them the pictures I took. I'm looking forward to telling them about the beach. I'm looking forward to telling them about the ocean. I'm looking forward to telling them about the people I met. I'm looking forward to telling them about the food I ate. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I did. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I saw. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I learned. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I experienced. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I felt. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I thought. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I dreamed. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I hoped. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I wished. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I wanted. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I needed. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I had. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I was. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I am. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I will be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I would be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I could be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I should be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I might be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I must be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I can be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I may be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I shall be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I will be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I would be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I could be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I should be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I might be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I must be. I'm looking forward to telling them about the things I can be. Saskatchewan Grain Farmers Have Doubt About Irrigation

By Cliff Faulkner in Canadian

Cattlemen April 13th:

Landowners in the irrigable areas near the South Saskatchewan River are worried about the coming changeover from dry land farming to irrigation. They have heard about dry farmers who have to pay for water they don't use and of farmers who've had good land ruined by seepage from irrigation canals they never asked for and didn't want. What will this changeover cost us? They wonder, and where will we market our increased yields?

In January one of them — James Sanderson of Kernaston — gave voice to some of these questions during a panel discussion at the 54th annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Stock Growers Association held at Regina. Other members of the panel were W. H. Hamilton, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Carl Anderson of Brooks, a cattle grazing manager of the Eastern Irrigation District. Mr. Horner to explain what road the government is to be followed to bring about the changeover and Mr. Anderson from actual irrigation experience what it would be like when this got there. Panel moderator was T. H. McLeod, manager of the Regina Exhibition.

Mr. Horner started things off by showing a map of the area in Saskatchewan already receiving water for irrigation. He then indicated the lands which would eventually get water from the South Saskatchewan project.

We – the government – see the dam in the light of feasible production" the deputy minister said. "It will make large amounts of hay available to our farmers in time of shortage. The problem of hay supplies in dry years has always been a big one in the province.

Farmer Sanderson had a few misgivings about irrigation farming in his area. "Most of us are grain farmers with forty large acreages," he pointed out. "What we want to know is, how much is it going to cost us to switch over to irrigation, and what about new markets for the products of his land? When you talk of fodder you indicate livestock. But all of us don't raise livestock or we'll flood the market.

"Another thing — I hear that irrigated farms need more men to operate them. Where is this extra labor going to come from, and how're we going to pay for it? I think you'll find a lot of dryland farmers who won't willingly convert to irrigation.

"We've already run across quite a few people who say they don't wish to change to irrigation farming at present. Mr. Horner admitted. "Some most of the land is privately owned. it looks as if the changeover won't be a rapid one. We have to respect the rights of the owners here.

"However, according to a recent survey, 30 per cent of the farmers affected are less than 50 years of age and have small farms (under 320 acres). We expect many of these will want to try irrigation farming. Another 30 percent will be approaching 70 by the time the dam is completed. Some of these farmers will be passing their land on to their children. Others will sell out and the land will come on the market. The government might consider buying some of this and making it available to farmers who want to try irrigation farming."

Speaking from years of practical experience with irrigation, Carl Anderson said that his district had gone from dryland farming to irrigation farming without too many hitches.

"A legacy has been built up in your minds about the troubles that go with switching over to irrigation," he said. "Farmers in Alberta who were opposed to it only five years ago are now lost-getting and getting good returns. Most of you people will take a different view too, once you see family we irrigation working. If this generation won't accept it, the next one will.

The dam will have now on part though, which you won't like. I refer to an invasion by city people. They'll look upon the reservoir as their own personal playground and swarm all over you with trucks cars and jeeps what I would like Lindsey Your fences and hay crops will suffer. We've had plenty of experience with that sort of thing.

"But I don't for see any farming problems that you people won't be able to work out.

"About 20 years ago 120 farmers came to Alberta from drier out areas in Saskatchewan.

Pickerel Spawn Dropped At Rochon Sands, Forestburg Dam

On Monday, May 10th one million four hundred thousand pickerel eggs were dropped at Buffalo Lake. Fisheries officials has it hoped that the pickerel age of hatchery will be sufficient to establish fish tests game fish in the waters. Hatchery fish bring, eat fish or whatever you wish to call that malodorous species will no doubt have little consolation for pickerel eggs or pickerel hatch for that matter. Pickerel when once established appear to be able to hold their own with pike or in the case of Buck, Bullhead and other species of fish.

On the same day some million one hundred thousand pickerel eggs were dropped in the Forestburg dam. As in Buffalo Lake there is the same problem of hatch and survival but was feel certain that all efforts will be made by these hungry crowd and hope for the best. We can assist by making a point of killing all scavengers fish that we happen to hook.

If pickerel could be established in both of these locations we would be very fortunate. Langford a Fish and Game official from the Fishery Branch of the Department of Lands and Forests, and our local Game Warden Joe McGrath made the release and are hopeful that we will have a fine fishing season.

In other words, the reservoir will be stocked with pickerel by members of Stettler Fish and Game Association.

Ode To Blowtorch

With apologies to Will Shakespeare!

Give me a steel horse the old farmer cried,
Be a hammer and wrench will fix his stride;
A Hose that eats fuel as hot as the sun
That burns up our hay before it's begun
And oh for a horse that doesn't eat hay,
The fair damsel cried, now dobbins away;
A sweet smelling horse, a stablemen's dream,
No trick to keep barn and city streets clean.
Here comes Blowtorch, blowing smoke and flame,
Dancing, prancing iron horse, flowing tail and mane.
Coming down the home stretch, parading thru the town,
None can touch Blowtorch for miles and miles around.

New Process Prevents Frost Bumps in Ice

Carters, skaters and hockey players will no longer complain about frost bumps in the ice if rink builders adopt the invention of a Calgary engineer Edgar H. Davis has devised a simple and economical method of preventing frost bumps. The newly patented process is available for anyone who wants to build an artificial rink.

The plan was used in construction of Canada's biggest curling rink, the 24 sheet Big Four Building in Calgary.

Mr Davis explains the idea as follows: Many rinks are troubled by heaving which occurs when moisture gets into the soil below the ice surface and freezes. The invention consists of a circulation of warm salt brine through pipes embedded in the soil underneath the rink. Other suitable heat sources such as electric heating filaments can also be used.

The heat keeps thawed warm enough so that the moisture never freezes.

A thermostat regulates the flow of heat according to changes in the temperature of the soil. This prevents the warm water from working against the refrigerator pipes used to freeze the ice.

Engineer Inventor is not however the cold and warm layers to prevent passage of moisture.

"Cost of installing the system is low", says Mr Davis. "A heating bore-hole can be guaranteed by adding less than four per cent to the cost of installing artificial ice in the conventional manner, and the annual heat bill is about the same as the bill for heating a small home."

Mr Davis explains that anyone interested in having permission to use the idea can write to him in Studio Drive and Downs in Calgary.

It takes an average oak sapling about 20 years to reach the stage where it can produce acorns.

TRACK AND FIELD

The Stettler High School track and field athletes made a fine showing for themselves in the Central Alberta Championships held at the Stettler Fairgrounds Monday, May 21. The final team standings were Red Deer first with 142 points and Stettler with 106.

Students of the local high school have good reason to be proud of this but track and field is primarily an individual sport so the recreation committee decided to recognize some of the individual efforts which were outstanding. Therefore congratulations are extended to Harold Anderson for winning the most points in his class, to Bernie Dennis for winning the 880 for the 2nd consecutive year, to J. Crook for a courageous effort in his 880, and to Norm Hoag for an equally gallant performance in the mile, to Larry Bachman for placing 2nd in the 880 and 3rd in the 440 and to sole-ring opponents who were on the verge of collapse while he did not even appear out of breath to Marge McKinney and Carol Berryman for winning the second most points in their respective classes and to Joyce Trousdal for placing third in her class, to Ray O'Born for winning the javelins throw and for being the only Stettler student to place in the pole vault, to Murray Cote for winning a first and second and embarrassing his competitors in the javelins only to have it blown out of bounds, to Doug Casadaw for winning the discus, to Ruth Chapman for packing up two seconds in the sprints, and to the second boys relay team who were in a class all of their own in their event.

All competitors who placed first or second will be competing again this Saturday here at the Stettler Recreation in the Provincial Championships.

MINOR BASEBALL

Stettler had four minor baseball teams in action on Victoria Day. The Lion little league team coached by Mr E. Lawrence journeyed to Mirror for a double-header and won both games by scores of 11 - 8 and 10 - 4. The 14 and under girls defeated Bruce at their annual sports day by a score of 15 - 5. The pony league team won also at Bruce but were soundly beaten by Daniels 10-0. The Kenmore little league team reunited by Mr Ben McDavid beated Halkirk in the evening and beat little Daniels turning them south by a score of 17 - 9.

Four other minor league games were played during the week. The scores were:

Farm Team No. 2 10 — Rochon 3
Lion 2
St. Pony Grad 7 — Donalda 1
St. Pony 7 — Big Valley 6
St. Pony 26 — Halkirk 1

The Tourist Industry is vitally important to everyone.

It does not compete with our labor or deplete our natural resources. The tourist dollar is earned elsewhere, and brought to Alberta improving our economy immeasurably, benefiting food producers, farmers and processors, manufacturers and retailers, transportation companies, and dispensers of goods and services of all kinds.

Head Office Of Crown Lumber Moved To Calgary

Head office of the Crown Lumber division, Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited, will move to Calgary from Moose Jaw early in July.

David Hosmer, general manager, announced in Moose Jaw today that the change was being made to bring about greater efficiencies in administration, purchasing and accounting, for the widespread operations of Crown Lumber Company.

The company operates 27 retail building supply yards in Alberta and 43 in Saskatchewan. It employs approximately 320 people and has been operating in the two provinces for more than 40 years.

Mr Hosmer said it is hoped that most of the approximately 30 employees in the Moose Jaw office will transfer to Calgary with the company.

"We feel the Calgary move will enable us to bring about a closer coordination of operations with other Crown Zellerbach Canada divisions presently operating in the prairie provinces," Mr Hosmer stated.

These include the Hudson Paper Company Limited and Crown Paper Limited, coast and fine paper distributors, with warehouses in Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon and Winnipeg, and Canadian Western Lumber (Manitoba) Ltd., building materials distributors in Manitoba, with headquarters in Winnipeg. In addition, there are Crown Zellerbach pulp and paper sales offices in Calgary, Edmonton and Winnipeg.

Location of the new Crown Lumber Company head office in Calgary will be announced when leasing arrangements are completed.

A Long Public Career

A story of remarkable public service that began in 1906 and extends up to the present is contained in a little booklet by Paul L. Beadle of Beadlands Farm Halkirk Mr Farmelo tells the booklet "Memoirs of Life in Alberta" and in the foreword explains that it was not written for publication but as a part of family records. Nevertheless his record of public service belongs to the people he served and he should not be offended when we mention it here.

The book is written in two parts. The first deals with the trials and joys of pioneering life — he and his father took up homesteading at Halkirk before the founding of Stettler and the second part contains the history of his long and illustrious public career. It began in 1910 when he became secretary treasurer of Beadlands School which had just been built. It was a position which he held for many years and Beadlands was the only district represented by some that came to Edberg to establish new districts. National Track and Field Competition Held By Mail

The first National Track and Field Competition by mail in Canada will be held between May 17 and July 15.

This new competition is jointly sponsored by the C.A.A.U. and the Canadian Track and Field Committee.

Aimed at stimulating greater interest in track and field events on all communities the Postal Sports Meet will give more athletes an opportunity to take part in national competition for the first time.

To be held periodically throughout the year the national contests will encourage track and field athletes to extend their period of training and enable them to take part in national competition that ordinarily would not be possible for many because of travel cost and lack of time.

Competitions by mail and by telegraph are already quite common in the Armed Forces W.C.T.U. protested out Rifle matches and bowling tournaments have been decided by these long-distance means. It is a notion that is ideally suited for Canadian athletics, scattered as they are from coast to coast. I believe that his type of competition will do much to encourage track and field sports in Canada.

The National Postal Track Meet will be run according to AAU of C standards and individual winners will be recognized as champions in their events.

Members of the Armed Forces and the AAU of C will provide qualified personnel to officiate at the various events across the country. To provide a pool of sports officials, the Army is holding two courses for service men—one at Camp Borden, Ont. in May and the other at Chilliwack, B.C., in June.

During the two month period of the first mail meet, the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force will be holding track and field meets. The Army, by reason of its training commitments can only participate on a very limited basis.

Communities throughout the country have been invited to hold track and field events during the same period and submit the results of these to be pooled competition. Many civilian sports events are held on the Queen's birthday and Dominion Day and both holidays fall within the dates of the first competition by mail.

The National Postal Track and Field Meet will be limited to senior competitors in the following events

Track — men: 100-yd. 220-yd. 440-yd. 880-yd. 1 mile. 2 mile. 440-yd and 1 mile relay

Field — men: broad jump, hop, step and jump; high jump; shot put; discus throw; pole vault; javelin throw

Track — women: 60-yd. 100-yd. 220-yd 880-yd. 440-yd relay

Field — women: broad jump, high jump; shot put 8-lb.; discus throw and javelin throw

As far as possible meets will be combined in order to provide adequate numbers of officials and facilities

The locations of the various meets and positions sponsored by the Armed Forces and the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada will be announced shortly. Interested civilian athletes should make enquiries through local branches of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Lacombe To Discuss County Plan

Discussions will probably be held at Lacombe next month with two provincial cabinet ministers to study the possibilities of a county system of local government for the area now administered by the Municipal District of Lacombe School District.

A meeting on June 9th was suggested to provincial authorities in a letter which came before the county last Thursday and is to be followed by another setting an exact date. Such discussions on a county system had been requested by the municipal

The Horseshoe and Buffalo . . .

The horseshoe and buffalo-crown on the underneath of the Calgary Brewing and Malting Co. New Job Classification For Alberta Civil Service

(By Ken Mussell)

Edmonton — Alberta civil servants and the salaries they receive were in the news last week.

After nearly three years of study the government adopted a new system of job classification and salary scales. For approximately 23 per cent of the province's 16 000 odd civil servants it will mean pay increases retroactive to last Oct 1.

For about the same number who were found to be overpaid for the tasks they are doing, it will mean the freezing of salaries at current levels for the time being.

Individual civil servants still don't know where they stand as there's been no mention as yet. But notices will be sent out to all government employees within the next three weeks or so assigning them to job classes and salary levels. When that happens there's bound to be some howls from civil servants as jobs which have been downgraded.

Once the civil servants have been notified of their job classes and salary levels, those who feel they've been treated unfairly will have a few weeks in which to file appeals with a three-member government board.

The job classification survey represents a new approach to personnel administration in the provincial government. The job was started about three years ago by Public Administration Service of Chicago. PAS experts did the initial survey work and in the process trained government personnel to carry the survey through every department.

Result of the mammoth survey is a 30 page manual of salary schedules and a massive 300 page document which describes the duties and classifications of civil service jobs.

Salaries now will be based on what the job is considered to be worth. The person doing the job doesn't enter into it. This makes no allowances for recognizing the fact that two people can do the same type of work with varying degrees of efficiency. But the employee who does his job with greater efficiency will still be able to advance in the service by applying for a new classification.

The classification survey was a slow, painstaking job calling for hundreds of separate interviews with employees, supervisors, branch heads, deputy ministers. First of all employees were asked to fill out questionnaires describing the work they do. Then three immediate superiors, filled in comments and observations. Personnel interviewers followed.

Finally, the 10 000 full-time jobs in the civil service were sifted into categories based mainly on responsibility, amount of supervision involved, plus special qualifications required to do the job.

Completion of the classification survey lays the groundwork for some other impending changes in personnel administration. Public and Administration Service also has completed a report on civil service recruitment and the government is looking for a recruitment officer to administer the suggested program. Also to be introduced is a system of

The Calf Club Sale

The Annual Show and Sale of Baby Beef by the District 4-H Beef Clubs will be held in Stettler Community Centre on Wednesday June 8th when something like 175 animals will go through the ring It goes without say that the calves will be fitted as the club members have named them along under the most propitious conditions and they were likely looking prospects before they were selected for feeding.

The clubs to be represented are Botha, Rochfort Bog Valley, Stettler, Byemoor, Lindsay, Endiang, Halkirk. The Board of Trade and Stettler District Agricultural Society head them names as sponsors and will have representatives on hand at all times during the day's program to extend greet ings and be generally useful to the young members. Any interest shown by the people of Stettler is good com mon sense as the cattle industry is essential to their prosperity especially in these days of grain marketing difficulties It is estimated that there are more than 100 000 cattle in the districts represented by the clubs, and cattle sales each year are in excess of two million dollars.

The show will start at 9 a.m and the facilities of Community Centre will make it better than ever before A new competition the pens of five should at tract much interest

The success of the sale will of course depend on high bidding to get the aver age price a few cents above what the calves would bring on the market Businessmen of the town have a part to play in this regard some of these can boost the sale by bidding a cent or two above market prices and take a small loss by reselling their animals to the packing plants Bidding will deep freeze units are also in the position to boost prices a bit

Stettler and District merchants donate prizes and trophies and possibly exceed other centres with similar events in this respect However the fact remains that prizes at other 4-H sales usually bring higher prices It is possible that more interest by the community at large would boost prizes a cent or two it is nothing more than the club mem bers deserve in the way of encourage ment they certainly are doing their parts in improving the quality of one of Alberta's best agricultural events

Danger Of Polio

Health authorities are predicting that 1960 will be a bad polio year in Canada Dr. Donald Wacks, Ontario health officer warns that the Stettler area is not likely to escape Those who have had the full programs of Salk vaccine shots have little to fear but the others are in danger of taking the dread dis ease

Dr Mackay urges those who have not been vaccinated to call at the Health Unit and get their first shot He empha sizes that it is important that the full treatment of three vaccinations be tak en as one or two shots do not provide full protection Those who received Salk vaccine over three years ago should receive a booster at once

To Ride A Horse

You can ride a horse in a genteel way
At a lady-like trot an ambling
And punctuate miles the live-long day
To the tune of your equine banter
You can ride a horse with boots and spurs.
Your crop and your English saddle
Hell-for-leather through the pine and firs.
And the devil with fiddle faddle
You can ride a horse with a rolling eye
Flame-shod and winged with wonder Drumming his Pegasus hoofs on the sky
And flask to the stars through thunder

To myself I am a mature man who should start acting like one for a change I'm a poor father, a useless homemaker and I smoke too much I am responsible to no argument, sometimes going to the lengths of disagreeing with her But she's looking forward to the future nonetheless She's convinced that given another 15 years or so and a few more pounds, just enter ing the best years of my life, humour, courageous, adventurous, and only prevent ed from running off to the South Seas with Gina Lollobrigida by the fact that she hasn't asked me That gray at the temples surely adds to my magnificent charm, and the groans when I get up in the morning are not my new hard, but manifestations of horror at facing a world in which I am not fully appreciated

Fortieth birthday is a good time to bal ance the books. You find out whether there's any worthing capital to buy a lathe, gun for the long slide down the other slope of the mountain it's taken you 40 years to climb Looking over my assets, I find that I've had more than my fair share of good fortune, and can face the coming years, if not with joy, at least without despair

Physically, I'm lucky Lots of men my age have paunches, not mine pots. Lots of men my age have neither their own teeth nor hair and mine, while not luxuriant, are my own Lots of men my age are losing enough blubber to make an Eskimo's mouth water, and I have to eat like a hyena, just to stay even

Lots of men my age have an ulcer, a liver condition, high blood pressure or a stomach that's been spared Beau James Can't own it a thing but I can say right out loud, and I've been a mouse lucky at 20 years Don't worry I'm typing this with all my fingers crossed

The years have been good to me Bon riche Yves When I was married I had $100 to — the bank and didn't owe a cent On my 60th birthday I have $30 66 and owe everybody in town But I have a big, old house half paid for and a 9-year-old car all paid for and two kids all paid for and a wife who still hasn't got that fur coat but has a floor polisher and built-in cup boards

In the mental and spiritual departments, I have improved with age At 40, my mind is as quick and active I can keep my wife in a good humour about one day out of three The ratio used to be one to ten And on Sundays I'm right up there in the front pew with the rest of the God-fearers, of course, that I don't have one of those Sun day mornings or it's too rainy to go fishing, or I haven't been up too late the night before.

Yes, the years have been good to me By rights, I should be fertilizing some portion of a foreign field By rights my kids should have turned out looking like me instead of getting their mother's good looks By rights, I should be a dull, pasty professor, deserted in the 19th Century Minor Poets, instead of a bright, lively editor absorbed in strange diversions

Counting your blessings may be consider ed corny by the cynics, but it has always been one of my favorite rainy-day sports Not many are of 60, for example, have been blessed with seven three times as smart as themselves. Most are only twice as smart.

I could go on listing all the good things I have as I step over the threshold into the frightening forties. Suffice it to say that I'm looking forward to it I'll have lots of company Some of my best friends are on. And have been for years.

World Goodwill

Here important for the peace of the world than historical knowledge is goodwill and it may be that this is increasing It is believable that there is majority of citizens in favor of peace in any nation, that their goodwill due exert an influence on their rulers.

WEEKLY MEDITATION

By Rev. A. S. Morrison

One of our recent guest evening a group of younger girls to hear the C G I T when it reorganized in the fall and something like this You will get from our group just about what you put into it If you fulfill the purpose and program with loyalty and enthusiasm you will gain from it a happiness and satisfaction that will always make you glad you were one of us

That young lady may have been speak ing more truly than she knew She had captured the basic law of life Jesus stated the law 17 times Judge not and you will not be judged forgive and you will be forgiven give and it will be given unto you For the measure you use it will be measured to you again Jesus was not offering a bargain deal that if we do certain things we will get certain things in return Rather He was stating a fact of life which is as true as the law of gravity Judgements, or if you are forgiving how by generous helpful for no Jesus says the measure you give will be the measure you get back

This is a most important law because all our thoughts and intentions become creative for good or for evil As the scripture says As a man thinks in his heart so is he Intentions do not think about the good life that we will be heard I'd remembering these things are of tunately those The Divine channel He builds a barrier between himself and God and between himself and others Giving ones self or ones goods without ..... thought of personal gain often has the most amazing results The Atlan tic Monthly reported some time ago on the life of James Hall who after the war of was sent to a lonely place in Tahiti to convalesce from his nerve-racking experiences He had no intentions of ever and his problem was to how much he could safely forget After he paid his debts small check he had only five dollars left He could be sold his fifty acres but he had already begun to like the people and the life so he set about making a go of it He got a hut and bought a few pigs and chickens Living down the road

A few days later Hop Sing stopped at the door and offered him some water Hall had never learned the language of the natives but he understood the gesture and accepted the offer Hop Sing stayed and they talked by means of signs and broken words Hop Sing was a Chinese merchant and his business was good Hall was a beachcomber and his business was poor Hop Sing was a man of wealth and Hall was a pauper Hop Sing was a man of position and Hall was a nobody Hop Sing was a man of culture and Hall was a boor Hop Sing was a man of God and Hall was a pagan

Hop Sing was a man who had all the things that Hall needed and Hall had nothing that Hop Sing wanted Yet Hop Sing was the one who was generous and Hall was the one who was grasping Hop Sing was the one who was interested in others and Hall was interested only in himself Hop Sing was the one who was rich toward God and Hall was the one who was rich toward nothing

Time and space do not permit us to tell how Hop Sing talked with and ministered to Hall, how Hall's life was changed and transformed Suffice it to say that Hop Sing became The most loved man in Tahiti Hall became the most hated man in Tahiti Hop Sing died a rich man in the sight of God and men Hall died a pauper in the sight of God and men

Hop Sing had learned the basic law of life and Hall had not Hop Sing had learned that he could not keep his life by losing it Hall had not learned that he could not keep his life by losing it Hop Sing had learned that he could not keep his life by losing it Hall had not learned that he could not keep his life by losing it

Liquor Licenses Aid To Restaurants In Alberta

Edmonton.—The chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, George Clark said Tuesday that sales of liquor and beer in licensed restaurants indicated it is very definitely taxed on the part of the public to patronize any of the dining lounges and lounges due to the high standard provided.

Mr. told delegates attending the annual Alberta Hotel Association convention that guests are now 30 lounges and 20 cocktail bars in more establishments attracted by $6,339,000 last year and gross food sales totalled $7,333,755.

He added however that the board is of the opinion that more dining lounges and licensed have not increased consumption of liquor to an appreciable extent.

He said liquor amounts to a very small portion of the volume of business in the lounges.

Cocktail bars are allowed to serve only if a license has been granted by the operators of a dining lounge.

Mr. Clark stated that food sales in the licensed dining lounges increased $6 to $8 per cent while refreshment rooms and beverage rooms showed little gain.

Mr. Clark felt that the revised liquor laws passed in 1950 have had a marked effect on the hotel and restaurant business. There are now 32 licensed dining lounges and 20 cocktail bars as against 12 and 10 previous years.

Speaking on last year's sales by the board he said:

Total liquor sales last year totalled $24.4 million and 2.66 per cent of the liquor was sold in licensed hotels and restaurants. Hotels sold 65 per cent of the beer.

Sales of bottled beer have increased to the point that the sale of beverage beer was discontinued in private stores for per cent.

Mr. Clark said he was pleased to note with of a review has been granted by the operators of a dining lounge.

The Canadian Army held its fourth Army Day on May 28 and at Army centres across the country the general public attended displays, conventional parades and at home designed to show the Army's degree of preparedness.

In speaking of Army Day, the Honourable George R. Pearkes, V.C. Minister of National Defence said "The Canadian Army continues to keep abreast of the changing concepts of war. But the best of these is the vital role of training and planning for national survival. This is a most important aspect of modern defence.

Oil, Gas Queries Answered

Basic legal information of concern to individuals interested and engaged in land to local owners and those who have in Alberta in connection with oil and gas exploration and development on farm and ranch land has been prepared by the Canadian Petroleum Association.

Many queries of information and assistance exist for the use of those who, first encountering problems with problems connected with mineral rights operations of seismic and drilling crews, mineral leases, and other related matters.

In order to assist the types of assistance available the Canadian Petroleum Association has prepared a series of articles, each dealing with a topical problem which might arise because of oil and gas activity. Mr Patterson presents Mr Thomson with a copy of the articles appearing in the

THE MINERAL RIGHTS STORY

Mr. Patterson said must who lived in the fifties or sixties and considerably less than that some time in order to obtain one a different ways to attend to rental payment. He pointed out that the Land Titles Office of mineral rights of children. The Department of Mines and Minerals has the responsibility of collecting mineral taxes under the Mineral Taxation Act Under that Act Mr Parson's tax notice was issued to the oldest shown on the certificate of title which had not been changed The notice said that if Mr Farrow did not pay his arrears of taxes within thirty days the minerals would revert to the Crown Subsequently since the arrears were never removed by Mr Farrow the minerals were forfeited to the Crown for non-payment of taxes

There one day, out of the blue, a letter arrived stating that under a new Act, The Mineral Titles Reinstatement Act Mr Farrow could reinstate his title to the minerals if he paid $10.00 plus the overdue taxes Then he did, and in due course received his certificate of title to the mineral rights.

Then another ending to the story. Said the Department—that is, the Crown—legal or others were disposed of Mr Farrow's minerals. He could have received the original bonus price paid for the minerals and—if the minerals were in production—all past royalties and rentals However he would have continued to receive royalties and rentals with the producer Mr Farrow came to an end Then the title of the minerals would have been returned to Mr Farrow

Mr Farrow, though, might have wanted to obtain his title immediately by undertaking to deal directly with the producer Mr Booker could request the Crown to cancel his lease and then entered into a contract with Mr Farrow in accordance with his undertaking. Mr Farrow of course, would then receive his title from the Crown subject only to his new lease with Mr Booker.

In any case such as this, the Superintendent of Mineral Tax, Department of Mines, Building, Edmonton, should be kept informed with respect to the redemption Farrow would be sure to write of his minerals unless they came to the Depot Minister Mines documents sent to him by the and Minerals or the Superintendent in Edmonton If he wrote of Mineral Tax Natural had any doubts or enquiries Mr Hennessy Building Edmonton

Born for a couple of post couples If Mr Farrow previously had transferred his mineral rights to the Crown as that he would be free of past and future mineral taxes then he would not receive back the bonus payment paid to the Crown by the purchaser who leased the minerals If the minerals were forfeited to Mr Farrow prior to the Mineral Taxation Act of 1945 the provisions of the Act would not apply However, had the minerals of Mr Farrow's father been forfeited at that time long ago Mr Farrow would apply

In any case Mr Farrow would be wise not to sign any papers

Many of the remaining drew quite a whistling sound when it is on flight.

Challenges $1,000,000.00 Offer For Rocket Ship

The Stettler Legion Stampede Committee has received a written challenge on their recent offer of $1,000,000.00 for an interplanetary rocket ship, issued by Russ Capel of the Stampede Committee.

Russ Sparling of Drumheller radio station CHDX acting on behalf of his listeners, sent a letter to Mr Capel of the Stampede Committee yesterday challenging that the offer is legitimate. The letter read in part "although I'm sure the Stettler Stampede Committee is sincere in wishing to have an interplanetary rocket for them at their Stampede, I cannot help but feel their offer of $1,000,000.00 is in fact a bluff as to its prerequisite. It is therefore my duty to my listeners to strongly query the legitimacy of this offer. Firstly in that the Stettler Legion actually has the $1,000,000.00 and secondly that they would go through with payment if a Martian Rocket Ship were to arrive on the scene."

Mr. Sparling stated, "Just as we must govern our food and drug advertising according to the rules of the Food and Drug Act, so must we be prepared to protect our listeners from being bilked by lofty or irresponsible claims in other types of media."

The challenge was presented after the appearance of a full page ad in the last [illegible] Independent one week ago which offered $1,000,000.00 or anyone who would deliver to the Stettler Stampede at a specified time an interplanetary Rocket ship, Martian Variety. The fact that the rocket ship would become the property of the Stettler Legion would not, according to Mr Sparling, mean that the offer is legitimate. He stated in an interview "So what if it would be a good deal. I say if they want to buy a rocket ship for a million dollars or even ten thousand dollars let's see the colour of their money."

As yet the Stettler Stampede Committe has not commented on the challenge.

Early June Frost

Frost isn't unusual on June Bedding as unusual northerners see on Alberta. We got a few degrees of frost Saturday night but not enough to do much harm although potato bugs were blackened and many budding out plants lost. How easy it looks as though the blues and other flowering shrubs which are just now supervising their best were spar yet.

It can be hoped that the blossoms of the wild berry bushes fared as well because they are making certain sections of the countryside a fairy land. We would miss the mass of color which ordinarily lasts well after the wild rose exhausts the ground.

Just the same we almost wish they were damaged just a little so there would be no saskatoons. Then some would be spared the sight of those wormholds with tasseled hair and virulent eyes and dressed in fantastic garbs as they smooth the helpless berry maiden.

Most soon as the early senescence of new marriages join as berry picking, but like shopping hours once is enough probably ten much.

Many a strong man has found the ordeal of stumbling through brush for an hour too much for him and has sat down with his little jam pail between his knees and mashed the handful of berries which was the reward of his painful labor into his parched mouth. But the little lady goes on and on and on picking at the berry branches until his wilted body tortured by mos quitoes, nettles and heat can take no more and he wishes she would break her leg or a badger hole. Right there and then he makes a solemn vow to go fishing when the berry picking seriously hits his family.

It Can Happen Here

The machine age has given us a vehicle that is the wonder of our time. It will travel along the highway from 10 to 70 miles per hour just at the touch of the foot. It is the most responsive the most useful and the most dangerous piece of machinery that has ever been placed in the control of common men.

The manufacturers have furnished speed and comfort and with increasing speed they have furnished increased automatic control. They can do anything more and manipulation of the automobile is strictly up to the driver.

Yet too many drivers forget that control has a time factor and that the greater the speed the more time it takes to slow down.

Too many drivers think "it can't happen to me I can take chances I can drive on the left side of the road going up a hill I can beat the train I am a good driver."

The Department of Transport tells incense pilotes, and it is obligatory to place them on the car for inspection as our driving is not obligatory Abstinence is not obligatory, common sense is not obligatory.

While we said that the automobile is the most responsive, the most useful and most dangerous vehicle in the hands of men, men have another instrument that is more responsive more useful and more dangerous than a piece of machinery.

That instrument is the human mind especially the juvenile and immature mind. The immature mind, when excitedled over it wonders but when it runs wild it can create more havoc than any automobile ever invented.

Tomorrow

I've shut the door on yesterday, its sorrows and mistakes.
I've bolted it thus its gloomy walls past failures and mistakes
And now I've thrown the key away to seek another room.
And furnish it with hope and smiles and every springlike bloom
No thought shall enter this abode and that has a hint of pain.
And neither malice nor distrust shall threaten reign.
I've shut the door on yesterday and thrown away the key.
Tomorrow holds no doubt for me, since I have found today

(By BILL BAILEY)

This is the time of year when hundreds of thousands of young people across the land have one foot in the air ready to take a big step. They are the graduates. It's a little sad for us older folks to look at the graduation pictures flower and the youngsters about to receive the old cold cup of the scythe but put another notch in our pre tender post.

But it is comforting to know that the re serves, fresh strong and well equipped, are being rushed up to support the weary front line troops in the battle o flife We need them.

Finishing public school, and just busting to get into high school and be real teenagers is the Grade 9 gang. Remember it for them They liked public school, but that's kid stuff now and the sooner they're out the happier they'll be

For the boys, it means they will no long er be treated as children, which is the bane of their existence Now they'll be students. It means they can start smoking right into the pantroom, shaving, giving their parents a little more lip, and getting their hair cut the way they want it It also means pimples, paying girls' way to the show, and the first and worst, experience with love But they don't know that, so they're as happy as

It's even more exciting for the girls leaving public school For some reason, girls in Grade 9 are a foot taller than boys in Grade 6. This makes love affairs, in which girls are interested even in Grade 6, rather awkward Moving on means they'll be mixing with real BOYS, there own size, who treat them as members of the opposite sex, and not with stunted demons who wrestle them, push them into them, punch them and mash them.

High school graduates are not so ecstatic about leaving in fact they're almost reluctant, in many cases They'd never admit it to their parents, but they've had a hell for the last four or five years. Now the end must be out Friends must be lost The familiar and comforting dependence on parents and teachers is at an end. Life looms large ahead, large and formless With its perils and promises, and filled with the excitement of knowing they are almost men and women, and will have the freedom and responsibility that entails

For many of those leaving high school, graduation is surrounded by a special rosy aura, because they are in love It may not be deep and lasting, the stuff that will carry them through 50 years of domesticity, but it is just as real, just as painful, just as blissful as any they'll ever experience

Within a year the high school sweetheart may be just a pleasant memory, but right now, it's true love, and they burn with it. Laughable with it, and have their hearts broken by it They don't realize that the first heart is merely a very tough pump, which goes right on pumping after it has been allegedly fractured, split in twain, or torn to ribbons by love

Then we come to the university graduates Recently can they be recognized as the gawky, maidenly adolescents who went off to college four years ago They are blase, well-groomed, sophisticated and sophisticated On the outside at any rate

Those are the people who are going to make a great deal of money, write hit plays and successful novels, find a cure for cancer, build mighty bridges, or win the cold war

I hope nobody tells them, but they've probably begun to learn to settle for making a living writing letters to the editor, finding love in their housecrickets, building a house with a mortgage, and fighting a running inconclusive battle in the bet or domestic, war

Graduates! We who are about ready to cry, salute you May the rains along your pathway have fewer storms than did ours. Keep a stiff upper chin Look life squarely between the eyes And if at first you don't succeed, remember what W. C. Fields said: try, try again, and then quit before you make a damn fool of yourself.

Have You Considered ?

BY P. Lorne

that the Israeli's are right in the middle of a desert, almost surrounded by a potent, well-armed, determined enemy, things looked pretty dim at times, and the battle was not without its casualties, but the Israeli's have proved that they are a people who will accept any challenge and fight to the death to uphold them. They were worth all they received and more, and the world will never forget their courage and will be greater richer for it.

It would sometimes pay us to look back and see what we have accomplished. Sometimes we are so busy looking forward to more and more that we forget to look back and see how far we have come. Perhaps we would be more thankful for what we have if we would look back more often.

We think of all the things we would like to have, but how many times do we stop to consider the many things we have that others would like to have. Many of us are living in a standard of luxury that is unheard of in many countries of the world. Many of us are so busy looking for more and more that we forget to be thankful for what we have.

We have many things to be thankful for. We have a country that is the envy of many countries of the world. We have a country that is the envy of many countries of the world. We have a country that is the envy of many countries of the world.

Mr Hudson invited some of his friends from town who liked to hunt and asked them to come out and go hunting one chilly morning.

Mrs Hudson greeted them at the door as they returned after hunting. "You look almost frozen come in and have some hot coffee" The hunters left their boots, coats and guns in the porch and went in to have some coffee then the Hudson kitchen rang with laughter and hunting yarns

WATCH THEM GROW

To your boy beginning to take an active interest in farming? Most boys do as they grow up. Encourage him! How would be a good time to help him start his own herd, perhaps?

Introduce him to your Royal Bank Manager and let him handle his own financial affairs. He'll be happier with his own projects to work out—his own bank account to build. And you'll enjoy watching them grow together.

Ask for a copy of our booklet "Financial Training for Your Son and Daughter". It provides a practical pattern of financial training for any parent with growing children, shows you how to encourage them to stand on their own feet in financial matters. It is free, at your nearest Royal Bank branch.

Minor Baseball

Stettler entered two little league teams and one pony league team in the Halkirk Sports Day on Friday June 10. Besides the two little league teams from Stettler teams were entered from Halkirk, Big Valley and Botha. The Stettler Lions lead a very close game with Big Valley in the morning, but managed to win by a score of 5 to 3 with the help of fine pitching by Bill Chapman and a timely hit by Ron McKinney. The Kinsmen played their game with Halkirk, and had little trouble turning them under by a score of 16 to 6 in the two short by teams half in time.

The Lions had gone all out on their game with Big Valley as did not have enough left to fight off the powerful Kinsmen team. Kinsmen won in a score of 9 to 3 to win the tournament.

The Pioneer also and Big Valley in their first game. The game was close throughout with the score tieing when Larry Bennett knocked a triple with two men on bases to give Stettler a come-from-behind lead. They went on to win the game which put them over the finals with Oakbend. They were unsuccessful in turning this team aside also, to make it a clean sweep for Stettler.

It would appear from the games played in Stettler Sunday afternoon between the Edmonton CYSS Boosters and the Canada Stettler Juveniles, that the latter will have a strong contender for the provincial juvenile title. The Juveniles took both games by scores of 6 to 4 and 7 to 2 respectively.

Roller Skating

Roller skating is being held every Tuesday and Friday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. This outing will be discontinued for the summer months as interested patrons should get some skating in before the end of June. Tuesdays are reminded that a special rate of 10c for skate rental and floor time has been set for the boys with to have their own skates.

Lutheran News Items

A round the world trip was enjoyed by all members of St. Peter Lutheran Church Stettler at the two hours of divine worship last Sunday, when Mr. Nolte's Junior Mission Band Junior Lutherans and Junior Choir presented a program entitled "The Way Beyond."

Object of the 15-minute address to the worship services was a study of the non foreign mission fields in which the new American Lutheran Church is in operation. Aside from members of the Junior Choir singing on the program the following assisted: Sandra Kempf, Sandi Nolte, Jeri Nanci Mortimer, Cathy Barnes and Melinda Ann Beer was with parts and readings representing the various countries. Misses Lucy Hintz, Suzanne Nolte, India Janice Gatzke, Africa Jonathan Mohr, China Randy Quail, Africa (Chiwana) Elaine Bergman, Japan Linda Brielle, South America, Jo Ann Horne, and Alaine — Howard ed to the growing library of the Barnes Bush of the stores was tastefully decorated in the colours and emblem of the country represented.

The whole group joined in the singing of various songs on mission work and responsibility and conclusion of the evening's work of the Church throughout the world.

A word of thanks is in order to all who spent so much time not only in rehearsing and programming but at the time given of the six weeks of Mission Band studies. Junior Choir-mas is Mrs. H. Mohr who assisted by Mrs. Wendt Robertson and Mrs. O. Brielle together with Sandra Horne, Dolores Beer and Mrs. Cecil Yarmoloke, Joining music aide assistance in costuming was Mrs. O. H. Larsen. Assisting at the organ were Lorraine Weber and Miss Elnor Brisbois.

The end of the six week study course was heralded with a picnic held on the church grounds. Pictures of the Saturday closing and the Sunday program were taken to make slides to be added to the growing library of visual aids of the congregation.

To All Hog Shippers

At a recent meeting of the Board of directors of the CELEBRATION LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE it was decided that certain changes in our operations were necessary in view of the small volume of hogs handled. There are fixed charges to be met regardless of the volume of livestock shipped.

During the last year costs of operation have exceed ed revenue. A situation of this kind cannot continue indefinitely. The Board is of the opinion that volume must be increased if this organization is to continue to provide service at cost.

On behalf of the Board and Management, I would suggest that those who wish this Association to continue to serve attend the Annual Meeting on June 22nd in Fleet Alberta, and express any opinions you may have in this regard.

Sincerely,
John Hallett

$1,000,000.00 Offer For Rocket Ship Substantiated

That Canadian Legion of Stettler has provided proof of good substantiation for their recent offer to pay one million dollars cash for an Inter-planetary Rocket.

Promotion and Publicity Chairman Sam Capel was back here, the subject of widespread controversy Friday night, congratulated citizens of "none" and "publicity guy" in the form of a surety Bond for 1,000,000 dollars. This bond is signed and sealed by the Canadian Insurance Company of Canada. The surety bond was taken out by the Canadian Legion on June 1st of this year with Johnson Insurance Agencies of Stettler, and provides positive proof of the legitimacy of the 1,000,000 dollar offer.

The offer to pay $1 000 000 00 for an Interplanetary Rocket Ship first appeared on the pages of the Stettler Independent — some three weeks ago and since that time a flow of controversy has steadily been growing. It reach ed a climax recently when two of the main publicity mendums for the Stampede Committee openly questioned the legitimacy of the offer Mr Capel in an interview with Stan Spring of CJCW and also on CBC-A TV pro shared the document which was proof of the validity of the offer He stated, "At no time have we attempted to deceive the public in this offer, however, I can quite readily see that there would be some speculation I hope now the air is cleared, and I also hope that we will be successful in having a Martian Rocket Ship on July 8th He added however that he was sure he does not have word of any attempts to claim the cash award

Oil and Gas Queries Are Answered By The Experts

WELL TITLE, WHO'S GOT THE TITLE?

Mr Farrow was on a roundtrip He had inherited a large tract of farmland from his father who had homesteaded the land, but the mineral rights were in his

He would have saved himself considerable head-scratching and worrying if he had known about the Mineral Titles Clearing House Enquire to commonly be cute, it is a government agency designed for just such a situation.

Mr. Farrow remembered having had a conversation with his friends, who had once held land in the Viking area of large Alberta town. This town many years ago had filed plans for subdividing, but they had never got into, and ultimately had lost its original title to the property the ownership of the mineral rights. Some of the deeds and taxes which were held on the town had to him. The company would have supported the land for roads and diversions and been responsible for it. Perhaps he had no wish to have the same thing happen to him.

The worries were overblown today The Mineral Titles Clearing House said these situations had been taken care of The Act often takes care of old cases where it unacceptably had the right to take surface and minerals for non-payment of taxes In many cases the delinquent taxpayer had his title reinstated in full but the Municipal District only sold the land accepting out taxes and interest. Since he left no title for the municipality The Minerals Title Clearinghouse Act now gives authority to Supervisors of Land Titles to reinstate the title to the original delinquent tax payer

There is another protective measure too. If Mr Farrow's land was sold for taxes, the supervisor, or for a road, and his title does not show that he subscribe the mineral rights, he should apply to the Land Titles office to have the mineral rights or apply to the Deputy Minister of Mines and Minerals Act.

Anyone with these problems of mineral ownership should remember that there are these protections, and if he wishes, he may consult the Alberta Division Manager Canadian Petroleum Association, 350 Ninth Avenue S W. Calgary for further information A letter to him or to the Deputy Minister of Mines and Minerals, or to the Solicitor Department of Mines and Minerals, Edmonton will receive prompt attention

Always Good Policy To Buy Alberta Made

A slogan is a slogan, but when it comes to putting an advertising slogan to work in the form of a campaign to encourage the buying of manufactured goods with merchandise and products manufactured in Alberta, and with a view toward increasing employment, it is a horse of another color.

The consumer of this country spends two hundred billion dollars annually for goods and services. Albertans spend about one billion dollars worth of goods, grown or manufactured in other provinces, every month of the year. Action and latest television shows. But was the outlay money invested wisely?

Why Buy Alberta Products?

If the total yearly expenditure of two billion dollars worth of goods, grown or manufactured in other provinces were spent in the Province, in addition to every greater amount was imported into the province from other provinces. The total value of goods imported into the province and used in local trade through out Alberta amounted to over one and a quarter billion dollars. While many of these articles could not be grown, nor are they being manufactured in Alberta, many of them are. Several million dollars worth, to specific

This represents a considerable sum of money paid out to other countries, for goods that could be manufactured in Alberta, money which could have been more profitably used for the purchase of raw materials and for the benefit of local workers.

This money could have been used freely for the support of Alberta's economy and secondly, for the purchase from other countries of motor cars, oranges, coconuts and other goods which cannot be grown or manufactured locally. In other words, if the Albertan's dollar can be channeled to do as much work as possible before it leaves the province everyone benefits.

Effect of Local Buying

In one year the gross value of production of Alberta manufacturing plants increased from $641 million to $701 million or by $60 million. Of this $60 million dollars $45 million was spent for the purchase of raw materials used in the manufacture of the goods and much of this two hundred and two thousand (nearly Another $1 million was spent for the purchase of locally produced food and electricity. The additional salaries and wages which found their way back into the wage earners' pockets amounted to $14 million. Postage not important, as additional 2000 persons were given continuous employment in Alberta.

Human Factors In Trek From Farm

Canadians have heard so much about the decline of the rural population that they may have assumed it was a fact without pausing for the human factors behind it comments Dr Helen C Abell, head of the rural sociology unit of the Economics Division Canada Department of Agriculture made a careful study of this problem in Canada's primary industry.

She reminds the city dwelling Canadian that families living on farms go through the normal cycle of rearing children and helping to establish them in their chosen occupations.

Changed Thinking

The chronic occupation of most sons used to be the continuation of the family farm or setting themselves up on farms. Today, the exception of true interest of the families farm from in general to the succeeding generation is no longer part of the thinking of all farm families.

Why, this change? For one thing the economics of farming are such that it is becoming increasingly difficult to make a go of it without a large volume of production and no assured market for the farm products.

Many young farmers and sons of today's farmers feel that there is not enough room for them to grow and develop on the family farm. Then the economics of modern

now you can protect ALL your possessions with ONE low premium

with Acadia's new A+ PLAN

Chances are, many of your household possessions, your home, your car, are already protected by insurance. Then, you know the peace of mind this protection brings. But isn't it bothersome trying to budget for half-a-dozen-or-so premiums, falling due every so often - sometimes during awkward, financially-strained periods of your year? Of course it is! But now, at last, with the introduction of the all-new Acadia A-Plus Plan, you can do something about it!

MORE LOW PREMIUM PROTECTION ALL UNDER ONE ROOF! This is it! First big plus of Acadia's revolutionary new A-Plus Plan. One premium guards your automobile, your home, your household effects and personal belongings against fire, theft and casualty. You simply name the items you wish insured; if you don't wish all your possessions covered, your Acadia man - the man with the revolutionary new A-Plus Plan - will be glad to tailor a coverage package to your individual requirements - you'll still have only one low premium to pay!

WHERE EASY WAYS TO PAY! 1. Two-month portion of premium down, the balance in 10 monthly payments. 2. quarterly, 3. semi-annually. Simply choose the one which best suits your budget. All three are designed with your convenience in mind. The second big plus in the all-new Acadia A-Plus Plan!

EXTRA, HONEST-SAVING AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE DISCOUNT! Big plus number three in this great Plan of benefits. If you qualify for any one of several preferred classes of automobile drivers, under the A-Plus Plan you automatically become eligible for reduced rates. Your Acadia man will be happy to explain the special classifications to you when you use him for your automobile coverage.

HIGHEST PLUS OF ALL! ACADIA'S EXCLUSIVE "CUSTOM-CARE PAYMENT PROTECTION"! This attractive bonus is yours and goes into effect the minute you enroll in the Plan, no matter what your coverage, complete or partial! Here's how it works: should you become totally disabled by accident, or suffer an accidental death, Acadia will pay off your mortgage. The cost? A surprise - this exclusive feature costs less than $10 a year for most householders.

"NO-FUSS-EPOXY" CLAIMS SETTLEMENT! A mighty important plus - fifth big plus in Acadia's all-new A-Plus Plan. Once your Acadia man insures you under the Plan, you can be sure that if you ever have a claim, you'll get claim service second to none. Never an annoying delay when it comes to settling up - Acadia settles your claim on the spot! Any present Acadia policyholder will vouch for this.

ACADIA'S A-PLUS PLAN IS ALL-EMBRACING! The sixth big plus in Acadia's all-new A-Plus Plan is well worth remembering. Acadia knows the insurance needs of Canadians; has protected Canadian possessions since 1862.

What Have You For The Stampede Handicraft Show?

Has anyone seen a hand-tuffed candlewick bed spread? Maybe the one your grandmother made in the early one in the Stettler district. Why not get it on the Handicraft Display being held July 5 and 6 in the Community Centre in conjunction with the Stettler Stampede?

We've never seen Italian Quilting, Ridged Crochet, Kevin Rugs or Square Knotting but we would like to. Have you any of these at your home?

How many different patterned quilts are there in our community such as Dresden Plate, Double Wedding Ring, Fan Sunburst, etc. Do you think there might be ten, twenty or even thirty. What a display 30 quilts would make!

Are you proud of the table lamp or bowl your son made at shop last year or the year before? Why not put them in the display so we can enjoy them also.

The list of Craft work is almost endless, petit point, needle point, metal tooling, leather craft, weaving, ceramics, wood work, rug making, painting, etching, to name only a few.

We are sure you have had much pleasure from articles like these in your home — won't you please share your pleasure with us? Please bring them to the Hobby and Handicraft Display.

Scouts And Guides Buy Old Anglican Church

On Monday afternoon the Scouts, Guides and Kinmen together with the Anglican Church signed the sale agreement for the Purchase of the old Anglican Church Building to be used as a Scout-Guide Hall in Stettler. Renovations will commence immediately for the purpose of making the building over into suitable premises for the boys and girls. The building is to remain on the Anglican Church lot for the present, the Church to retain ownership of the land. Trustees for the property are the Kinmen with the Church as the second trustee. neither to have any beneficial interest in the land.

The Stettler Kinmen are the sponsors of the Boy Scout Association in Stettler. The will be a real boost for the Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies in Stettler and a very worthwhile thing it is, to participate in any way in these training plans for the boys and girls of the community. It is expected that the Hall will be in use most every week night, especially during the colder months of the year. During the warm months many of their activities take place out of doors.

The purchase price and the renovation costs for the building have been raised by the boys and girls themselves with the help of the respective local Association and Group Committee and by the Kinmen Club. It has been a long uphill struggle and has been helped along by the apples, peanuts, cookies, Christmas trees, tea etc which have been sold from time to time.

The next Scout-Cub project will be the booth at the Stettler Stampede. The last project held was the recent peanut day sale which netted a tidy sum toward the new hall. The Scouts and Cubs, Brownies and Guides would like to thank all those people who have helped in the past by patronizing these affairs.

A number of various types of camps are being held this month for the boys and girls with good attendances and a good deal of fun reported. Great credit is due to the leaders and the workers for these efforts on behalf of the young folk.

Mr and Mrs. I. Meiver are visiting in Calgary for several days.

Guaranteed"

Sounds Good . . . But How Good Is It?

Most merchandise and services are sold on a "satisfaction guaranteed" basis these days. However the practical value of any guarantee depends on its convenience to the purchaser or the guarantor.

When you make a purchase in a city many miles away and something goes wrong it isn't always convenient for you to return it. If you require service at your home from some out-of-town firm, you may wait a long time.

That's why it makes good shopping sense to do business with your own merchant in and near our municipality. Then the guarantee and warranty and service . . . and what's more they are right in hand to work them out. These guarantees of satisfaction are convenient.

CANNING BASICS!!!

Did your loving has evidently brought on Canning Fever? Then this every hand one need people coming out in the garden at reasonable prices and in large many packs along the highways and by every Mrs. etc. wonder how to can, dried or a freezer specialist also start a rap and relish spree and proudly smile both fore and aft as they garnered hoard of savings from the outdoor plot.

There are many types of fever that load themselves ready to self-canning besides those three you ever tried either!

Here are a few hints to the fever all ends to help prevent the burst offering and produce

1 Canning on an outdoor grill should be done over hot coals of burning coals or wood Flames char food before it is cooked

2 Choose the good before or during to prevent food spoiling

3 Have helpers or parents of children frequently and hand with cooled for or barbecued

4 Barbecue sauces contain much sugar or ketchup sauce should be taken in lesser rapidly and tend to scorch so should not be used until the last half hour of cooking period Use butter, oil or French or Italian type of liquid dressing

5 Do tongs rather than fork to turn chicken to avoid piercing meat

6 Parsley and liberally as a garnishing or with cooked browning

7 For additional flavour sour cream chicken for 30 minutes or longer in refrigerator using a commercial sour cream French Italian dressing as the marinade

8 Allow plenty of time to cook chicken thoroughly, count by 1 to 1½ hours for average sized child

9 Chicken is done when leg bone twists easily in joint when meat is easily separated or meat is both tender Avoid puncturing meat frequently since it causes loss of juice

A simple barbecue sauce is made by combining 1 cup of ketchup or oil with a cup of vinegar or lemon juice and a small cup of water flavour with a teaspoon of salt and some garlic powder if you like

200 Children Register For Swimming Lessons at Lake

More than 200 children have already registered for swimming lessons being held at Rowan Ranch under the direction of Chief Instructor Rose Hetherington of Stettler Recreation Commission.

The registration was so large that it was impossible to accommodate all of the children in one set of lessons, so another will begin immediately after these are over. The present lessons are running daily from July 11th to 15th and from July 18th to 22nd.

The classes will have their final test on Saturday, July 23rd.

The next set of lessons will begin Monday, July 25th and will run until to August 6th.

About 150 children are in the first class and there are being transported from town by chartered bus which is supplied by Stettler Rotary and the others are either residing at the Lake or have found their own transportation.

Fifty-five applications to use the bus have already been received for the next set of lessons, therefore anyone who wishes to enroll should contact Clark Buringham at HI 2-3883 soon as only 25 more names will be accepted. There will still be room for people residing at the Lake but they should turn in their names as soon as possible. Registration fee for the lessons is only $1.00. This is made possible as the Recreation Commission is absorbing the cost of instructors and Rotary is generously providing transportation. This is a fine opportunity for local children. Rotary is to be commended for its help and the Recreation Commission is pleased to have swimming as a part of its

Stettler—Saskatoon Couple Marry

WILSON — RADDIS

Baskets of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and white lilies graced the altar of the Stettler Baptist Church when Miss Ruth Beatrice Raddis became the bride of Mr. Wilson Wallace Wilson on Saturday afternoon, July 15th, at 2 o'clock. The Reverend J. Lloyd Mathews performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with candelabra holding white tapers.

Miss Margaret Allen played the wedding music and Miss Ernest Raddis, brother of the bride, sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Bernard Wilson of Saskatoon, the bride wore a floor length gown of white satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a coronet of pearl sprays and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Attending the bride were her sister Miss Doris Raddis as maid of honor, Mrs. Pat Raddis and Miss Grace Perry. All three wore identical white knee length dresses of organza with chiffon over-skirts, with small matching bonnets. They carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and wore matching sets of earrings, gifts from the bride.

The flower girl was Miss Dee Dee MacKenzie of Regina, a niece of the bride. The ushers were Mr. Gerald Raddis of Edmonton and Donald Raddis of Stettler.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Betty Kaufman sang "I Perfect Love and during the signing of the register The Wedding Prayer was sung by Mrs. Donald Kaufman of Calgary.

A reception was held following the ceremony for twenty guests at the I.O.O.F. hall. Receiving the guests with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raddis of Stettler, Baptist Church choir, were Mrs. Wilson's mother, wearing a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The Marquess' other daughter, Mrs. Bernard Wilson of Saskatoon and Mrs. Ernest Raddis of Stettler assisted the bride's mother with accessories of navy blue and white.

The bride was attired in a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Her bridegroom's mother wore a floral dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

BATS HARMLESS AND USEFUL

Bothered by bats?

Bess offers establish colonies in attics and walls of dwellings in rural areas and become a nuisance

But advises the Canada Department of Agriculture's Research Branch, bats are harmless and useful creatures that feed exclusively on nightflying insects many of which are destructive pests

Get rid of the bats say the researchers, but don't destroy them

An effective repellent is two to five pounds of naphthalene flakes scattered in spaces occupied by bats. If applied during warm weather reports claim this will prompt bats to leave—even in daylight. They will stay away as long as the naphthalene odor persists

After the bats have been evicted, all openings three-quarters of an inch or more in width, such as small crevices around the eaves and at the bases of rafters, should be filled. Cracks at the base of the chimney should be filled with cement

If these openings are not closed after the bats have been driven out, the supply of mosquito and midge must be removed periodically to prevent these return.

Castor's 50th Anniversary

[illegible] courage of the arrangements for the 50th anniversary celebration at Castor next week-end [illegible] committees and members of the [illegible] community of Stettler did a wonderful job in the special issue to the celebration which were held in Castor last Wednesday. The staff of the newspaper had the pleasure of [illegible] the celebration but those [illegible] Castor. The fault for this must be with today's publication committee.

However, we think we have known a little [illegible] that this extra amount of congratulations to the one hundred [illegible] town of Castor is be-fitted.

It is interesting to look back on Castor and its history. The CPR reached Stettler in the fall of 1905 and this new railway became the terminus of the railway for a longer period than was expected. It was thought that the rails would push [illegible] north in 1906 but they remained at Stettler in 1906, 1907 and 1908 and did not move until the late summer of 1909.

In the meantime quite a large settlement was being built up east of Stettler. The first rush of immigration started from Lacombe in 1902 and the second great trek started from Stettler in 1906. And the settlers took up most of the available land as far east as what became called the Castor and Consuelo districts, and even west as far as the Consuelo district. Stores were established at many of the points such as the Krueger store, the Harris Bros. store and the Consuelo store. Mark Park School, Big Hay School, Bentley School, Gadsby and Halkirk although these villages were not in existence and the Walters store at Walsh.

When it became evident that the CPR would be extended from Stettler in 1909 business began to pour in so that they would be on the ground floor when new villages were established well ahead of the line and particularly at Castor where the CPR was advertising a new townsite.

The townsite of Castor was put on the market at Stettler in July 1909 and on July 26 $40 000 worth of lots were sold by auction, and $30 000 the next day. By the end of the sale nearly $100 000 was paid for lots in the proposed townsite.

There's something mighty attractive about the city, to some. Don't think I don't miss the big show back home on the tourist gals waltz down the main drag, all brown from the sun, and their red hair sun bleached hair and dark glasses as you never know whether or not they're giving you the big eye but you're pretty sure they're not.

But that's what I mean. For ten years I had that and I'd grown as callous as the doorman at the Palm Berghese Downs in the city. I climb on a streetcar pull my short lone from me and you're with the tersest some dull looking as though she'd stepped out of a cold shower cotton fresh clinging clothes, upswept hair, no make-up and dark glasses so you never know whether or not she's giving you the big eye, but you're pretty sure she's not.

A few notes for the girls at home. The office girls in the city who are usually right on top of fashions are wearing shorter skin-tight skirts but generally not attractively distorting. There's also a new coiffure in vogue. Let your hair grow longer. Then gather it all up in both hands, pile it untidy lumps here and there on your head, with plenty of wisps escaping, and stick some pens and things in it.

There is a vague resemblance to the hair style of the liberal warrior of Africa, but it is not as neat, nor do you have to start with cow dung to keep it in place, so do the Misses Don't worry. I'm not going to talk about girls all evening. Suffice to say that all, I've been away from home before One week end, back in '34, I still only add one remark Forty-ten friends of the male species were born about 25 years ago. I've had a pretty good look at the crop of new brothers who still invade the high schools this September, and some of them are enough to start riot. And I do not mean the [illegible]

Perhaps I shouldn't say it, but some of these babes should be cigarette girls in nightclubs not teachers I can just see them writing a sentence on the blackboard, jiggling like jelly, while the big hands in Grade 11 blink hard to keep their eyeballs from rolling down their cheeks If these fulsome females expect to impart any information beyond the fact that they are well stacked, they would be wise to put their hair in a bun and don horn-rimmed specs. Big busts and Blonder Robinson.

These summer classes for teachers certainly produce a mixed bag In my classes there are Indians, negroes, new Canadians who are going to teach English and can't speak it yet, a number of priests, a pregnant lady a marriage and living dolls, a just out of college and two old men, another chap had scoliosis.

Big shock to me was to find that I had to take Latin Last time I studied it was 24 years ago, and I say that I had quite mastered the language, even then. After that interlude the only Latin I knew was Mango Carta, habeas corpus and in flagrante delicto Some of these have come up in my Latin class, so far If I have to teach the stuff about all I can do is hurl myself on the tender mercy of the students And managers, an the whole, have a quality of mercy about as tender as that of the Emperor Nero.

The university is crowding with teachers in the summer They all look very serious, but I have a lurking suspicion that most of the men, at any rate, are taking some sort of special course solely for the purpose of getting away from their families for a few weeks An ignoble thought perhaps, but fundamentally sound. There's nothing wrong with leaving a woman to cope alone with the house and children for a few weeks Nothing that a session in the bunting-basin can't cure.

Its funny, when I went home for my first weekend, I thought my wife would be frustrated by my Latin, the dolls in the class, my timetable, which gives me afternoons off, and all that stuff But when I arrived I detected the just gave me a long, hard look and started lining all the troubles she'd had during the week.

It was different with the kids, though They were delighted to see me, and I got huge hugs and kisses They listened enthralled to my tales of college and summer school. For about four minutes, before silently sliding out of the room into the next room.

Oh well, I suppose I can't expect them to realize what I'm going through here in the torrid city, while they sport around in the cool north country Why, some days it's so hot I don't really enjoy my afternoon nap, and I scarcely have the energy to wash the three blocks to the air-conditioned movie, in the evening. However, none of this, as we say in Latin.

Best Buy in Fenders—Volkswagen

Volkswagen makes sense for you in many more ways than one. Start with your pocket book in mind—nothing has been changed to please a passing fad. Take spare parts, for example. Volkswagen's fenders are always ready for quick replacement. (A rear fender costs $16.10). Or a complete engine can be exchanged in 90 minutes. Only two examples of what a usually engineered car means for you.

Or think of the low initial cost: Volkswagen has maintained the same price since it was introduced in Canada eight years ago. The newest Volkswagen has increased production year by year, from 8,000 cars in 1952 to more than 700,000 in 1959, making it the largest selling small car in the world—by far.

The logical result of maintaining a standard of quality which has made Volkswagen famous throughout the world. 1,526 Canadian Volkswagen owners have received the Gold Wrench Award and Diploma for driving their cars 60,000 miles without major repair.

Over 300 dealers, coast to coast, invite you to join the happy family now.

Unchanged From Last Year Initial Wheat Price $1.40 Bus.

OTTAWA — The initial pay... $1.40 for No 1 northern... the top grade... unchanged... 1959 ...

So far Prairie wheat prodw... ers have received only the initial payment on wheat delivered in the current 1960 - 61 crop year, which ends July 31.

The minister's announcement covered only initial payments for the basic grades of the three grains. He said payments for all other grades will be established later on the wheat board's recommendation.

CCF House leader Hazen Argue commented that the initial prices for the three grades have become rather outdated. The government should take action to try to increase them. For one thing it should restore the five cent reduction in the initial payment on oats made three years ago.

Great West Signs Farmers For Group Life Insurance

Winnipeg — Group life insurance for farmers—up to now unavailable — becomes effective August 1st with a plan announced by United Grain Growers Ltd

Insurance will be carried by Great West Life Assurance Co Winnipeg, which has accepted the contract provided an unspecified minimum number apply by August 1st

Coverage will apply to farmer members and customers of the grain company and their hired hands, provided they are

Annual premiums for all applicants will be $47 50 Benefits will be graduated according to age at time of making entry.

- An applicant enrolling at age 25 will have insurance of approximately $7 500 until he reaches 60.
- An applicant enrolling at age 35 will carry insurance of $6 500 until age 60
- At higher ages amount of death benefits will be less
- At 60 the death benefit will decrease gradually until age 65
- After this no further premiums will be payable The insurance company will issue a paid-up policy for an amount equal to total of the premiums paid

There will be double indemnity in case of accidental death A member of the plan if he wishes may terminate his coverage If he does he will have two options He may accept a paid up policy for the amount of premiums he has paid Or he may accept a cash settlement

United Grain Growers had been trying for some time to devise a plan to give farmer members advantages of group buying in a field previously restricted to urban dwellers said President J E Brownlee The Hillmen Insurance Company is to issue group plans, he said These are cash surrender values, paid-up insurance and double indemnity in case of accidental death

The principle of graduated benefits is based on greater need of young farmers with families in years when their children are young and farm development expenses high

Three years ago United Grain Growers introduced a farmer accident insurance plan Close to 30 000 farmers in the Prairie Provinces carry its protection

Statistics Show Alberta Economy in Mild Recession

EDMONTON — Economics has a reputation you don't generally hear in Alberta but if presented accurately statistics on various conditions aren t quite what they should be at the moment

Last week the provincial government issued a number of statistics on several monthly report and it showed downturns in farm income farm grain and livestock for the fifth consecutive month

Total farm income for the January May period dropped to nearly $30 000 000 to $145 962 000 from last years $175 062 000

Earnings from grain alone dropped by nearly $17 000 000 to $50 100 during the same period last year Inventor 1959 inventory dropped to 650 267 000 from last year s 800 393 000

There were other indications that Alberta isn t enjoying the buoyant economic which has marked most years since the end of the war Volume of business retail trade showed drops in business during the January April period the latest for which figures are available Overall retail trade was down 1 9 per cent to $207 807 000

Furniture appliance and radio dealers took the worst beating with trade down 10 6 per cent to $13 444 000 Motor vehicle dealers reported volume down 9 5 per cent at $32 537 000 Sales of new motor vehicles dropped 17 6 per cent to 14 426 units The value of new vehicles sold dropped 15 7 per cent to $46 193 000

Of the few classes of retail business that show increases in trade grocery and combination stores topped the list with business up 8 8 per cent at $40 ...

Government officials aren t saying Alberta is in the grip of a recession In fact Alberta probably is considerably better off than some other provinces But things certainly aren t as good as they have been and officials say one of the big reasons is the after-effects of the bad weather that made harvesting impossible last year

It may not be a good year for the economy but so far it s been a better than average for highway construction according to Highways Minister Gordon Taylor

Last week Mr Taylor announced that 34 per cent of the year s grading program has been completed against 21 per cent last year Bituminous gravel resurface work is 26 per cent complete against 13 per cent last year and asphalt surfacing is 29 per cent complete as compared

The only way to make farming pay... modern methods and machines

You can't farm profitably today by using yesterday's equipment and obsolete machinery. They simply don't meet the demands of modern farming . . high productivity and low profits then yields.

The profit potential of your farm can only be fully realized through obtaining modern methods and the latest farm machinery. Today's farm machinery measures up to the task of doing more work faster and more efficiently. Farm labour, a major cost in the operation of any farm, is kept to a bare minimum while the amount of work done per day is greatly increased. Critical farm operations get done at exactly the right time without depending on the availability of high priced farm labour.

Massey-Ferguson machines and implements completely fill the requirements of profitable farming more work with less manpower at lower cost.

Drumheller Man Wins Championship Flight

Gino Bertl of Drumheller, won the championship flight of Stettler Golf Club's Annual Tournament which was played on Sunday and Monday, by downing rookie golf to defeat Don Nearby of Edmonton, 3 and 2 in the final round. He defeated the low qualifier and defending champion, Ray Wentz of Stettler in the semi-finals.

The big event attracted 104 golfers in local and visiting foursomes. Stettler supplied the largest of the four new flights created. The course was in excellent condition, although the hot, windless weather, the last week-end, took its toll of the greens.

The draw matter was A. E. Montrose and he supplied much praise for his efficient handling of the draws.

Eight eight players were eliminated in the championship flight and those making the grade were: Ray White, Stettler, 6&5; Keith Gauthier, Edmonton, 5&4; Gino Bertl, Drumheller, 7&6 and Ron Lacombe, 1 up. Ted Gaffney, Stettler, 2 up, defeated Ray White, 3&2; Gino Bertl, Drumheller, 7&6 and Ron Lacombe, 1 up. Ted Gaffney, Stettler, 2 up, defeated Ron Lacombe, 1 up. Final

The final of the championship flight between Bertl and Newby was one of the best ever played in Stettler as the former was three under par when he closed his opponent out on the 16 hole.

The match was really settled on the 14th hole when Newby's approach shot hit a sprinkler head and bounced over the green. He was enjoying a one hole lead at that point but finished the round three holes down.

Newby made a determined bid for the second nine. He won the second with a birdie three and would have won the next with another birdie but Bert rolled in from 20 feet off the green. On the final hole the seventeenth Bert made a brilliant iron shot to within three feet of the cup for another birdie to win the match.

Golfer's Corner

Our annual tournament is over for another year. It was a huge success and we are making plans to make it better next year. Our thanks go out to the lady golfers for the wonderful job they did in preparing meals between events. Also our thanks to Joe Flood and Dot for catering on the Tuesday morning. We can't thank Paul Petersen as this would not be enough. Paul hasn't quit working since the clubhouse was started and he kept everything rolling through the tournament.

Mixed golf will be held again Thursday, August 4th, 1960 at 2:30 p.m. and a large turnout would really be appreciated. The girls really enjoyed the day they had last week so come on out and make the ladies day even better.

Anyone having money in bets or other stakes on the pot of coins may do so at the Bank of Nova Scotia in Cy Corder.

Tommy Armitage, Pat Harbottle, Barry Sorenson are playing in the Alberta Junior Tournament being held at Riverton Country Club, August 8 (1960. Those boys should give a good account of themselves as they are all capable of playing good golf.

Thanks again to all those who helped make our annual tournament the best yet. See you next week.

500 Attend Opening Of Fish and Game Trout Pond

More than 500 persons were attracted to the Mike Kerbes' Fish Pond Sunday when Stettler Fish and Game Association officially opened the trout-stocked lake with a fish derby.

The shores of the pond were lined at times with more than 100 fishermen and many families made the day the occasion for picnics. Mike Kerbes acted as unofficial host.

The pond was built at considerable expense by Stettler Fish and Game two years ago. It was stocked with trout by the Alberta Game Branch last spring. It is located in beautiful parkland about six miles west of town.

Fish were not biting well Sunday as only about 70 trout were caught. Most of them were around nine inches, so they have made amazing growth in a matter of four or five months.

Bill Shymanski, of Big Valley, won the prize for the biggest fish — 8¾ inches in the juvenile class. Russel Kelo, of Endiang, placed first with an 8¼-inch entry. Out

Mike Kerbes' award for the fisherman from farthest away went to E. Fluegil of Kimberley. Out

Same of the District's Best Were There

More than 500 people attended the opening of Kerbes' Fish Pond Sunday, and among them were some of the best fishermen of the district, including Harry Fuller who can be seen here with a box full of worms, and Mark Johnson who believes that people with rods spoil fishing trips.

Mrs. Buckle Dies At 89

Mrs. Agnes Burkle 89 passed away in Stettler Municipal Hospital Sunday. She had been a respected resident of Stettler since 1911.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Stettler United Church. An obituary will appear next week.

She is survived by one son, Harold, of Stettler, and one grandson, Blerney.

Release 450 Pheasants In District

Stettler Fish and Game Association released 450 pheasants Wednesday. The birds were raised on the association's pheasantry farms located at Gordon Berge's and Bill Bagshaw's.

Another 600 birds will be released in the fall.

All birds released Wednesday were blood tested and banded.

Local Horsemen Enjoyed Trail Ride at Rocky

Twenty two members of Stettler Light Horse Association thoroughly enjoyed an outing in the Prairie Creek area south of Rocky Mountain House on Saturday and Monday. Several family groups and other non-riders also made the trip.

The Stettler group was joined by riders from other points in Central Alberta at the camp Saturday night and 94 horses took the Saturday morning trail ride.

The Sunday morning trail ride offered the horsemen every kind of obstacle and was good experience for some of the younger members. They were back in camp at 2:30 and a big weiner roast and barbecue was enjoyed in the evening with special entertainment provided by George Rousseau of Sherwood.

On Monday morning the trail ride was up the side of a mountain three miles to a ranger's lookout. The ride was also much enjoyed.

Horses were loaded at 2:00 and the party was back in Stettler by 5:00.

Stettler Auction Mart's cattleliner provided transportation for the weekend.

Those who made the trip are full of enthusiasm and looking forward to another such outing.

A Day's Catch

Dave Brown, like a lot of other good fishermen, was up before dawn Sunday to take in the official opening of Kerbes' trout pond. His catch didn't win the derby, but it was more than most of the fishermen caught.

Oil and Gas Companies List Fire-fighting Equipment

Calgary — Alberta's modern oil developers of natural gas and oil represent one of the province's most formidable fire fighting forces. In a publication entitled Alberta Oil Field Fire Equipment Mutual Aid List the Alberta Division of the Canadian Petroleum Association has documented the fire fighting weapons on duty throughout the Province of Alberta ready for emergencies.

The document included a map of the province pinpointing the location of equipment and listing the details of each fire fighting unit. Also listed are the ambulance units of the gaseous and liquid fuels and the radio communications operated by the oil and gas exploration and development industry. Also listed are the means by which thousands of men in remote areas would be summoned by short-wave radio or telephone within minutes bringing massive power from drilling crews water carts from nearby crews bull dozers cranes trucks fire hoses and explosives to bear on the emergency.

Although the list is compiled for the use and information of the oil and gas industry it is not inconceivable that Civil Defence authorities and the cities and towns of Alberta will take comfort from the fact that this array of men and equipment is on duty in the field.

The oil days of roaring burning gushers have gone Oil and gas wells today are brought in under strict scientific control but the industry is mobilized for emergencies which may never happen but for which it is constantly on guard.

Population Growth In Canada Has Limit

An indication of the progressively important effect that Canada's growing population will have upon the future demand for agricultural products is to be found in recent official figures relating to population growth.

As of March 1 Canada's population was estimated at 17.7 million persons an increase of 1.6 million or 10.2% since the 1956 census. The natural increase having made immigration figures reflects a high growth rate. It has been achieved through the maintenance of a low mortality rate despite an aging population.

Assuming the same rate of increase Canada's population should easily pass the 21 million mark by 1970 and according to the Gordon Commission by 1980 the population will be approximately 26 6 million persons of whom 21 million will be urban and 5 6 million will be rural.

It is often assumed that Canada has unlimited agricultural resources to feed a very large population but actually as our Eastern provinces pointed out recently, on the basis of the presently known resources to hand, there is a limit to the size of population which the country can be expected to support entirely.

When Canada's present population is doubled — which will be around 40 million level, in fact, it is likely that we will be increasingly dependent on certain items of food from outside the country to support her population. In this connection at least one authority suggests that when that stage is reached, she will probably be importing as much feed dollar-wise as she is exporting.

Significant changes have taken place in the food consumption pattern. It has been estimated for instance, that by 1980 Canadians will be consuming about half the potatoes and cereals that they consumed per capita in the 1925-39 period. By the same date moreover, it is likely that Canadians will be requiring about 50% more meat, eggs and poultry per capita than was consumed in the pre-war period which, in turn means more pasture and more grain used for feed.

Gone are the days when a farmer could quickly hire all the manpower he needed for work that had to be done fast to take advantage of right field or weather conditions. Today, experienced farm labour is scarce and costly.

The answer to this problem is modern farm machinery. It provides an efficient, economical working force that is available at all times. The danger of profits being left lying in the fields because of a shortage of harvesting help is eliminated. The ability of modern farm equipment to handle heavy work schedules at top speed with a minimum of manpower often means the difference between profit and loss on today's farms.

Follow the trend that leads to more predictable farming. Team up with Massey-Ferguson machines and implements. They keep labour costs low — provide a wider margin for profits.

Alberta Hail Studies Install 45 Barographs In Province

The installation of an extensive new array of sensitive pressure recording barographs has just been completed by Alberta Hail Studies. Forty-five instruments are located in an area 160 miles long by 70 miles wide, from Red Deer to Ledue and from Castor to east of Breton, Alberta Hail Studies. The network forms a part of the massive extended observational program of hail research undertaken jointly by the Research Council of Alberta and the Meteorological Branch of Canada with the assistance of the National Research Council and Hailtrol Incorporated.

The delicate instruments are being used by farmers who send the reports to project headquarters at 67 Avenue Petroleum Building. From the barogram estimates are able to plot the small scale pressure disturbances that are associated with severe local storms. It has been found that some of the storms produce a pressure pulse or wave that travels out from the storm and may be the cause of hail storms forming ahead of the original one.

In addition to the pressure network, the project group is installing eight experimental hail stations in an area nearly 200 of these multi-bed zone Several hail samples have already been collected from several storms. So far in the season this is the first project to experimentally study the size of hail, which may be used shortly as a step in understanding the relative importance of rain and hail in storms. The results of a study based on a number of samples collected during the 1960 season, so far, will be reported at a meeting scheduled for

Removal Of Dandelions

2,4-D — the selective herbicide recommended by Alberta's Supervisor of Horticulture P. D. McCalla, for removal of dandelions from an established lawn is dangerous however that this spray should not be used on a windy day because the drift is bounded to other broad-leaved plants.

For best results 2,4-D should be applied when both the grass and dandelions are in their most rapid stage of growth. Warm weather also facilitates a higher rate of absorption on the part of the weeds.

The amine and low volatile esters are recommended for home gardening because they are relatively free from danger to other broad leaved plants. The ester is popular with some people but considerable drift or walking about and exuberance of the sprayer affect the results. The walking time does a good job in cases where the number of dandelion plants is limited.

Mr McCalla warns that 2,4-D must always be used strictly according to the manufacturer's instructions if there are not to be hazard or is possible that the dandelions will survive the treatment, that the grass will be injured as a result, or that animals will be killed by the spray.

Ask Manning For National Leadership

Edmonton — There is a strong movement within the Social Credit Party to draft Premier Manning as national leader in the Kennedy preamble of the 61 Social Credit League mad Tuesday.

Kennedy and Manning are both in Edmonton after attending a national party convention in Ottawa at which members were elected a policy outline adopted and the framework of a constitution was drawn up.

The question of choosing a successor to retiring leader Solon Low is still wide open. Kent Kennedy said that there are many in the party who would like to see Manning take the job.

Manning has said he isn't interested in entering federal politics but has told the door might be ajar by adding that he would consider it if circumstances made it a duty and responsibility.

Dr. Robert Thompson, the newly-elected national party head has called an executive meeting for August 26-27 either in Edmonton or Calgary. Kennedy said the executive meeting probably will set the date of the national convention.

Hawksbeard On The Increase

Increasingly serious should be taken to prevent the noxious weed hawksbeard from getting any more seed this summer Alberta's Supervisor of Seeds and Weed Control reports that hawksbeard has been increasing steadily during the last few years and that extensive infestations are now appearing throughout the province.

This annual weed is not a native of Alberta but has spread from early in June until late July. It thrives on recently cultivated soil and is often introduced on seeds of forage crops and of cultivated land. Mr. Lemon says that one rough pull-up will eradicate the plants with no difficulty in eradicating them because it usually takes three hawksbeard has a larger flower and shorter leaves and stalks.

Cultivation is the most effective method of dealing with hawksbeard on cultivated land, says Mr. Lemon. One thorough cultivation will eradicate the plants with no difficulty growing. Non-cultivated land and hawksbeard can be controlled also by an application of 2,4-D amine at the rate of 1 pint per acre. Increasing forage crop stands by reseeding and by applying fertilizer will aid the result in reducing the incidence of hawksbeard, says Mr. Lemon.

Public Meeting To Discuss Red Deer River Diversion

Central Alberta Chamber of Commerce has called a public meeting at Consort on August 31st at 8:00 p.m. for the purpose of discussing the proposed Red Deer River Diversion.

The proposed diversion of water from the Crossroads reserve via the Raven River into the Red Deer River would bring water into the area southeast of Consort. The diversion is to provide the area which is in urgent need of this water. The purpose is to provide ample water supplies for stock watering, limited irrigation and municipal and industrial needs throughout the area.

A government engineer will attend the meeting to deal with the technical aspect of the program. M.L.A.'s and M.P.'s have been invited to this meeting.

New Calgary Stadium Ready For WIFU Football Opener

The new Calgary civic stadium, modified considerably from early with the astounding number of construction projects now basking from almost every section of Alberta.

Finishing touches were made early June, being placed in concrete and features installed in quadrangle and it was announced that everything would be in readiness for the August 13th opening ceremonies and the first WIFU football game between Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The McMahon brothers, Frank and George, of Calgary, who made the outdoor coliseum contract by an estimated $500,000 bid and under stated that the main purpose of the stadium will be for southern Alberta's amateur competitions.

The stadium will be a part of the University of Alberta and it is no secret that the McMahons will encourage interclass games using the stadium both and designed as a college track and field attraction.

Frank and George McMahon, born in Ile-a-Crosse, Saskatchewan, are well established themselves in the oil business in Calgary 30 years ago and attended the world with the first big discoveries of oil and gas in the Peace River region.

They envisioned the huge pipeline carrying natural gas from northern Canada to the United States through their Westcoast Transmission Company Limited and now their dream become a reality three years ago.

They have always been interested in youth and community activities and their forward step in giving southern Alberta a huge stadium (capacity up to 35,000) under other several and purpose, they announced at the party during the past seven years.

The contract for constructing the McMahon brothers got in the race stadium in the action and speed in constructing the will encourage interclass games using the stadium both and designed as a college track and field attraction.

Social Credit Leadership

Reports continue to ... that an attempt is being made to persuade Premier E. C. Manning to take the national leadership of the Social Credit Party.

It looks like a ... Mr. Manning if he could accept it is likely that he would ... to provincial politics ... and at the same time ... the present Alberta government.

He is the strong man of the Alberta Social Credit Party and there is no one in the federal party ... who could replace him. The ... Social Credit leadership ... more than anything else a personal triumph for Mr. Manning and a tribute to his outstanding leadership ... he inherited the late Mr. Aberhart's mantle. The Alberta Government is the Manning Government. Surely the Social Credit Party of Alberta will not let him go.

It is more than doubtful that Mr. Manning ... with his outstanding ability would do much for the party nationally. Let them give the job to Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia. It seems to us he deserves it.

Besides the opposition parties, which have struggled for so many years to unseat Mr. Manning, should finally have the satisfaction of doing so. There would not be half the fun in beating a party headed by Hon. Mr. Gordon Taylor or Hon. Mr. Aalborg.

Water Supplies

The good rains of last week were certainly welcome and will help to fill into grain crops. A good crop is in the offing, except ... of areas which were ...

The main drought relief to Stettler's overstrained water supply system. The town did not have to ration the water but there were times when prudence was practically non-existent and we cannot help but wonder if there were sufficient reserves on hand to fight fire.

It is almost a miracle that the supply system could keep up at all to the demands placed on it. Communities that get their water from rivers often have to ration water during periods of drought, and these places have what you would say were unlimited supplies of water.

It is a good thing to know that surveys under the direction of the Alberta Research Council have revealed that there are excellent sources of ground water near Stettler. Possibly our council should consider the tapping of these sources before it will not attract industries and grow and prosper unless it has an abundance of water.

A Bear Spot

(Lethbridge Herald)

Bad bears on parks: just count on none

For food and fun and venting rage
A problem in this tourist age

But problems are for government
More nothings So in Parliament
The answer's given, briefly said:
"We'll paint the bad bears, bushmules red."

We hail this ingenuity.
But still remains a mystery
How do you tell a bear's behind
When running, if the bear's behind

(By BILL SMILEY)

Most of us who are taking the special summer credit courses for fledgling high school teachers are finding it pretty strong meat. It's especially invigorating for refugees from the fields, like myself, whose peak of intellectual exercise in the past decade or so, has been working out a crossword puzzle, or watching the late, late movie.

Those we have former insurance salesmen labouring over Latin. We have men who were in the retail business struggling over algebra. We have married women who have journeyed nothing since they left college except home to run a lot of push-button kitchen machinery, upset over the geography of Africa.

But every second week, the pressure of study is relieved by a long test, we are allowed to play a game. At one time it was known as Dazzle to the Lion; Later it turned up as The Spanish Inquisition Now it is simply called Practice Teaching.

• • • •

A week of this cost shorten your life by ten years. There is a little bit of the middle-aged typos who are already worried about being able to hang on until we get the superannuation, some 30 years hence. A friend of mine on the course suddenly struggled to other day. We rushed him to the emergency department of the General Hospital.

They gave him about 27 tests of various kinds. They asked him a lot of questions. He kept throwing up and complaining of pain. Finally they told him rather vaguely that he had a virus, gave a prescription for some expensive medicine and told him to go to bed for a few days.

I could have saved everybody a lot of time and trouble I knew what the "virus" was. My friend had to practice-teach mathematics the next day. Last time he studied mathematics was a few years after the first World War anyway, he's lurching happily in bed, clutching the little note from the doctor which excuses him from practice-teaching this week.

There is a hilarious topic to the practice-teaching sessions. If you're going to be teaching Commercial in September, your first practice teaching assignment will be a lesson in Grade 12 French if you are teaching nothing but English the fall, you are likely to be tossed in front of a class in Grade 11 Geography, which you last studied about the time Mussolini was shot trying from a balcony.

The element of suspense adds a great deal to the game, giving it a distinct flavour that old gamblers like Russian Roulette. It has one of two results. Either it immediately convinces your instructors of your self-confidence or turns him for life.

So you get up there in front of the class, tongue moving fluttering hysterically in your head, sweat running down your spine A strange trembling voice tells the class to turn to page eleventy-seven. You open your mouth again to begin teaching, and your mind goes dark, leaving blank.

The students observe you with the bold interest of sharks about to read a dying whale. Your fellow-student-teachers watch with aching sympathy. Your critic teacher eyes you with a fine blend of impatience and disgust. All you need is a chair in one hand and a whip in the other, and you'll feel like an apprentice lion-tamer on his first trip inside the big cage.

O, I tell you, it makes your heart bleed, to see some poor devil, who used to be the confident confidant of the Rotary Club book house, standing there, crewes, gray, perspiring, in front of students who have start since you are some girl, happily married for nine years who had worked her way up to Dietetic President of the Women's Institute in the home town, up there with her home trembling mouth retching. It shouldn't happen to Lotharios.

I don't worry about the student teachers who are just out of college They're almost as cocky as the teenagers themselves. It's the older types, on the come-back trail, sporting the wounds of the years bravely, who give a person pain. You feel like saying "There, there old boy I promise we'll send you back home to the good old boring job you left the glitter of teaching, on the fast train, as soon as you come out of shock." And to the girls "Never mind, Mum. I'll bet you're a darn good cook, anyway"

Experienced teachers do a lot to cheer you up though One fellow was telling me the other day that it's not so bad, once you get started In the next breath, he casually informed me that three teachers of his acquaintance are now happily cutting out paper dolls, or making like Napoleon, on a permanent basis.

One good thing about it These of us who make the grade will be steady, dependable teachers Never again will we think the grass on the other side of the fence is greener, or be nourished from the hardtack we are chomping.

There Is Magic in Water Play

(By Nancy Cleaver)

Children delight in the simple gifts of nature and of an early age they find water a wonderful play material It has great charm especially during the warm days of summer but can be enjoyed any time of the year.

Bath time is a jolly time and an older brother or sister can often make attractive floating toys of soap wood or sponge rubber for the very little child. Provided he will enjoy removing some empty walnut half-shells into a fleet of boats. First glue a toothpick to mast in an upright position and use a tiny triangle of white paper for a sail If two children are playing they can color their masts with crayons two different shades and have a race to see who can blow all the sailing boats in their navy across the bath first

Play with water can often occupy a young son or daughter while parents are busy with other tasks If day has a pouring job underway outdoors Junior can be handed a pail of water and a big paint brush and he will be quite happy paint ing a fence or back steps with water On fresh morning summer sun suggest dads clothes may be dirty too and she can provide her small daughter with a basin, warm soapy water and a little scrub board A low line of heavy string and nonmisture dad clothes pegs will delight a little girl who wants to hang up her doll's wash

Blowing bubbles has amused children for many years. A drop of glycerine help the process, and if no bubble-pipes are available drinking straws can be used On a warm day a group of children can have a lot of fun in the back yard with a bubble blowing competition The requirement is inexpensive, a bowl of soapy water and a drinking straw for each child the plastic kind last longer than the waxed paper ... Bubbles are ... fun for little ... and ... On a very hot day children will beg to be allowed to run through the falling drops from a spray hose set up in the yard If they are in their bathing suits and there is a time limit on this activity it can be refreshing Some mothers keep on an occasional treat just before meal time ... watching ... and face with changing out of bathing suits and dresses

Back yard wading pools made of plastic for tiny tots have become quite popular Some ambitious fathers have constructed a shallow concrete wading pool for their pre-school child by adapting instructions for a back-yard swimming pool or ornamental pool But care must be taken that is not too deep and proper water must be made for the water being changed regularly and if necessary chemicals added to keep it fresh

One family made a long gold fish pool in a sturdy spot under some bushes by sinking a sturdy deep preserving bottle in the ground Stones and sand were placed in on the bottom of the bottle and a few water plants anchored there Half a dozen small snails and four small gold fish were the occupants of this pool

An outdoor tap for a hose was in the wall above it and that it was easy to add a little fresh water as the water evaporated. The water plants and snails kept the water from becoming tainted The little son and daughter in this family loved to watch the goldfish and were allowed to feed them bread crumbs

Water is precious in many parts of the world Even if it is abundant where we live, let's not take it for granted It has wonderful play possibilities for a child There's magic in water play!

WEEKLY MEDITATION

(By Rev. F. Schneider)

PROFIT or LOSS

What shall a profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Mark 8:3

Worldly-wise Peter tried to make Jesus compromise with the cross of Christ. The cross and death shall never be Thine and as a consequence of a misconceived notion. Jesus said, "Get thee behind me Satan." But the message must be of God not of men. The above episode pointed up the need of the knowing and believing. "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul"

Every man possesses the essential need of profit in business and industry if it is to keep afloat No one can operate for long at a loss However profit and the unorthodox desire for gain can become a very noble one if it is allowed to become an overmastering objective Many a good man has been carried into the mainstream of the financial whirlpool through that same carelessness that has taken to use public position and trust to personal material advantage The Bible has a great deal to say about money and finances. It does not speak of all men as People have more money it will do everything for money They will never have happiness Family honor is tragedy, purity and even the Lord Himself for material gain Yet how short-lived are the profits of this life to the light of eternity.

Jesus sought to impress this truth on the heart of His hearers. If the price to bring the world's richest man were the cost it has cost as hell where would be the profit? A man who had spent much of his life or property was denied a living vessel in the confusion of the situation he saw an opportunity to help himself to rushes He filled his pockets with silver and gold and appeared on the deck only to see that the life-boats had pulled away from the ship In his desperation he heaped into the one he hoping to overtake the nearest boat The weight of his pockets took him to his doom in a watery grave What profit to him was the gold to his pockets? God gave His only Son! Jesus Christ gave His all even unto it sold to save your soul and mine Are you bartering your soul for the trivial, temporal things of this life? Give the world, love and serving of your soul prior consideration Take no chances at losing it eternally. God says "Because I have called ye refused, I have stretched out my hand and no man regarded. I also will laugh at your calamity I will mock when your fear cometh." Prov 1 24 26

OF MANY THINGS

(By Editorial Staff)

HOW MANY UNEMPLOYED?

The unemployment picture is a debatable one.

For example a married woman whose husband may be making from $3 000 to $5 000 a year, may be classified as unemployed if she is temporarily out of a job because her husband was transferred and she had to resign her own position in which she was Fabertons and other seasonal workers are now classed as unemployed when they register for unemployment insurance at the end of a season at which they might have earned $2 000.

It seems obvious that the present unemployment situation is not much different to that which existed some three years ago—as the so-called boom times. It appears worse only because changes in rules made more men and women eligible for unemployment insurance

However although not nearly as black as it is painted, unemployment worries us all. Strangely enough, the thing that may help us most is a government Labour Minister Mike Starr has pointed out that automation might help us out considerably in Alberta because much of the foreign markets we have been losing.

If and more automation would help but not unless we take other means to reduce costs. We cannot have our cake and eat it. The more we automate the more must be productive too, and do everything in their power to get the most out of them Workers who do not understand our foreign trade dollar values are not always inclined to welcome automation and make it work Governments, too, have a responsibility to keep industry price itself back into foreign markets Practically every new development spends is eventually added into the cost of goods and services that Canadians and for example as Englishmen who buys a car from Canada must pay his share of all those specialties. Because a portion of that spending is added to the cost of automobiles, every one of The same applies to our farm produce to every single thing we sell It is already impossible for us to maintain a high cost

'Were The Dog

(Montreal Star)

Every dog has his day, one tiny or other Looks was the first one to go into the Bay Bristol has now produced one which talks, of all things a Welsh corgi which speaks English presumably with a Cymric accent.

Corby by name he likes to drop into his master's bedroom and utter a "Good morning" His favorite expression however appears to be "I am a clever dog" Clearly accent is not confined to cats

Language—as the medium of a recording, is a kind of news which the air generated Corby has already addressed his canine colleagues in America

There is no telling where this sort of business is going to end of course But, if it doesn't we're going to have to think twice about that observation as a George Eliot novel. Animals are man's dumbest friends. — they ask no questions, they pass no criticisms "

Whetsel - Ewing Correspondent Explains "Family Farm"

By Mrs. D. Y. Townsend

There was a song we used to sing long ago. It went something like this: How much would your garment cost?

Nowadays men are getting encouraging that at these farms [illegible] Because they keep the family well and hard up the prices [illegible] right alongside the men.

[illegible] We don't have too many births at our meetings during the summer [illegible] or fall that evening. Our August meeting at the home of Mrs. Alex Ellis and our meeting here Mrs. Ellis also are two very effective months [illegible] because they keep the family well and hard up the prices [illegible] right alongside the men.

[illegible] Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. Jensen were their elder son Ben and his friends from the north.

A cousin friend and charter member of our group Mrs. Ethel Bull has undergone a serious operation at our hospital and we are both a rapid improvement in health and return to her home.

Mrs. Ellis and Joan served a delicious lunch Tour meeting and will be at our Community Centre with Mrs. Gannon as hostess on September 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson and Ricky made a trip to Big Valley on Thursday last to see Loring home with a heart [illegible] baby daughter. The whole the Hall shared in their surprise and heartiest congratulations to Pte. Bill and Kathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth and [illegible] small daughter visited with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh of Red Deer also Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dahl and family on Sunday. Before [illegible] a meeting at [illegible] for [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Dahl [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Hugh [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Dahl [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Dahl [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Dahl

One economic guru not to Pro[fessor] V. D. Bladen, Dean of Arts at the University of Toron[to] on his appointment to the Royal Commission on the ex[pansion] and prosperity of the Canadian automobile industry. It is a situation unknown Professor Bladen is the man. He is expected to study the pressing and respective competitive position of Canadian auto manufacturers, both the domestic and export markets. He is in general not too in Canadian auto industry, many of whom have been at work in similar problems in sev[eral] Canadian industries. They have not found the answers. How can a key industry en[joy] such a measure of prosperity, both in and where it wants capacity to do so?

In the last year the Canadian automotive industry, according to statistics, has been making that, and it is expected to do so again this year. The figures are also impressive in that they have been achieved in spite of the fact that the domestic market has not been expanding. Between 1955 and 1959 the number of passenger cars registered in Canada increased by 29 per cent. Can automobiles sell the auto industry, or up-sizing how to expand it?

In fact, many the Canadian market has not been that 20 or more of the domestic market by Detroit and European products. In 1960 the overseas im[ports] captured only 8 per cent of Canadian sales this year they are capturing 20 per cent. Can automobiles sell the auto industry how to regain its lost customers. Can automobiles sell it how to produce and how to sell cars—and a price a design and a quality that will compete with the imports? Is and the a job for engineers and salesmen? Is the Bladen Commission necessary to be taken seriously?

Four of professor Bladen's colleagues, natural as critics that Mercedes cross if he should suggest anything what the industry's trade management has not been does the growth, until called to experiment, has revolutionizations. By forcing them on the present manage[ment] Be making over the rules, its and letting Professor Bladen run it. Or is it perhaps that the government does not expects Professor Bladen to tell the industry how to compete? Is he perhaps expected only to recommend measures — like subsidies or production and imports like, import quotas or tariffs — that will relieve it of the need to compete?

In 1959 sales in Canada of [pas]senger automobiles reached a record $1 420 211 000 up 3.8 per cent

JOAN GRAHAM BECOMES BRIDE

BALTIMORE GRAHAM

Tall tapers of deep pink gladioli decorated the altar at the Stettler United Church for the ceremony at which Miss Joan Graham and Mr. Thomas Baltimore exchanged vows of marriage and wedding rings Rector Rev. [illegible] officiated.

Her A. E. Meyerson officiated. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Graham of Stettler and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Baltimore of Altheson Alberta.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a tradi[tional] length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice is featured long tulip-point sleeves, a sabrina neckline and a satin Empire band and bow. Her chapel length veil of illusion was arranged with sequins and pearls from an appliqued lace train with sequins and pearls and a single droplet pearl on the forehead.

She carried a white prayer book covered with red sweetheart rosebuds and white satin ribbon. Her only jewellery was a pair of cultured pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

Miss Carol Bottomley was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Black of Calgary and Miss Bonnie Kiely cousin of the bride of High River. They were identical dresses of nylon organza over taffeta as a Blue green shade. The bodices were softly shirred at the waist and had dropped portrait collars and short sleeves. Headpieces and shoots of Blue green completed their ensembles. They carried nosegays with sprays of yellow shade roses.

The petite flower girl Judy Baltimore niece of the groom, wore a short dress of yellow flocked nylon over taffeta with a headpiece of yellow carnations. Flowers She carried a [illegible] lavender bouquet in yellow roses.

Mr Patrick Baltimore brother of the groom was best man. Ushers were Mr Ken Adegard, brother in law of the bride and Mr Trak Alcorn.

Organ music was played by Mrs. Pinder and Mrs. Pat Mosier sang "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and "Oh Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

For her convenience, wedding [gu]est Graham chose an aqua two-[piece] sheath dress with bolero. A white picture hat and navy accessories complemented her dress and her corsage was of pink sweetheart rosebuds.

A reception was held in the Church Hall with Mr Ralph Booth of Edmonton as master of Ceremonies Mr Chris Berrenson proposed the toast to the bride

PROUDLY WESTERN
-- German Immigrant Settler Turning First Sod of His Alberta Homestead with Wooden-Beam Plow.

A Salute to Alberta's German Pioneers

The passing of less than half in the Canadian West in the early years of the 20th century was like a giant magnet drawing to it German-settlers from half around the world. Its pull reached to Russia and to the old Austro-Hungarian Empire, bringing to Alberta thousands of German speaking families. At the same time it drew second generation Germans from the mid-western states — Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas — and this migration was supplemented again by government and railway colonization schemes particularly attractive to German-speaking settlers.

Hard-working, self-reliant, willing to endure the hardships of pioneering and to sometimes austere and unfriendly effort to the building of the West, they made up one of Alberta's largest pioneer groups both in actual number and in value of their contributions to the agricultural advancement of the province. Another pioneer in the West — the Calgary Brewing and Malting Company Limited — is proud to salute them!

Municipal Seed Cleaning Conference

Over 7,000,000 bushels of seed was cleaned by Alberta municipal cleaning plants in 1958. This figure was announced at the municipal conference of seed cleaning plants which was held at the Olds School of Agriculture on July 15th and 16th.

A. M. Wallace, Field Crops Commissioner, commenting on the report said that the cooperative seed cleaning movement has contributed much to the general improvement of seed, encouraging mechanical handling and contributing to the control of weeds. He said that the movement has also been a valuable factor in the distribution of new varieties. Over 10 million bushels of seed was cleaned in Alberta municipal seed cleaning plants in 1958.

Alberta Government Deficit $2,022,181 First Fiscal Quarter

(By Ker Mason)

EDMONTON When other provincial governments and the federal government have deficits on their operations, it means the treasury has to go to the market and borrow money thus increasing the public debt.

In Alberta deficits are much easier things to have When bank cords fail to meet, you simply dip into your bank account and get out of the millions of dollars thereon you draw out enough to make up the difference

That's what happened in Alberta during the first three months (April 1 to June 30) of the current fiscal year

The government had to sign a cheque on its bank account for $2,022,181 to make up a deficit on first-quarter operations Higher expenditures by nearly all departments coupled with a drop in revenue from oil and gas, were responsible for the outlay of funds

An interim financial statement issued by Provincial Auditor C R Blackvale showed revenue from the sale of oil and gas leases dropped by $12,035,356 to $22,510,910 during the first quarter

This was partially offset by increases in revenue from other sources — notably federal payments under the tax rental agreement and hospital insurance plan

Mr Blackvale says the decrease in natural resources revenue is no cause for great concern. Things went pretty much as expected during the three-month period, he says The drop in oil and gas revenue resulted mainly from a decreased amount of acreage offered for sale

For the record, here is a breakdown of government financial operations

Cash payments on income account totalled $73,164,330 compared to the same period last year for an increase of $11,263,776 This left a cash surplus on income account of $7,022,321 compared with $23,026,205 in 1959 a decrease of $15,973,884 from last year

Capital receipts added $6,994,779 to revenue for the period, compared with $1,714,666 at the same time last year for an increase of $5,279,226

Capital payments totalled $13,711,281 compared with $11,161,181, for an increase of $2,571,041, leaving the net deficit of $2,022,181 This deficit compared with a $17,308,341 surplus on operations at the same time last year

Also released last week was a report on the province's economy during the first six months of the calendar year

Prepared by the provincial bureau of statistics, the report showed farm income down from last year but forestry and mineral production up

Farm income from all sources dropped by 7.7 per cent to $204,000 from $220,500,000 at the same time last year Cash receipts were down 10.7 per cent livestock earnings were down 4.3 per cent, poultry receipts down 12.3 per cent The only increase was in earnings from dairy products, up to 4.3 per cent

Small Business Assistance

In general it appears that the increases made in recent years are being well maintained, at the same time, some vulnerable spots have appeared

The value of manufactured shipments held firm—higher volume compensating for lower prices

Pesticide Labels Are Written To Be Read

Pesticide labels are made to be read, the Alberta Safety Council warned on Wednesday, food-poisoning and farm fatalities.

There are so many types of pesticides no one can possibly remember from one year to the next what a particular pesticide is its and how it should be used, is supervisor for the Council stated.

A farmer can't help being confused unless that is he reads and heeds the label every time.

The risk to him and his family doesn't depend solely on the strength of the chemical alone, but also on how careful he is and how much and how long he may be exposed to it.

Already this year the provincial poison control service has reported nearly sixty cases of accidental poisoning from pesticides. During January, February and March only thirteen cases were reported to the office during those months. Sixty-five have been reported to date. Judging by past experience, only attention to labels, instructions and warnings will prevent many more such accidental poisonings during the remainder of the growing season neither are poisonings confined to the victim's self. Recently, the Council, Alberta Department of Health are also causing concern. So far this year, 171 cases of accidental poisoning from household chemicals have been reported to the Department. Almost all the victims were reported causing youngsters to the under four age group.

Fully loaded, the big pumper got jet planes weigh almost 120 tons, turbo to make as plane aircraft, and manufacturer from 130 feet from nose to tail.

Directory Needed

Stettler needs a directory. It is far too difficult to get around a town of this size without one and the Alberta Government Telephones would print of distress such telephone numbers book if these were made available. We would like to suggest that the Town Office undertake such a project in conjunction with the telephone company in this matter.

It is not necessary to wait until all businesses and places of business are displaying numbers. People would be more willing to invest in them some the addresses had been published.

Nevertheless the Scouts could be showing a little more initiative in selling house numbers. Possibly the response lights in the town council. It could make it mandatory that all buildings of the town display correct addresses.

School and Outside Interests

Parents and school teachers must ponder at times on how much time a high school student can afford for out side interests. Assuming that the first objective in high school is to get full value from classes and to make as high a standard as possible on graduation, all other interests should take a subordinate place.

No matter how worthy each outside attraction may be in itself and despite the fact that it may be an important part of all round development, it seems that academic development is the main reason for being at school, and should have first place in the student's mind. However nowadays there is such a multiplicity of organizations designed for youth that the average student finds it difficult to get evenings free for the preparatory study of school work and the completion of assignments.

These organizations all excellent in themselves, take their steady toll of time and a socially inclined young person caught very easily find himself relegating school work to a minor place in his overall planning. That is not fair to his parents, teachers or himself.

Peacock

Proudly he spreads his gaily painted tail
Against the background of the brighten ing East
This peacock we call Sunrise now we feast
Our eyes on him. Though always without fail
He sheds across the skyline, proud and gay
Often the clouds or mist curtains of rain
Obscure him yet we know we'll see again
His blaze of glory ushering in the day
Through procrastinating briefly imparts
A glint of hope caught up by a sleeting heart

(By BILL SMILEY)

This has been quite a summer in our family. For years I was certain that our domestic life was bestic to the ultimate degree. Now I know better. I have realized that our normal homelife was as placid as a millpond. Perhaps a pond in which people were always drowning. Perhaps a pond into which somebody was always burning bodies. But on the surface it was millpond compared to the rolling flood waters of this summer.

My own part in it makes the celebrated Dr. Jekyll & Mr. Hyde look as normal and as a Sunday school superintendent in the end. I am the hero student, the dedicated teacher that other teachers students spend hours gravely discussing the vital aspects of education, like "how much they gonna pay you?" and "gonna we'll hafta smoak out beer in after dark when we start teaching."

On weekends, I rush home and am transformed into ardent husband, devoted father, editorial writer, social butterfly and big time real estate operator. The theory is that I go home every weekend to get away from the arduous studies, to refresh myself in the cool, clean, northern air. The reality is that I shoot into the house Sunday night for the trip back to the city, looking as though a cross eyed weasel under me burnt nuts issue, and feeling as though I had been hen-housed.

At the other end, things aren't much better. When I get home, the Old Girl has just been through a grueling week in the editorial chair she is firmly convinced that nobody appreciates her. She thinks they have getting lippy. There have been 16 longdistance calls for me, and some of them would tell her what it was all about, which infuriates her. A subscriber has worried her out. She has worried out a good advertiser. She's just had about all she can stand. And so on

So we sit up until 4 a.m., drinking coffee and stuff, and trying to cudde each other with details of the ordeal we've been through. According to me, I study until I o'clock in the morning, and am at the end of my resources. According to her, she's doing the work of three women, running a house and a business and bringing up a family. I haul out all my schoolbooks to show her how much work I have in cover like drags out to the laundry room and makes me look carefully at the heap of washing she hands do. Neither of us will give an inch. All this gets the weekend off to a refreshing start.

The rest of the weekend maintains the space. The kids appear on the scene early, look bewildered and just squirming with energy. They've had 10 hours sleep. They don't care whether I driven from there or Houston as long as I go swimming with them. There are 64 things to do at the office. Somebody invites us to the theatre to see a quiet supper and a pleasant evening around the fireplace. Come to turns out there are 18 other people there who have no intention of spending a quiet evening.

About ten minutes to train-time, Sunday evening, we realize we have hundreds of important things to discuss. My wife has an other surge of self-pity. The kids wail "Hey Dad you just got here!" And I wearily push my untouched books back into the suitcase, begin my shaving brush and toothpaste and we head for the train. There is a great orgy of waving as the train pulls out, and another refreshing weekend is down the drain.

However, but times no less than good, must come to an end. My course ends the week. And then we have a delightful week's holiday, with the Big Family re-united and nothing to do for seven whole days. Except publish a paper, sell a home and entertain, push our way to another town 100 miles away, and figure out how we're going to get the furniture from a house with 9 large rooms into a house with 6 small rooms.

All in all, it's been an unusual summer, as Noah remarked after the thirtieth day of rain, but an enlightening experience. I now guess to understand that when you reached the age of 40, you were lucky if you could make life's latest candle flicker at one end. In the past eight weeks, I've had it blazing like a fireman candle at both ends, and there seems to be a little powder in the old magazine yet.

French Pioneers Seeking Suitable Homeland Land in the Foothills — About 1900.

A Salute to Alberta's Early French Adventurers

The spirit of adventure which early in its history brought French explorers and colonists to the new world had not dulled, even by the late 19th century; there was still Western Canada, unsettled and underpopulated, and there were French men and women ready to come in search and travel more than half the breadth of the continent to answer its challenge.

Many of those who came to Alberta had been pioneers in France, but many were drawn from the farms of those who came to Alberta had been pioneers in France, but many were drawn from the aristocracy, from professional groups and from officer ranks of the French army. Choosing their homesteads here, they favored particularly the foothills country about Millarville and the parkland areas at Trochu and Sylvan Lake, districts well suited to their interests of farming and ranching and the breeding of fine light horses.

Not all the French settlers remained to love out their days here for some there were other challenges to settle and newer lands, and for many the outbreak of World War One meant a patriotic return to fight as the trenches alongside other Allied troops. Today, the number of their descendants in Alberta is comparatively small but the cultural and economic contribution of these venturesome French pioneers is a proud one.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed by the members of the Stettler Seventh Day Adventist Church on Saturday evening at the home of Mr and Mrs Harry Bitzer the occasion being in honor of their 30th wedding anniversary. The affair was a complete surprise to Mr and Mrs. Bitzer and after a short program was given Mrs. Bitzer on behalf of the guests assembled presented the couple with a gift Mr and Mrs Lorrene Bitzer were also honored guests, it being their 20th anniversary and were united with Mr and Mrs. Harry Bitzer at the table which was graced by a pretty ornamental cake. A cordial welcome is extended to Pastor and Mrs. Bass and would ask as they take up residence in Stettler and assume the duties of missionaries in the Stettler Bedgerock Lumber and Mission Adventist Churches Pastor Bass gave his first address Saturday morning in the Stettler Adventist Church choosing as his text Daniel 9:10 The importance of faithful and consistent prayer in daily living was pointed out as the talk to bring out of the greatest needs in the home today. In the rush of every day work and pleasure too little time is spent in quiet thought and meditation on the wonderful plan of salvation offered to all through Christ's death on the cross.

Farm Driveways Present Serious Traffic Hazards

Farm driveways approving pro- and common traffic hazards on many farms the Alberta Safety Council said Friday.

Frequently the driveway is flanked with trees, bushes or crops making it impossible for motorists to see from vehicles entering the highway but at inactive landscaping can be achieved without the use of hazardous, costly, shortsighted plantings.

The following guide will make it easy for anyone to determine what bushes, signs and other obstructions to remove or replace safer farm entrances:

1. Park your car at the driveway, 10 the bumper 10 feet from the nearest edge of the pavement or traveled portion of the roadway.

2. Pace off a distance of 100 feet along the highway to the left and plant a marker at the edge of the pavement. This marker should be at the same side as the driveway entrance.

3. In the same manner set another marker 700 feet down the highway in the opposite direction in the edge of the pavement on the side opposite the driveway entrance.

4. After the markers have been set go back to your car and sit in the driver's seat. If the markers can be seen the sight distances are adequate as long as traffic speeds do not exceed 60 miles per hour. They should be no obstructions back as far as the markers.

If a heavy slow-starting truck is to use the driveway, it will be necessary to move the markers 1000 feet. Fifty miles per hour traffic requires a sight distance of at least 1000 feet. Sixty miles per hour requires a minimum distance of 1400 feet. Seventy miles per hour requires vehicles to move from the driveway out into the stream of traffic.

A vehicle travelling on the highway at 60 miles per hour would travel 207 feet during that time. It would require another 207 feet for it to stop. The total distance — 700 feet — would require ample distance for safety. Longer safe distances of course mean greater safety.

Adequate sight distance is not all that is necessary for safety in driveway entrances. Safe driveway practices are also essential. Here are some good rules to follow:

When entering the highway, make a full stop about ten feet from the edge of the pavement and look both ways. When the road is clear, accelerate smoothly to the proper lane. Avoid cutting across beyond the centre line when turning right.

When leaving the highway, signal your intention of turning at least 100 feet in advance. Give yourself and any vehicle that may be following you plenty of distance so you can both slow down gradually. Stay in the proper lane — do not swing to the left side of the road when turning right and sometimes

The Return To Dieppe

Stettler will never forget the shock and the grave after news of the Dieppe raid of August 19 1942 came through. It was the blackest day in the town's memory.

Now the men who fought there want to return.

One of the most interesting organized tours of the year is the Stettler Return to Dieppe Group which plans to make a pilgrimage to the Dieppe beaches in August 1961. There are 25 men mentioned in the group. Most of them were members of the gallant Calgary Tanks who stormed the beaches at the French town on August 19 1942 and suffered heavy casualties. Famous "B Company" men in Stettler and district men was engrossed almost exact and the men spent three weeks and almost a thousand years in German prisoner of war camps.

After 20 years they want to return and see the beaches where they spent the most harrowing day of their lives. They want to visit the graves of comrades who died and laid unmentioned services at Dieppe. Some will take family members so they have much curiosity about the place.

The Stettler Return To Dieppe Group is determined to be successful. It will be well and when the time for its pilgrimage comes, we know the community will give it a fitting send off.

Working For The Community

When the town was a good deal smaller and less sophisticated, its people caught enthusiasm for the many community projects that they thought they do now. Our society is split up into many more segments most of which stress as one way or another to improve the community, but their efforts are sometimes diverging. In other words, our lodges, our clubs and other groups usually prefer to "go it alone."

It is natural for men to seek a common ground and, therefore, he joins a group with like tastes and like ideals each month to a trust account and the group is raising money through bazaars and other methods. People of the community will soon be urging to give those money-raising projects good support. We owe them much.

There are many industrialists that the pilgrimage will not be confined to men from Stettler. Many letters have been coming to Mr. Robert Spence, chairman of the group, from Dieppe veterans all over Canada and Legion branches in Alberta are showing keen interest. However no matter how large the group becomes it will still be known as "Stettler Return To Dieppe and the local organization will look after all arrangements such as transportation billeting and visas.

Interest in the pilgrimage is coming from high places. The Canadian government and the Alberta government must details as the thing progresses. The navy will transport the group from New Haven, England, to the beaches. The mayor of Dieppe has sent a gracious letter promising a warm welcome and

The Stettler Return to Dieppe Group is determined to be successful. It will be well and when the time for its pilgrimage comes, we know the community will give it a fitting send off.

This accounts for the many separate efforts in community service in our society. Just as it accounts for many different churches whose memberships are striving to attain heaven and escape hell, but not in agreement on the procedure to reach this goal.

This is the reason we are sometimes accused of lacking community spirit when everyone does not hunt for this or that worthy project. However, when something is big enough and important enough, it eventually enlistens the enthusiasm of every group and every individual.

Sugar and Spice

(By BILL SMILEY)

People keep asking me how I get on this school teaching kick. I've never been "overeager teacher" they query. Sure I like being a weekly editor I am also very fond of picked pups but I've never been for breakfast, lunch, dinner and bedtime stuck every day except Sunday.

It wasn't a sudden aberration just one of those wild impulses a man has when he hits the 40-year mark. It was carefully reasoned out. This column, written four years ago, proved that. Here's the way I told it back in '56.

* * * *

The other day I was sitting in the boat, feeling sorry for myself watching the boar ants walk past the office window. They looked busy, carefree, healthy. I started worrying about how hard I work, how many are the holidays, how many three months of weeks I had to produce in the next few days. It was a pretty dismal time. I decided a accident like most should be chained to a accident like most should be chained to a 55-year old Kensington Rand when all those other chaps are having two weeks with pay.

* * * *

Just then one of our local high-school teachers sauntered past in Bermuda shorts, looking an ice-cream cone and looking as happy as a beachcomber inspiration struck me so violently that my old swivel chair almost went over backwards.

Everybody knows there is a great shortage of teachers. Why wouldn't I take one of those summer courses and obtain a teacher's certificate? Then I'd get a job teaching at the local high school — provided I cheap-ed eight or ten of my personal habits.

There I'd be sure some smart kind just out of journalism school, as editor. I'd teach enough money teaching to pay his salary and have some over for smokes. And—get this—I'd have two months holidays out of the deal. I went over the scheme a couple of times, checking the logic of it. I couldn't find a flaw. It was food-proof, the great coup.

* * * *

I went happily home to lunch, practically drooling at the simple beauty of the plan each in. Eight-thirty to four, five days a week. Holidays at Christmas Holidays at Easter. Two glorious months in the summer. Wow! Teaching and I were made for each other.

* * * *

"How would you like to go to Europe next summer?" I propositioned the Old Girl when I walked in. "Fine," says she, getting out the can of soup. "How would YOU like to go out and bring in the loaf of clothes." Boy, that makes me mad. All I ever want from her anymore when I have the world by the tail.

To take her down a peg, I outlined my scheme about leaving Stettler. I looked at our dear dead-pan. That would be lovely dear she observed. You'd be able to get a lot more done around the house, if you had Saturdays free. I felt a slight chill as though a corpse had just lifted the lid of a casket and winked at me.

* * * *

Well I unsportered actually I thought I'd drop down to the office on Saturdays, and kind of poke around and check on things and write some editorials, and sort of tidy up loose ends, and you know She nodded thoughtfully.

It will certainly be good for you to give up smoking and swearing and making rejects like that. All the lungs on that and drinking beer she pointed out in a kindly way. "Now hold it a minute," I returned hotly. "School teachers aren't like that any more That was in the good old days, when we had the special constable on Monday and a teacher couldn't even have a snort of dandelion wine without turning out for the ladies in the house and locking the door!

* * * *

"It's an excellent idea," she went on "Of course, you'd have to study hard all summer to get your certificate. No fishing or golf. No pleasant cool drinks when you come home from work. No swims with the kids. No home-cooked meals. But you'd all have to make sacrifices."

"Uh, yeah," I said, with a little less than exuberance. "I'm sure you'd be able to cope with those deficiencies in school." she purred sorrowfully. "You can't do a thing with your own children, but I know you'd have no disciplinary problems with teenagers. I think there's a lot of swaggering in those stories about switchblade knives and all that stuff anyway."

* * * *

"Uh, yeah," I said. "You know what?" I said. "It's a little late to get on that summer course this year But next year, for sure. I'll take it, and we'll be sitting on top of the world."

"Uh, yeah," she said

And that was the start of the whole thing. Four years ago. And if that's the top of the world we're sitting on, it must be made of snow, because it's melting rapidly from under me. Or, as the little polar bear said to his Mom, "My tail is cold." —Yes

FOR PARENTS ONLY

Parents and the School World

(By Nancy Cleaver)

With the approach of September, teachers are thinking again of their profession. They are also thinking again of and a whole series of joys and grief to help to the pupils.

The activities at school are many and several from plans on the families not only in the school but in the community. The interested parent is right between the extra that is so much than he was in the lower grades. But what of parents and the school world.

Mothers are found that teachers of to school that suitable limited fee and in a happy frame of mind. This observation are not of that there is not too much hurry at breakfast time. School books should be kept in a definite place and clothes laid out the previous night.

Many mothers set the table before going to bed It is easy to lose about the children being late Agree with them about the best time to Have a letter behind a message them to watch the clock themselves Tardy adults are produced by mothers who constantly time of they child's day.

A happy start to the day sets the stage for learning which should be a fascinating and satisfying experience Here eager the little child is to find out about the things which attract his attention. The famous explorer Captain Scott in his last message to his wife wrote Make the boy interested in natural history if you can it is better than games they encourage it at some schools

Why do so many children hate school? Or at least they pretend to abhor it! This attitude arises partly from their playmates seem boastful or more studious youngster as A Brave Some times fear of failing dislike of the teach

Parents help their children to stand other children's attitudes that school is a happy school for They can help understanding of the part of school the children are not all alike. Some may be academic or social stars, but they may excel in other activities. Richard may be a born mathematician but he ain't parents are not disappointed if he got Though with Non-mathematicians are built of the same clay. Both Helen's and Richard's parents can't assist them if they expect them to do their best in all their subjects.

In Canada the family allowance plan and provincial legislation backed by provincial efforts combine to keep the majority of boys and girls in school until they are sixteen. It is rather sad to see quite a number of scholars especially boys dropping school the day they reach their sixteenth birthday It only they could remember the importance of education of equipment for life.

Children learn a good deal even in academic subjects from their chums Rudyard Kipling in his autobiography wrote of learning his chum Turbey all he ever knew of French and Turbey in turn tried to make Kipling and an other lad Stalky comprehend Latin Kipling said "If you want a boy to learn anything he will remember what he gets from an equal where his master s words are forgotten.

The extra-curricular activities — Athletes Choral Clubs Debating and Dramatic Societies and others, form quite an army in many schools The leaders of these voluntary groups learn it greatly from them, provided they do not become more important in the scholar's eyes than his studies the fallacy of the "something for nothing" argument.

How You Considered ?

(By S P Forman)

I suppose that most people are subject born gamblers At least one very frequently hears people say "I have a hunch and so they go on to prove it by swapping lots at every turn. Most people are in some sense fatalists they say what must be did s this way just come we must do it this way now. They say that such and such happened before and so it is bound to happen again that they often temper that by saying that light. using in-out clothes turn in the same

Nothing for nothing Wages come thing of an unhappy nature comes up say. Why should it happen to me I never nothing to deserve it. But when something good happens to a person just say well I had a break coming to me. When we get hauled out we say I've done nothing to deserve this. When we get a good crop we say, I'm a good farmer I deserve it.

But there is another side to the same coin of fate. We live in a generation that appears to believe sufficiently that the world owes them a living What is at for me. Then we get "Social Security" Medicare Unemployment Insurance and other things, some consider the greatest. Each of these programs set to come on long as I am sane. What a philosophy of life What a heritage for a man to pass on to his children! What a society to shape for the citizens of tomorrow For life is in very large measure a matter of social preservation.

Something for nothing" But someone has to pay the price Every cause must have its effect and vice versa If I get something I didn't pay for it means that I do not have to do it. Or I have to do it and someone else has to do it for me. I am a shelter of the government pays me a subsidy that is not rightly mine to claim then it simply means that I am a crook or a sponger. If I make claims for and receive unemployment insurance benefits that I have no rightful claim to, it means that I am lazy or selfish or greedy or all three.

Something for nothing" There s no such thing For someone always has to pay Do young people have more to spend more time for "fun" there

WEEKLY MEDITATION

(By Rev. Douglas Herald)

THE CONFLICT WITHIN

The beloved Apostle John admonished those he imagined with in his ministry not to believe every spirit This counsel was wise for we are swayed by an inner conflict of good and evil Each seeks mastery within us

There are those who yield to evil with out a struggle. The seductive magnetism of the spirit within crowd out the inner monitor that ever prompts us to do good. In any case "Get thee behind me Satan" is said to be weakened in the struggle the quest for the good life There is good in everyone Did Christ not call the sinner? Not at all He did not condemn the sin but He had compassion and forgive

And so we are not alone in this struggle between the good and the evil The disciplined man knows the and in the war he wages he knows where orders he must heed His strength lies in the Lord He has promised us a renewal of our strength as the Psalmist has said "The Lord is my rock and my fortress, and my deliverer, my God, my strength in whom I will trust, my bucklers, and the horn of my salvation and my high tower."

In the wider arena of life the same struggle between truth and error right and wrong, goes on with unabated fury We are living on a precipice Science has played its part in putting us there so the journalist David Lawrence has said.

Science has no worthwhile objectives but the constant effort to enlarge man s knowledge in any field of exploration must be put in proper perspective There can be no peace on earth until we have learned to respect the dignity of man and are willing to build on the foundation of human to the kind of world that the great teachers of mankind have pointed out to us. SATURDAY'S CHILDREN

A MEMO FROM OTTAWA BUREAU

Coming and unloved the third session of Canada's 26th Parliament has passed into immediate history. Outgoing it opened and they almost nothing very much of all. The time has arrived for Prime Minister Diefenbaker and the cabinet of Canada to take stock.

It looks as if a Federal election, similar to Al Smith and the ugly contest to public to such a falsehood. Canada's first Conservative government since the Thirties is going to have to face the polls.

Reasons of its unpopularity are many opposites have gained growing theme. Lacking in some of which Diefenbaker must stand or fall, for a share rule in office.

Flourishing Ottawa is that Diefenbaker will mean thrift, to grant their wish.

He will make many good on a long standing promise to appoint another cabinet minister to represent eastern Quebec. He has spoken vaguely at other times of inviting up the representatives of one other province populated presumed to be Alberta.

And it least two of the greyer grey beards in the present cabinet likewise are patiently waiting for the call they know will come to the Senate or other lush green pastures of retirement.

The rumors persist that Mr Diefenbaker will remove Minister George Pearkes, old soldier and keep majority of Mr. Diefenbaker wearing the cost of his political ambitions at the age of 72 Veterans Affairs Minister Alfred Brunt who is reputedly New Quebecer who is ready for the Senate when the Prime Minister Pete Comtois a 63 year old soldier-agriculturist who seems to have the interest and ability required for his growing portfolio of minerals and Northern Development without portfolio, William Browne who presently holds was held on this long only borrower of the Government Party's weakness as his part of the country.

The people who advise Mr Diefenbaker — sometimes successfully have already suggested to him that Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness would be an acceptable successor. Mr Pearkes in the last opening defence department Mr Harkness a former lieutenant colonel would probably welcome the change since he finds agriculture an inspiring life for a politician.

Mr Fulton's name has also been mentioned although he is believed to dread the assignment. Public Works Minister David Walker a new boy in the cabinet and a close friend of the Prime Minister, is a logical person to believe Mr Fulton in the exacting role of Minister of Justice.

COSTUMERS' HOLIDAY IS A BALL

The first convention outside the U.S. of the National Costumers' association is being held in Toronto and everybody is having a ball. Most fun was had at the masquerade variety. It was as if history had come alive as heroes girls, national rulers, presidents, fabled dancers and fierce warriors mingled in a colorful procession at the fancy dress dinners could wish for. It was just one of the spectaculers of a group dedicated to producing eye-catching get-ups and having a lot of fun besides. Grand prize winners for the best costumes were Nancy Hollober and Cliff Allen who appeared as Princess Ann Thailand and a Hopes rider.

Insurance Federation Warns Farmers of Fire Hazard

Each year hundreds of Canadian farmers are brought close to thousand feats by fire caused by All Canada Insurance Federation.

Electricity wiring should be checked regularly by a competent specialist when new machinery or appliances are installed.

Watch For Virus Enteritis

The first case of virus enteritis in Alberta has diagnosed on a ranch in Calgary's northeast that month The diagnosis was ferward by the Ontario Veterinary College means that a very careful watch will have to be kept for signs of the disease on other ranches in the province.

The coldest and remoteness of the droppings is the most effective means of transmission the ranch hand, the veterinarian, the truck or the feed. The hand and feed supplies is controlled this I have to say, extremely important. Sickness reduced livestock, weight loss, loss of blood at sale, carcasses of this disease. A number of the animals will be affected at almost the same time and most of them will lose their appetites at least temporarily.

In Dr Lucas's opinion, stock ranchers in the Calgary area should certainly vaccinate against virus enteritis from now on. Until more proof the Department of Agriculture does not stay on the premises be using penal Furthermore an ample supply of the shots is now available.

Every Dollar You Spend "At Home" Helps Our Community to Grow

Just think about it for a minute

A good part of every dollar you spend with our local business goes directly into circulation in our own community in the form of salaries and wages, and helps provide the many facilities of educational, health and recreational facilities.

That's why it makes such good sense to spend those precious dollars "at home", especially when quality, style, selection and price of the merchandise and services offered compare quite favorably with those in the "city".

The local businesses depend on your support, just as you depend on them for convenience, and for the contribution they make to the betterment of our community.

Nevis Area Subject To Appreciable Air Pollution

Alberta's naturally clear air promises relatively unspoiled theatre for the growth of protected industrial and oil field development according to an interim report of the Sanitary Engineering Branch of the Alberta Department of Health. The Branch has been conducting a study of air pollution in the Province for the past two years and recently announced the expansion of the program to ensure that air contamination does not become a problem in the future.

Fifty-two air pollution detectors have been in operation in Alberta since 1956 primarily in oil and gas localities. The detectors are sensitive to the presence of hydrogen sulfide and sulfur dioxide.

The report shows the areas of Nevis and Innisfail are subject to appreciable amounts of these gases which cause an odor, nuisance and metal disorders. A mobile laboratory fitted into a 27 foot trailer has been used in areas of highest concentration and moved surveillance of areas that have complained. From field investigations, other air pollution problems will be solved. The Department reports that Clean Air Week in September will be used to further educate the public on the problem.

Pickle Problems

Many housekeepers are busy just now making pickles for the coming year Have you ever wondered why one year your pickles shrivelled? There are many possible reasons for this situation!

The first thing to examine is the recipe for many of us, one old family favourite that have been passed down from mother to daughter Something I just learned this year and this may be the reason of failure is that vinegar has changed Todays vinegars have a slightly higher acid content than vinegars mother used For satisfactory results, therefore it is safest to use today's pickle recipes However, if you want to use an old favourite it would be wise to dilute the vinegar called for to ten pounds vinegar results in tough or withered pickles

Store Your Vinegar

There are four kinds of vinegars cider white wine blended and malt White vinegar gives better color where light colored foods such as onions, ripe cucumbers or cauliflower are used Cider and malt vinegars are used when a spiced flavor is desired. A blended vinegar is usually made by combining about equal quantities of white and cider vinegars

Use The Kitchen

Rag salt should be used for pickles not the free running table salt The latter has an additive substance added to keep it from caking and thus often neutralizes the acid in the brine. If the proportion of salt is high in to dill pickles free running salt should not be used as cloudiness will appear in the brine or pickle slippery

Spice For Pickles

Soft water is best for pickles Waters that are high in lime may neutralize the acid present, thus causing the pickles to become soft

The presence of iron in water is objectionable because it causes blackening of the pickles under

The presence of iron in water is objectionable because it causes blackening of the pickles under

There will lose flavor if stored over long. It is best to keep them in small empty jars. Spices should be used with caution and always measured level A dark or bitter flavor may result from using too much spice or from boiling the spice too long with the vinegar

Spices

The use of a small amount of alum during the pickling process develops a crisp quality in certain pickles The use of a large amount of alum in pickling is to be discouraged The crispness of pickles can be retained by using a good vinegar, water free from minerals as possible a good quality salt and following directions

PICKLE TROUBLES

Soft Pickles are caused by a vinegar being used which is too weak or a brine which is too weak Pickles temporarily dill may soften if they are exposed to the heat

Hollow Pickles are often due to faulty development of the cucumber or may be caused by allowing too long a period between gathering and pickling

Tough Pickles may result in over-mature vegetables being used

BIG VALLEY GIRL WED

ARMSTRONG — SWAINSTON

A quiet pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church Manse Big Valley August 12th at 2 P.M. when Lorrie Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Swainston became the bride of Raymond Armstrong of Veteran. Rev. D. D. Tarrel officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride looked radiant in a waist length gown of white marquisette. The bodice was designed with a shawl collar and cap sleeves and long bib panel skirt. Her chapel length veil was held in place by a tiara of sequins and net and she carried a cascade style bouquet of red roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace gift of the groom.

Miss Dolli Swainston, sister of the bride was her bridesmaid she was dressed in a gown of pale green nylon sheer with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white mums.

The groom's attendant as best man was Lawrence Swainston

Cutworm Precautions

Pale western cutworms on the prairie and red-backed cutworms in the parkbelt can receive a set-back with well-timed precautions now. After destroying weed growth late in July keep off the fallow throughout August and the first half of September. That is advised by L. A. Jacobson and Howard McDonald Canada Research Station entomologists.

Surveys indicate that unless precautions are taken east-central and southern Alberta will be the pale western trouble area in 1961. Affected also will be the Saskatchewan areas north and west of a line from Macklin to Cabri and southwest thru Elbow to the international boundary.

The purpose of [illegible] fallow during August and early September is to keep the fields unsuitable for egg-laying by the cutworm moths. Rains after the late July tillage form a crust on the soil surface. The moths will not lay their eggs in fields that are crusted say the scientists, but breaking of the crust by livestock or tillage opens the way for crop loss. Where the pale western is the chief cutworm species the surface should not be disturbed again before September 15th even though weed growth does not develop.

In the parkland areas the red-backed cutworm is the most sperses litchedy similar to thous used for pale western cutworm control are recommended, with one exception. If weed growth develops in August it should be destroyed, the entomologists say, since moths of the red-backed cutworm usually lay their eggs in weedy summerfallow. They also lay their eggs in weedy patches in cereal crops and in fields of rapeseed, peas, alfalfa and sweet clover.

This red-backed cutworm recommendation is limited for parkbelt areas of both Saskatchewan and Alberta including the Peace River region. It will be especially useful where crowding of local damage occurred in field crops and gardens earlier this season.

Further information on cutworm control can be obtained from the Canada Agriculture Research Stations at Lethbridge or Saskatoon, or from the Supervisor of Crop Protection, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

An Anniversary

In July 1919 one of the greatest additions to the pleasures and convenience of night motoring was performed. We will not give three guesses at what it was for cause the answer is as simple as will not occupy any of our motoring readers. The electric headlamp first made its appearance at this year and rapidly replaced the gas and oil lamps with which automobiles were then fitted.

In the intervening half century the system has changed little. In a true sense we have ended and focused beams and more light than a portable in every car also instead of wearing the [illegible] we can blind him. For lighting was a matter as much for a motor car in that same year Lieut. Morane flew an aeroplane at a breathtaking speed of nearly 50 miles an hour. The height record for that year was 6,540 feet which was low indeed as high as any one had ever flown an aeroplane before in those days aviators moved at a crawling pace.

SHEPHERD — NELLS

Buskets of gladiola and mixed flowers graced the altar of St. George's Anglican Church on Saturday for the union of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday August 10th at 2 o'clock P.M. when Barbara Jane eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs. Harold Nells of Tuscarora, Ontario, became the bride of Kenneth Fred, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shepherd of Erskine Alberta.

The bride was given away by her father and looked charming in a floor length gown of white organza over taffeta with a fitted bodice and bell shaped skirt featuring a lace overskirt and a tiny rosebuds and baby's breath caught the veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Shirley Nells was bridesmaid for her sister wearing a yellow organza floor length gown with matching shawl and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. Ken Shepherd was his brother's best man and Mr. Harold Nells was ushered.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall. The bride's table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake flanked with white candles.

Mr. Thomas Budd was master of ceremonies, and Mr. Shepherd proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom ably replied.

Open house was held in honor of the bride and groom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shepherd.

For her honeymoon trip to Jasper and Banff the bride changed to a navy and white polka dot sheath with a navy duster coat, and wore pink accessories and roses corsage.

The happy couple will reside on the groom's farm near Erskine.

Out of town guests included Mr. H Hills of Tuscarora, Ontario, Mrs. Percival of Morrin Mr. M. Edgell Calgary, Mrs. E. Glenn of Lloydminster, Miss Carolyn Getz of Red Deer and Mr. and Mrs. R. Leverd and family of Drayton Valley.

Industry For Central Alberta

(Hanna Herald)

According to recent newspaper reports published in Central Alberta the Edmonton Mail Tr. is making a bunting to start a milk production plant, and has surveyed several communities to the north of us. Stettler is one of them.

The fact that the company is interested in locating there points up the importance of a well populated and diversified farming and agricultural district. Stettler is one of the leading communities in Alberta in progress during the past few years a amazing and a goodly portion of this expansion is due directly to its record farming population. If the Carnation Milk people do locate in Stettler it will be another major addition to the town's already healthy industrial development.

In the west most successful communities must rely on the growth a basic industry, some by agriculture and livestock. Hanna is a perfect example of a community where the livestock industry is of major importance. If we were to warrant the possibility of a similar plant to that which may be erected at Stettler, it surely would be very much tied in with the cattle business, for that is about the only basis upon we could attract new industry.

Provinces Hold Key To Pensions

Look to the provinces for real developments in Canada's $2,000 million company pension business, says writer H. R. Baysden in The Financial Post. It is vital for Canadian workers' security on retirement. The key issue: Will employees changing jobs be able to carry their pensions with them?

The provinces are taking a hard look at ways to make certain basic retirement plans more effective. Action may be speeded up as the result of Ottawa's withdrawal on July 31 of the general instructions regarding the operations of pension plans registered for income tax purposes.

The main problem is vesting. This is the employee's legal right to contributions made on his behalf by his employer in workers is always entitled to get back what he has paid into a company pension plan). At present employer contributions don't vest in a worker until he has completed a specific number of years service — usually 20 — or reached a certain age.

Ontario is taking the lead in this vital matter. A committee is studying proposals for preserving a worker's pension benefits under a series of employers.

"The Story Of Liberalism In Canada"

OTTAWA — A pamphlet entitled The Story of Liberalism in Canada has been published by the National Liberal Federation of Canada.

The historical pamphlet sets out the development of Liberal principles and the Liberal party in Canada from the time of Lord Durham's report to the present day.

Published in both English and French, the attractive eight-page booklet contains the text of a brief issued by the Liberal Federation in support of the Liberal policy of reciprocal tariff reductions advocated by Hon. C. D. Howe, which, it said, has the legislature unanimous in the north of London, Hon. R. Laurier, and acts to both the philosophies of the Liberal Party, opposition.

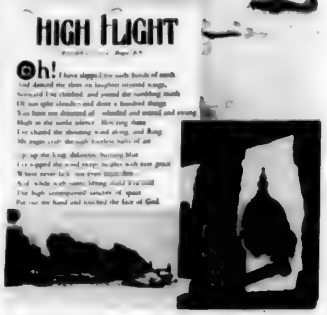
Twentieth Anniversary of The Battle of Britain



HIGH FLIGHT

Oh! I have slipped the earth bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;
Sunward I've climbed, and joined the tumbling mirth
Of sun-split clouds—and done a hundred things
You have not dreamed of—wheeled and soared and swung
High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring there
I've chased the shouting wind along, and flung
My eager craft through footless halls of air.

Up, up the long delirious, burning blue
I've topped the wind-swept heights with easy grace
Where never lark or even eagle flew—
And while with silent lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand and touched the face of God.

The Battle of Britain is being commemorated in this the 20th anniversary year by the RCAF on Sunday, September 18th. Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Air Marshal Hugh Campbell, Chief of the Air Staff will participate in the national observances which will take place on Parliament Hill in Ottawa at 1:30 P.M. the display will be Hurricane and Battle aircraft RCAF personnel on parade will proceed to their respective churches for services immediately after the ceremonies at Parliament Hill.

The CBC will telecast the commemoration observance at 3:30 P.M. EDT over the English network and at 4:00 P.M. EDT over the French network.

Big Year For Credit Unions

Canadian credit unions [illegible] assets during 1959, [illegible] according to figures just released by the Credit Union Yearbook published annually by the Credit Union National Association (CUNA).

The Yearbook, the most complete source of facts and figures about credit unions throughout the world, indicates that Canada still has the world's highest percentage of credit union membership. Canada's 4,262 credit unions have 2,909,833 members, nearly 12 of the population. Their assets total $1,261,313,624. The $1,182,991,574 which Canadians have on credit union accounts is 11.4 of the total personal savings in Canada. According to Robert Ingram, CUNA's Canadian manager, surveys have shown that much of the money saved through credit unions would not have been saved in other ways. Credit union education is not only making a real contribution to the Canadian economy, he points out.

Credit union loans outstanding at the end of 1959 totalled $782,963,276 which represents 12 of consumer instalment credit in Canada. The number of credit unions paying interest refunds to their members' loan reserve has more than tripled in the last two years. There were 660 Canadian credit unions reporting such refunds at the end of 1959 compared with 227 at the end of 1957.

Canada's credit unions, which operate under provincial charters and supervision, have $30,568,478 in reserve funds.

Where's That Depression?

A year ago most of the pundits were predicting a serious recession or even a depression in this country as Canada. But we have been fortunate. Things have continued to roll along at a pretty fast clip.

Now some of the most respected economists see the possibility of a small boom in the offing. They believe the economy will get a real shot in the arm from the decision of the US Federal Power Commission to allow the importation of Canadian natural gas. Pipelines will be constructed, the steel industry will be busy again and more men will be put to work.

Although the stock market is reflecting a new feeling of confidence in the Canadian economy Americans are not to be enthusiastic once again about the steady growth period of this country. And there is similar enthusiasm [illegible] European economy.

What happened to the depression? Why did it not materialize? My own view is that we escaped it so far because the vast majority of Canadians are possible and industrious. When the recession storm warnings flew, men, firms and set accordingly. Demands for heavy government spending have eased off, except the product demand, the general demands and a definite wouldn't stop them.

For a time we were behaving much the same way as in the early years of 1928 1929. Governments were beginning to take the attitude that money grew on trees. Some men in responsible positions of leadership were preaching that prosperity was merely a question of spending large amounts of money around so that consumers could keep buying. Prices zoomed up and up and up. Some of the proposals of these leaders of prosperity accepted would have resulted in depression equal [illegible] of the thirty thirties.

Better sense has prevailed. There is a steady growth going on now and it should soon accelerate. If our manufacturing industries can reach reasonable agreements with their employees and manage somehow to compete with other nations in world markets. A wonderful base for progress would be established.

Tide is the rising and falling of the sea and is rightly attributed to the attractive influence of the moon modified by a milder influence of the sun which is less in influence because of the distance from the attracting body.

"We thank the SIMCA owner who wrote these very words. Quote. I wish to advise you that I have purchased a SIMCA. The car has proved so completely satisfactory that I feel impelled to let you know how enthused I am about it. It handles like nothing I have driven before (it is my 9th car), is smooth, powerful, and full of "go". I look forward to each trip. Your car has brought back all the fun of driving. In addition I have good economy, perfect comfort, and, so far, no mechanical troubles. I congratulate you on its design and honest construction. Close quote."
